Center Dedication Set

Three Day Celebration Involves Speakers, Alums

By Jim Forrest

A three day dedication ceremony for the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education is planned for June 9-11 on Ag campus.

A Friday afternoon luncheon at 12:30 p.m. will begin the festivities that will end nearly two years of construction on the $2 million Nebraska Center. The luncheon will have a special guest list including Gov. Frank Morrison, University officials and Alumnae Association officers.

Dr. Emory W. Morris, president and general director of the W. K. Kellogg Foundation, will be guest speaker. His topic will be continuing education.

Friday evening, University faculty and employees and their families will have an opportunity to see the new facilities on Ag campus at a special open house.

400 Alums
On Saturday, June 10th, over 400 Cornhusker alumnae will attend an Alumnae Round-up luncheon in the Nebraska Center. The reunions of the Class of 1911 and 1921 will hold special suppers in the Center both Friday and Saturday.

The third day of the dedication ceremony will be held on Sunday when the friends of the University including students and the general public are invited to attend a day-long open house.

The work that the Nebraska Center will be doing will not wait until the formal opening, according to Dr. Otto Holberg of the University's Department of Conferences and Institutes.

On June 4th the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company will hold a management conference, and on June 5th, the Red Cross has scheduled an instructor workshop and on June 6th, there will be a State Ag Extension Program.

Adult Conferences
"These are examples of the adult conferences which the Nebraska Center will open its facilities to," said Dr. Holberg, "but it is only a part of the total opportunity that will be available at the Center."

This summer the Adult Wing of the Nebraska Center will make its facilities available to conferences ranging from a Law Enforcement Institute to Crop Hail Adjustment. There are some 60 conferences scheduled as of this spring for the Nebraska Center from June 4, 1961 through April 4, 1962.

In addition to the Adult Wing, the Nebraska Center has a Hall of Youth which will have facilities for youth orientated conferences and workshops of short duration and also an 8-week Midwest Institute for Young Adults.

Dr. Holberg, who is director of the activities of the Hall, explained that the institute is for young men and women whose present plans do not include college attendance, but who desire further training for self-improvement.

Glenny Report
The Glenny report to the Legislature showed that some 70-per cent of the state's college-age youth are not attending a college or university," Dr. Holberg said. "It is to these young people and ones like them throughout the Midwest that the Hall's program is aimed."

The first Institute will be held October 30-December 22 next year. Dr. Holberg said that some 40 boys and girls are expected to attend the 60-day Institute.

This summer the Hall of Youth will house youth groups attending 4-H Club Week. Some 300 young people are expected to attend. Also this summer approximately 360 state youths will attend Boy's State at the Nebraska Center and 100 will attend a Junior Red Cross conference in August.

The Nebraska Center for Continuing Education, now more than 98-per cent completed, will have complete facilities for any type of adult or youth conference.

"Though it is not a convention Center, the Nebraska Center is an integral part of the University's plans for continuing the education of the adults and young persons of the state and region," stated Dr. Hoiberg.

AUF Nets $787 Sum From Drive

The All University Fund (AUF) received 200 replies totaling $787 for the Spring Faculty Drive which consisted of contacting 800 University faculty members.

The emphasis of the drive was on personal contact with the faculty. The interviewers explained the goals, methods and purposes of the All University Fund (AUF), and answered faculty questions and criticisms.

Peter Leppman, executive secretary of the World University Service, addressed members of the AUF Board, citing the purposes of the campus AUF chest as:

Raising funds for organizations that are worthwhile and of definite interest.

Being educational to be successful—both in classrooms and in extra-curricular activities.

Affording an opportunity for students to learn the techniques of money raising.

Leppman cautioned that the charities selected should be of wide campus interest. He added that a great problem concerns the extent to which contributors are emotionally and spiritually involved in the group.

Outstanding Nebraskans Dr. C. Bertrand Schultz and Dave McConahay pause on the steps of Administration. Dr. Schultz is director of Morrill Hall and McConahay is a senior in Arts and Sciences.

Nebraskan Gives Awards Today

By Tom Kotouc

Dave McConahay and Dr. C. Bertrand Schultz have been singled out of some 21 nominees as recipients for this semester's Outstanding Nebraskan awards.

These exceptional men on the University scene were chosen by the staff of the Daily Nebraskan as deserving special recognition for their contributions to the University.

Dr. Schultz, recognized as a national authority in vertebrate paleontology, serves the University as Director of the Nebraska State Museum and professor of geology.

Part of his life belongs to the University student as Interfraternity Council Adviser, a member of the Student Affairs Committee and Interfraternity Board of Control, and a past member of Publications Board.

In 1960 Dr. Schultz was tapped as an honorary member of the Innocents Society.

Dave McConahay, outstanding senior in pre-med, has directed the Innocents Society, Corn Cobs and Phi Kappa Psi, the past year as president.

Achieving a unique balance in scholarship, athletics, and leadership, McConahay is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi as well as a varsity golfer. He was the recipient of the Senior Man Greek Scholar award recently. He helped develop the Cornhusker Protege Program and Corn Cob's sponsorship of national entertainers on campus.

Dave Calhoun, editor, will present these awards as well as the Outstanding Athlete and Outstanding Intramural Athlete recognitions at a special luncheon today in the Student Union.

