IFC Board of Control Kills Reorganization Plan

By Dave Wohlfarth
The Interfraternity Board of Control has decided to kill the proposed IFC reorganization plan...

of discussion on the matter of reorganization. We have studied the proposal we requested you to submit and find it has some very good points...

Dewey continued, "We have decided not to ask for a major reorganization just now. For the time being, we are implementing the changes as outlined in the accompanying memorandum to the Alumni Interfraternity Council."

Some Good Points
Dewey stated in his letter, "We have held a number of meetings and have had a considerable amount character and high ideals of your executive committee. Subsequent information and speculation has come to my attention that would seem to cast some doubt on this, at least in part.

The letter also urges the IFC "to exercise the most extreme care in your selection of candidates for office in your coming elections (second semester officers)."

Board Support
Sophir commented that he thought the IFC's plan was turned down "because on paper it does not incorporate their (the Board's) support as much as they want to be included."

He added, "I feel, for the first time to my knowledge, that the IFC and the Board of Control have come to the realization that a progressive attitude is needed and that although friction may exist between the two groups in certain matters, both are working toward the same goals."

The changes which the Board asked of the Alumni group are:

1. Each fraternity shall have a minimum of three advisers, each of whom are to be given certain definite areas of responsibility such as social, scholarship, activities, house management and finance.

In the case of chapters whose membership as of the first day of the second semester is forty or less, only two such advisers will be required.

2. The Alumni IFC shall appoint or assign a minimum of two of their members to attend each meeting of the IFC (members may rotate).

3. Each adviser should contact his national officers and request the authority, if he does not already have it, to remove any officer or to suspend any member of his chapter if such person is deemed to be a bad influence or an unworthy member. He should also request authority to abrogate any by-laws, motions or rules passed by the active chapter which are detrimental to fraternities or not in accord with the constitution and by-laws of the national chapter, or University rules or state laws.

These changes were suggested by the Board to become effective second semester and will be a mandatory at the beginning of the fall semester 1961.

Governor Airs Budget View

By Ann Moyer and Nancy Whitford
The return of the proposed University budget to the Board of Regents does not indicate a change in his original thinking that the budget request was "not too far out of line," governor Frank Morrison told the Daily Nebraskan Thursday.

Morrison said he does not feel that the University should be listed as a governmental agency and that it therefore would not necessarily need to conform to the 10 per cent ceiling increase in spending advocated for those agencies. The proposed budget represents a 22 per cent increase over the 1959-61 budget.

"The budget was sent back to determine what is most vital in order that we can accomplish as much as possible with available money and resources," he said.

University Comptroller Joseph Soshnik noted that several growth and development projects had been included in the budget plans which would create a significant number of new positions and require additional funds beyond the 1959-61 operating budget. He said in view of the Governor's request the Regents would review the 1961-63 request and indicate those projects which were most necessary in view of the limited resources available to the state for projects of this type.

Soshnik said it was difficult to predict in which areas the proposed budget might possibly be cut.

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin said the University will make every effort to comply with the governor's request.

The governor made no specific recommendations as to the amount or areas in which the budget might be revised. Morrison said he felt the Regents were in the best position to make cuts and delay planned programs in the interest of the economy.

The Legislature's budget committee announced plans yesterday to hold a series of closed informal "fact-finding" meetings for state agencies. The first meeting will deal with the University and will be held Monday.

Chairman Richard Marvel said the committee had invited the University to send representatives to the closed session. He defined the purposes of the meetings as to provide the committee with an adequate picture of each department and institution.

Low Bid Total Goes To Regents Saturday

By Jim Forrest
An apparent low bid total of $2,359,740 has been submitted to the University by state contractors for the construction of the new two-story Sheldon Art Gallery at 12th and R.

This total and all other bids from general, mechanical, electrical and elevator contractors will be presented to the Board of Regents tomorrow morning for approval.

Dr. Arthur Westbrock Dies at 73

Dr. Arthur E. Westbrock, the man who "sold music to the people of Nebraska" is dead at the age of 73.

"Westbrock took a deep personal interest in all students he came in contact with and continued a voluminous correspondence with them even after graduation. His life was dedicated to the students and music," said Associate Professor of music Dale B. Ganz.

Ganz termed Westbrock a "tremendous worker" who conducted numerous clinics, choral and fine arts programs throughout the state in addition to sending faculty members out to interest high school students in music and the University.

Enrollment in the University department of music increased nearly seven-fold from about 35 or 40 when Westbrock first came here in 1939 to a peak of nearly 250 in 1952 Ganz said.

