NU Emphasizes Three Plans of Financial Aid

Three basic systems of financial assistance for undergraduates, each emphasizing a different set of values, are found at the University.

The three systems, writes Dr. Aubrey Forrest, director of scholarship and financial aids, are the Regents Scholarships for scholastic excellence; gifts, loans and jobs to students with financial need and a series of awards for special abilities such as music, athletics and journalism. "The Regents program," Forrest said, "also has as its purpose the stimulation of greater respect for learning in general and for academically talented students in particular.

"We like to think that it contributes to the encouragement of academic excellence in Nebraska schools, and helps to attract top students to the University."

Student Aid

The second program of financial assistance is designed to aid students whose need is such that they would not otherwise be able to complete the normal baccalaureate program within four or five years.

"Some students' need is such that it would take them 12 or 15 years to graduate. It hardly needs to be pointed out that the demands of our society are such as to make it highly undesirable to delay the training of the academically talented any longer than necessary," he said.

The special awards system in recognition of non-academic achievement attracts students with special abilities.

"This strengthens and enhances the reputation of the departments involved as well as the University as a whole."

Faculty Committee

All forms of financial assistance at the University are coordinated by the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aids in accordance with policies formulated by a faculty committee.

Total undergraduate assistance during 1959-60 amounted to $880,000.

Of this total, gifts assistance based on academic ability amounted to $170,000; assistance based on special abilities, $160,000; loans, $300,000.

Alpha Phi Omega

Pledges 11 Members

Alpha Phi Omega, honorary service fraternity, recently pledged 11 new members.

They are: Allen Splittgerber, Gary Torrens, H. Roger Dodson, Bennie Nelson, Herbert Hale, Robert Valdez, Charles Adams, Larry Te Selle, Mark Tepley, Jim Lemons and Garry Porter.

On Other Campuses Administration Stresses Carolina Frat Scholarship

By Gary Lacey

Scholastic averages have become quite a problem at the University of North Carolina as fraternities are faced with the administration's new 80 per cent rule.

Now organized houses must have a composite average of "C" or 80 per cent.

If this average is not maintained, rushing privileges are suspended for one year. Houses on campus are alarmed, because bad semesters can happen and several of these semesters in a row could mean bankruptcy for the house.

ROTC Abolished

Compulsory ROTC was abolished at Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pa., by the school's board of trustees following recommendation by the faculty.

Washington Action

Similar action is taking place at the University of Washington. The school's Student Board of Control approved a 44-page report calling for the elimination of ROTC programs. More than 1,000 students signed a petition calling for the change.

All three units of the ROTC program expressed the feeling that they could get men by the volunteer method.

Free Throw Perfection

University of Michigan student, Buzz Johnson, holds the free-throw championship in free-throws making 98 of 100 shots. Greeks, independents and members of the varsity basketball team are eligible for the annual contest.

Cigarette Contest

Organized houses at the University of Kansas are currently competing in a cigarette package contest.

With a help-the-house attitude, students have doubled their smoking of three brands of cigarettes. A similar contest held last November was won by a sorority house. Number of empty packs—10,000.

Stanford Skis

Instruction in skiing in the form of a ski club is beginning at Stanford University. It takes place at Squaw Valley and the instructional costs are a quarter per hour.

Night Classes

Amusing editorial comment on the State University of Iowa's proposal for three eight-hour class shifts occurred in a recent issue of the Daily Iowan. The writer ironically states that it is against human nature.

He asks how would it seem for a male student to pick up his pinmate and walk to English at 2 a.m., or have ROTC bugles blowing in the middle of the night?

He wonders also, how the administration could run 24 hours a day?

AUF Faculty Drive Slated March 13-17

All University Fund will conduct its annual faculty drive from March 13-17.

Elsie Jevons, associate professor of business teachers education, is the faculty representative of AUF.

The money collected will be given to five charities which were chosen earlier in an all campus poll.

They include the Nebraska Division of the American Cancer Society, the Orthopedic Hospital, the Lancaster Association for Retarded Children (LARC), Tom Dooley and World University Service.

The Orthopedic Hospital is a clinic in Lincoln which gives aid to underprivileged children who are handicapped either mentally or physically.

LARC is located in Lincoln. It is a home for mentally retarded children and attempts to enable them to become independent members of society.

Tom Dooley established MEDICO to administer medical care for those in remote lands. The money donated by AUF will be used for hospitals in Laos which Tom Dooley founded.

World University Service is an international organization endeavoring to help college and university students the world over by supplying medical aid, educational supplies and emergency food and clothing.

Bauer Will Direct Inter Co-op Council

Arnold Bauer, senior in engineering, has been elected president of the Inter Co-op Council for the coming year.

Bauer is a resident of the Brown Palace Co-op.

Richard Moore, Pioneer House, will serve as vice-president and James Cawthra, Pioneer House, is the new secretary-treasurer of the council.

NIA Presents Campus Culture

The newly organized Nebraska International Association (NIA) was welcomed to the University campus Sunday by Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin.

A program, "Cultures of Campus," which was presented by members of the group, gave an idea of the varied cultures which are represented within the campus community.

An American Indian dance, a calypso dance number from the British West Indies, a Tamborito dance from Panama and an Indian love song as well as a popular song of that country were included on the program.

A Chinese song and Japanese dance represented the Orient.

Guitar music depicted American music.

"I DON'T THINK THERE'S ANY END TO THE OPPORTUNITY IN THIS BUSINESS"

When Gene Segin got his B.S. in Business Administration at the University of Illinois, he was in touch with 8 prospective employers.

Gene joined Illinois Bell Telephone Company because: "The people I talked to here made it very clear that I would not be shuffled into some narrow specialized job. I thought this job offered the greatest opportunity for broad experience."

On his first assignment Gene was sent to Springfield where he conducted courses in human relations for management people.

His next move was to a traffic operations job in Rock Island. On this assignment he was in charge of all personnel who are directly responsible for handling telephone calls in this heavily populated area. Here Gene earned a reputation for sound judgment and skill in working with people. He was promoted to Traffic Supervisor.

Today, Gene's chief responsibilities are in management training and development, and company-union relations. The latter includes contract bargaining and helping settle labor disputes.

How does Gene feel about his job? "It's a real challenge. I'm in some of the most vital and interesting work in the country." And about the future—"Well there aren't any pushover jobs around here. It's tough. But if a man has what it takes, I don't think there's any end to the opportunity in this business."

If you're looking for a job with no ceiling on it—a job where you're limited only by how much responsibility you can take and how well you can handle it—then you'll want to visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information on the Bell Companies.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

Frederick R. Kappel, President
American Telephone & Telegraph Co.
