

Kowalke Returns To Starting Role

Jim Kowalke, Nebraska's leading scorer average-wise, will return to the starting lineup Saturday night when the Huskers face Kansas at the Coliseum at 8:05.

Kowalke, who is averaging 11.9 points per game saw limited action against Oklahoma State on the recent road trip, but the ankle injury kept him on the sidelines against Oklahoma.

The Huskers will be trying to break a four-game losing string and pull their record above the .500 mark. Nebraska is 8-3 on the season and 2-4 in conference action.

Three Huskers, in addition to Kowalke, have scoring averages in double figures. Tom Russell is averaging 11.7 points per game while Rex Swett has a 10.9 mark and Jan Wall is 10.1.

Bush tabbed Russell to team with Kowalke, at forward with Bill Bowers at center, and Al Roots and Rex Swett in the back court. Russell and Bowers top the Nebraska rebounders with 173 and 106 respectively.

Orwig Praises Fans; Hopes For Repeat

Nebraska athletic director Bill Orwig Thursday praised Nebraska basketball fans for their actions at the Iowa State game, and expressed hope that the same conduct would prevail Saturday night.

Matmen, Tankers Face Road Trip

Husker swimmers and wrestlers take to the road this weekend for meets Friday and Saturday.

The grapplers will face Adams State at Alamosa, Colo., Friday and the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs Saturday. The tankers take on Colorado State at Fort Collins Friday and the University of Colorado at Boulder Saturday.

Two Meets Slated For NU Gymnasts

Gymnastics coach Jake Geier named an eight-man traveling squad for two meets this weekend.

The Husker gymnasts will meet Colorado State at Fort Collins Friday and will go against Colorado State College and Colorado in a triangular at Boulder Saturday.

NU Frosh Begin Play Saturday

Nebraska's freshmen will open the regular basketball campaign when they entertain Fairbury Junior College at 5:45 p.m. Saturday in the Coliseum.

Freshman coach Tony Sharpe indicated he would probably start Dayrl Petsch and Keith Sieck at forwards with Bill Vincent at center, and Charlie Jones and Roger Denesia at the guard posts.

Three members of the freshman team are sidelined because of grades. Failing to clear the scholastic barriers were Chuck Sladovnik, Linn Johnson and Neil Nannen.

Husker Co-captains Slowed by Injuries

By Janet Sack

Nebraska's track team will be weaker than last week as they host Drake and Iowa State in a triangular meet Saturday.

With the loss of Joe Scott because of scholastic difficulty, the middle distance events will be more vulnerable.

Coach Frank Sevigne said co-captains Bob Knaub and Jim Kraft will not be able to work to capacity because of knee injuries.

"Things are looking pretty black in this office," Sevigne said.

The hurdles will be the Huskers' strong events in this meet. Nebraska swept both hurdle events against Oklahoma State last week.

Hopes for a first in the shot put are dim as Dick Pilgrim of Iowa State set a mark of 54-11 1/2 in the Michigan State relays. Al Wellman's best mark was set

Seven Schools Will Participate In Sports Day

Seven schools will participate in the WAA Sports Day to be held Saturday in Grant Memorial Gym, according to Judy Knapp, WAA publicity director.

Nebraska, Doane, Wayne, Hastings, Midland, Omaha, and Peru will vie for top honors in badminton, table tennis, bowling and Nebraska ball. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. with sports activity starting at 10 a.m.

Badminton, table tennis, and bowling are slated for the morning with Nebraska ball scheduled for the afternoon session.
