Nebraska Wrestlers Lose Opener, 16-10

By Cloyd Clark

Kansas State wrestlers won, 16-10, over the Husker mat team as both clubs opened their seasons in the Coliseum Saturday night.

Mike Nissen won the spotlight for the Husker team when he defeated Kansas State's Big Eight champion, John Dooley, 6-3.

The 123-pound bout was the feature of the evening with two of the top contenders for the Big Eight 115-pound title meeting each other in the first match of the program.

Nissen's victory was forecasted last week when he pinned Iowa State's Don Webster, runner-up for the title last year.

Husker heavyweight, Jim Raschke lost his match to Don Darter by a 5-2 decision.

Raschke's defeat was a desperation type event. Nebraska was trailing the Wildcats 13-10 as the final match began and Raschke was trying for the pin to win the team competition.

Draw matches plagued the evening as Nebraska's Bert Peterson and Kansas State's Joe Seay, and Husker Pat Fitzgerald and Charles Kelly of Kansas State battled to tie matches.

The 177-pound event between Fitzgerald and Kelly was 2-2 and the 147-pound between Peterson and Seay was 5-5.

Jim Faiman pulled his match to a victory with a reversal in the final 20 seconds of the bout. Faiman and Gus Garcia of Kansas State were tied, 6-6, until Faiman scored his two points and decided the Wildcat 137-pounder.

The Results: 123-pounds — Mike Nissen (N) decisively John Dooley, 6-3.

130 — Arlen Keith (KS) decisively Dick Van Sickle, 6-0.

137 — Jim Faiman (N) decisively Gus Garcia, 8-6.

147 — Bert Peterson (N) and Joe Seay tied, 5-5.

157 — Wayne Stanley (KS) decisively Bruce O'Callaghan, 10-2.

167 — Jerry Allen (KS) decisively Stan Frayley, 9-2.

177 — Pat Fitzgerald (N) and Charles Kelly tied, 2-2.

Heavyweight — Don Darter (KS) decisively Jim Raschke, 5-2.

By Roy Katskee

Nebraska's swimming team is in final preparations for its first dual meet of the season Dec. 16, when the varsity tackles a strong freshman team at 7:30 p.m. with no admission charge.

Being counted as the top point getters for the varsity are: Joe Stocker of Omaha; Larry McClean, Fremont; Phil Swaim, Lincoln; Branch Walton, Lincoln; Joe Gacusan, Lincoln and Larry Ferrell, Lincoln.

Carrying the load for the freshmen coached by ex-Husker Ron Bucklin will be Jeff Amster of Sioux City Central; Bill Henry, Omaha; Bill Fowles, Lincoln; and Chuck Fosnot, Lincoln. Coach Klaas feels if the freshman team is "up" they could make it a nip and tuck battle.

Denver Depends On Sophomores

By Hal Brown

Denver, Tuesday's Nebraska basketball opponent, is relying heavily on sophomores during the 1960-61 campaign.

The Pioneers will have three and possibly four sophomores in the starting lineup when they go after their second win of the season against two losses Tuesday night.

Coach Hoyt Brawner's Denver club has lost its last two games after opening with a 57-56 win over Regis College. The Pioneers lost to Regis in the return match, 64-56, and dropped an 81-68 decision to the Air Force Academy Saturday night.

Top sophomores include Tim Vezie (6-3) who will be starting at one forward spot, Bill Mumma (6-6), Gary Baxstrom (6-2), and Dennis Hodge (6-0).

Hodge is expected to start at one guard post with Baxstrom or Tom Hollis (6-2), a two-letter winner at the other backcourt position.

Battling for the other forward slot with Vezie are Rick Barrett, a 6-4 junior; Mumma, and 6-4 junior Bill Saunders. Bob Grinstead, a 6-7 senior, will get the nod at center.

4 Starters Gone

The Pioneers have only five returning lettermen from last year's team that finished with a 13-11 overall record and 8-6 in the Skyline conference. Four starters from last season's team that finished fourth in the Skyline conference have graduated.