Westbrock was appointed director of the University School of Fine Arts in 1939 and held the post for 13 years until his retirement in 1952. From then until 1955 he served as professor of voice and as a choral director.

The body is lying in state today at Roper and Sons Mortuary, 4300 O St. Memorial services are pending.

Contracts Awarded

The contracts will be awarded and a construction date set at this time. Apparent low bidder among the general contractors is Olson Construction Co., of Lincoln with a base bid of $1,696,990 and a promised completion date within 600 calendar days.

Another low bid was submitted by the Kingery Construction Co. of Lincoln. Their bid is $1,941,308. Almost matching the Kingery bid is a $1,946,785 bid made by the George Cook Construction Co. Other general contractors submitting bids for Regent approval are Eby, Korshoj, Patti, Hawkins, and Westcott-Bowen Construction companies.

Ray Martin Co.

Apparent low bid among the mechanical contractors is the Ray Martin Co. of Lincoln, whose bid of $449,557, is only $321 lower than the $449,878 submitted by Natkin and Co. also of Lincoln.

Other mechanical contractors submitting bids are the J. J. Hanighen Co., Omaha; Newberg and Bookstrom, and the Reinhardt Bros., both of Lincoln.

The Modern Electric Co. of Omaha is the apparent low bidder among the electrical contractors with a bid of $177,500. The ABC Electric Co. and Commonwealth Electric Co., both of Lincoln, are the only other contractors bidding.

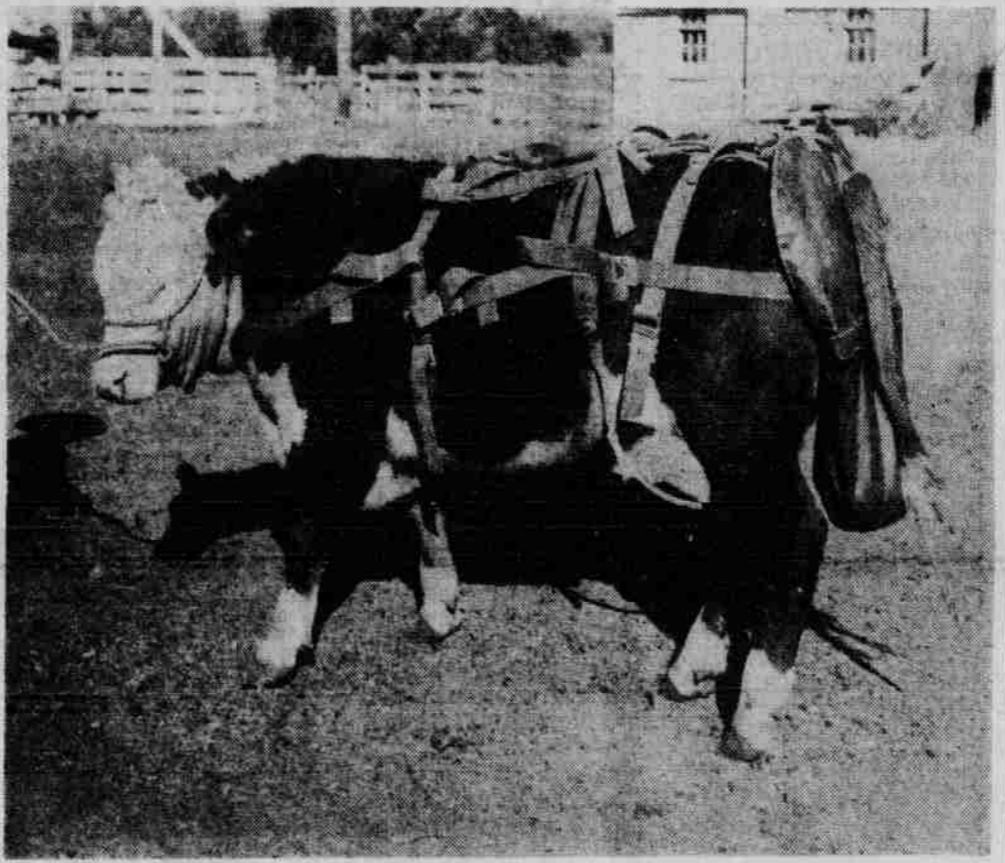

Only three elevator contractors submitted bids with the apparent low bid received from the Wright and Mac Co. of Omaha. The Omaha company's bid is $35,693. The other companies are Montgomery Elevator and O'Keefe Elevator.

The Gallery, which was designed by New York architect Phillip Johnson, will be built of concrete covered with a light colored stone called travertine and will be used exclusively for gallery and exhibition purposes.
