

NU 5 Returns Wednesday; Cincinnati Is Foe Tonight

By Hal Brown

Nebraska winds up its two-game road trip tonight when Jerry Bush's cagers take on highly-touted Cincinnati. The Huskers return home to face Arizona Wednesday night.

Bush's five lost their second game of the season against three wins Saturday night as Detroit rallied for a 71-62 victory. The Huskers started fast and led 27-19 with 7:49 remaining in the first half.

But Detroit fought back behind the shooting of Charlie North and Frank Chikowski to knot the score at 27-all and then went from there to take a 38-31 halftime lead.

The Titans moved out to a 44-31 advantage early in the second half before Nebraska broke the ice in the final stanza. Detroit led by 19 points at one time in the second half.

The Huskers limited Dave Debusschere, a near-cinch all-American, to only eight points, the first time he had been held to less than double figures.

The 6-5 junior managed to control both boards, however, as he led all rebounders with 23. The win was the fourth for Detroit against a lone defeat for the third-ranked team. The sole defeat came at the hands of Purdue.

Kowalke, Russell Lead Jim Kowalke, the Huskers leading scorer on the season with a 16.9 average, and Tom Russell led the Nebraska attack with 16 points each. Jan Wall contributed 12.

The crowd of 8,345 was by far the largest crowd to see the Huskers play this season.

Nebraska, with a 3-2 mark, faces Cincinnati tonight on the Cincinnati maples. The Bearcats, under new coach Ed Jucker, have a 4-2 record with wins over Indiana State, Western Michigan, Miami (O.), and Loyola (I.A.). The losses came against Seton Hall and St. Louis.

St. Louis limited Cincinnati to 40 points in picking up a 57-40 triumph.

The Bearcats, minus all-American Oscar Robertson, are led by 6-9 center Paul Hogue and 6-4 forward Bob Wiesenbahn. Hogue is averaging better than 17 points per game and Wiesenbahn is shooting at a 16-plus pace.

Wiesenbahn is leading the team in rebounds with Hogue close behind. Wiesenbahn is a senior and Hogue is a junior.

Tom Thacker, a high-jumping 6-2 sophomore, will team with Wiesenbahn at forwards. The combination of Wiesenbahn, Hogue, and Thacker has been an aggressive, highly effective group on the boards. Together they're averaging almost 36 rebounds a game.

Wednesday night's foe, Arizona, isn't expected to cause much trouble in the Border conference and Nebraska should have little trouble with the Wildcats in the final tune-up before the Big Eight tournament.

Arizona lost two regulars from last year's team including Ernie McCray, the 6-6 center who did just about everything but sell tickets to the games.

He set 13 scoring and shooting records for the Wildcats and led the club in rebounding and scoring with a 23.9 scoring average.

The three returning regulars are 6-1 guard Bill Weese, 6-4 forward Marv Dutt, and 6-5 forward Kirk Young. Weese averaged nine points per game last year and is the leading returning scorer. Dutt was close behind with an 8-9 mark.

Battling for the center slot are 6-5 veteran Russ Stevens and a 6-6 sophomore, Monte Clausen, a sturdy rebounder with a good shooting eye. He is the son of the school's athletic director.

The fifth spot in the backcourt will probably go to another sophomore, 6-foot Wesley Flynn, a speedster who led the frosh club in scoring.

Huskers Face Kansas In Tournament Opener

Nebraska will meet Kansas, one of the pre-tourney favorites, in the opening round of the Big Eight Pre-Season Basketball Tournament at Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 26-29.

The Husker-Jayhawk clash will open the second night of action with Iowa State meeting Missouri in the second game of the Dec. 27 doubleheader.

Kansas State will meet Oklahoma State in the opening game of the tournament at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 26. Oklahoma and Colorado will wind up the opening night in a 9:30 encounter.

The winner of the Kansas-Nebraska game will meet the winner of the Iowa State-Missouri clash in the semi-final round.

Kansas was picked to finish first and Nebraska last in the Big Eight race by the conference coaches at their annual meeting in October.

Nebraska has never won a conference tournament since it was inaugurated in 1946. The highest finish for a Nebraska five came two years ago when Herschell Turner led the Huskers to a third-place position.

Nebraska has never beaten Kansas in the Big Eight tourney with the teams having met four times. The Huskers lost a 64-60 overtime decision in 1947, and dropped decisions to the Jayhawks in the 1950, '52, and '54 tournaments.

Kansas has won the tourney title four times to tie with Kansas State in that department. Iowa State and Missouri have each won twice with Oklahoma winning once.

Southern Methodist, a guest team, won the opening tournament in 1946. The conference invited one outside team to the tourney until Oklahoma State joined the fold two years ago.

Only one team has won the crown two years in a row with Kansas turning the trick in 1956 and '57. Kansas State copped the championship in 1954 and Iowa State claimed the honor last year.

3 Accept Post-Season Grid Bids

McDole Will Play In Two Contests

Three members of the Nebraska football team have accepted invitations to play in post-season grid classics.

Nebraska's tri-captains during the past season, Roland McDole, Don Fricke and Pat Fischer will be making post-season appearances.

McDole, 6-3, 232-pound right tackle, will be performing in two contests and one of them making him a professional. The Husker from Toledo, Ohio, will see action in the Blue-Gray clash at Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 31, and then in the Senior Bowl at Mobile, Ala., Jan. 7.

The Senior Bowl game will make him a pro with each player on the winning team receiving $600 and each losing player getting $500. McDole has already been drafted by the American Football League and same Canadian teams have shown an interest in him.

Fricke, outstanding center and linebacker on the Husker eleven will team with McDole in the Blue-Gray contest. Nebraska quarterback Fischer will appear in the North-South game at Miami, Fla., Dec. 26.

The Husker seatback from Omaha was second in the Big Eight in punt returns. The four appearances by Nebraska players is thought to be a record for Husker players in a single season.