Returning lettermen are Grinstead, Hollis, Dick Mohrman, Kevin Dixon, and Bob Moe. Moe will have to forego competition this winter because of a severe back injury suffered during the off-season.

Moe was one of the top sophomores in the Skyline conference last year with an 11.0 point per game average and snaring 180 rebounds. He was being counted on as a starting guard for Denver this season.

With the loss of Moe, Grinstead and Barrett are the top scorers returning. Grinstead averaged 10.1 points per game to rank fourth among the Denver scorers last year. Barrett was sixth with a 6.9 average.

Hodge led the freshmen scorers last year with a 14.7 average including one 39 point output against Colorado State University freshmen. Mumma played his freshman ball at Marquette before transferring to Denver last winter.

Denver and Utah have been the only teams in the Skyline conference to post winning loop records each of the past four years, and Denver officials admit that if the Pioneers are to continue the streak, a great deal of the credit will have gone to the sophomores.

Not Satisfied Coach Brawner has not been at all satisfied with the performance of his cagers thus far and plans to continue juggling the lineup until he comes up with a workable combination.

"If we couldn't play better basketball, that would be one thing," the disgruntled Brawner said. "But since I feel sure we can play much better, I plan to keep moving the boys around until we hit on the right combination."

Weight Training Shows Increase in Enrollment

By Dave Wohlforth

The enrollment of weight training and body conditioning classes has jumped from 75 and six classes to 125-175 and ten classes in the last two years, according to Instructor James Maul.

This increase in the interest in these classes is attributed to "a great advance of the weight training and body building program in high school and college," said Prof. C. E. Miller, head of the men's physical education department.

The weight training program was started at Nebraska in 1947 but has expanded greatly in the last two years, according to Maul.

The ten classes which Maul teaches are divided into seven beginning classes (weight conditioning) and three advanced classes (body conditioning and weight training).

Maul said, "The students receive advanced work in the second semester and some have adopted their physical education program so that they may take four semesters."

He also added that there are many boys who are not in PE but take the course as an elective and some who keep in shape for varsity sports through weight conditioning classes.

New Facilities Maul has headed the program which has featured the changing of an old storeroom in the Coliseum into new facilities.

Maul, who will receive his masters degree in PE in June, observed, "Even with a limitation of area we are able to give individual instruction."

He praised body conditioning as "a help in no matter what sport you are interested in from this angle—a stronger athlete is a better athlete."

The equipment which has been installed for the classes, which meet three times a week for one credit hour, includes total weight around 2,200 pounds; 13-14 long bars, six sets of short bars, benches and squat racks, two types of pulley machines, a quadriceps machine (works leg muscles to strengthen knees), a leg press machine, parallel dip bars and incline boards.

"We feel we have all the equipment necessary to develop all the strength anyone would want for activity or improvement on his body," Maul stated.

Maul is also interested in starting a club for competitive weight-lifting. He extends invitations to anyone who is interested in this club to see him.

"The club would sponsor itself and have its own officers," he said.

He cited the possibilities of the club traveling to meets to compete against other schools and organizations.

Earlier this season five weight lifters from Nebraska did go to Sioux City, Iowa, to compete in an open meet.

Out of six teams competing Nebraska finished fourth with only five entries in the seven weight classes.

Grabbing off three thirds and two seconds were Faber Jenkins, (132 lb. class), Maul (148), Dennis Barton (165), Pablo Kirven (181) and Dave Wooster (198).

"We hope we can enter many more meets this year," Maul concluded.

Pros Pick 2 NU Gridders

Two Nebraska footballers have been drafted by Denver of the American Football League at the league's meeting in Dallas, Tex.

The selection of punter Archie Cobb and former Husker tackle Don Olson brings the total number of Huskers drafted by Denver to three. The Broncos picked Roland McDole two weeks ago in the fourth round of the draft.

Olson, a two-letter winner before quitting school at the beginning of his senior year, was chosen in the 27th round. Cobb, a sophomore, was picked in the 29th round. Although the Husker punter was only a sophomore, he is eligible for the draft because his original class at Georgia Tech will graduate in June.