Schultz and McConahay were selected from a large field of 12 students and 9 faculty members. Faculty nominations included Van Westover, assistant dean of Student Affairs; Miss Mary Jean Mulvaney, assistant professor of physical education; Dr. George A. Young, chairman of the department of veterinary science; Dr. Joseph Bell Burt, dean of the College of Pharmacy; William Torrence, instructor in business organization and management; James Blackman, assistant dean of the College of Engineering and Architecture; Dr. Samuel Eddy, assistant professor of history; and Charles Patterson, professor of philosophy.

Cornhusker Price to $6

The price of the 1962 Cornhuskers has been raised to $6.

Publications Board voted unanimously to raise the cost of the Cornhusker, because of the increased quality and increased cost of printing, according to Anne Sowles, 1962 Cornhusker editor.

The Cornhusker currently costs $11 per book to print, which means that 45 per cent of the cost of each book is paid through advertising and organizational space, rather than each student paying the total $11.

The staff feels that in order to continue producing the All-American quality which has been published in the past two years, the raise in price is necessary and justified, she said.

Council Orientation

The orientation session for the 1961-62 Student Council will be held in the Indian Suite of the Student Union Monday, according to Council President Steve Gage.

The meeting will begin at 10 a. m. promptly and adjourn at noon for a luncheon. The executive committee will meet at 9 a. m. All members of the Council are expected to wear semi-formal dress, Gage said.

Masquers Prepare For 'Dallas' Dinner

The annual Masquers' awards banquet will be held Saturday at 6:30 p.m. at the Lincoln Hotel.

The theme of the banquet is "Curtain Calls, 1961."

Sigma Phi Epsilon Probation Lifted; Emblem Replaced at Midnight Stroke

By Ann Moyer

At midnight last night the campus regained a fraternity as the Sigma Phi Epsilon crew once again placed their fraternity emblem above the door at 601 North 16th and officially returned to their place on fraternity row.

At the hour of midnight, the charter suspension of the Sig Ep fraternity was lifted according to Dean J. P. Colbert of Student Affairs. The return of the charter was effected by the unanimous consent of the the University Board of Regents.

The Regents agreement to return the charter, which was suspended by them in October, 1960, for violation of probationary status, was received by means of a special telephone poll concerning the matter. The action of returning the charter was recommended by both the Interfraternity Board of Control and the Committee on Student Affairs.

Dean Colbert said the Regents were required to officially ratify their decision at the next Regents meeting scheduled for June 10 but the action would simply verify their telephone poll decision.

Colbert 'Happy'
Colbert remarked that he was quite happy for the boys as "they have worked hard and have been very cooperative in every respect" while dealing with their situation.

The return of the charter will allow the Sig Ep's to elect officers for the coming school year and initiate six pledges who were eligible prior to the charter suspension. In addition the Sig Eps may participate in summer rush in preparation for the next school year.

The fraternity will still remain on social probation until September, Dean Colbert said. He explained that the house could not be used for social functions prior to June 12 anyway because it was leased to the men's dorm until that date.

Council Formed

The local alumni of the fraternity have formed an Alum Advisory Council on the recommendation of the national fraternity to work with the new officers of the chapter and to advise and regulate their activities.

New officers chosen by the chapter include Ivan Grupe, president; Lloyd Wade, vice president; Norm Beatty, historian; Roger Wilshusen, secretary; and Jerry Gemar, comptroller.

AWS Schedules Final Exam Rules

AWS rules for women's houses during the final exam period have been announced.

The rules include regular closing hours for all except first semester freshmen who will have 10:30 hours during the week. Senior women will have 12 o'clock hours June 7-9.

House mothers may grant permission for students to go home during final week but no Lincoln overnights will be granted during the week.

Quiet hours are to be observed in all houses during the exam period. Hours not designated as quiet hours include noon to 1 p.m. and 5-7 p.m. These hours will apply to the weekends also.

Men may be in the houses during the regular calling hours but are expected to observe quiet hours.

Attention Campus Drivers: Paving At Last

By Dick Stuckey

Carl Donaldson, University business manager, stated yesterday that plans are underway for the paving of the north half of the Selleck parking lot.

"We are presently getting information ready for a formal presentation to the Board of Regents," said Donaldson, "and we are proceeding on a positive thinking basis."

The Board of Regents gave approval to the paving of the south end of Selleck lot late last July. Earlier approval of the present plans would finish the construction approximately the first of next school year in mid-September.

"We are more sure now than we were a year ago about the south half," said Donaldson. "We've got our fingers crossed though."

Present plans do not call for the installation of parking meters, but do allow for future installation. The pedestals will be constructed one foot wider than those in the south lot, and will enable later parking meter installation if called by for the Regents.

Donaldson's plans include landscaping similar to that of the last summer south lot construction. Shrubbery will be planted which will be in full growth in three years.

"The old stump will have to go," reminded Donaldson. He referred to the summit placed cottonwood remaining in the middle of the north lot. "We probably ought to work up some ceremony for it, I suppose," he added. "However, it will provide two additional parking spaces."

The north parking lot is presently gravelled, but the winter months and the wet spring have combined to produce a rough surface on the lot. Prior to the paving of the south lot, conditions were quite similar in that lot.

Landscaping of the south lot, including sodding and planting of shrubs was continued this year. With the paving and landscaping of both lots, parking spaces decrease, while campus perfection increases.

A THING OF THE PAST

The familiar mud-hole of north Selleck parking lot will soon be a thing of the past as University officials announced plans were under way for paving the lot. They also announced that the stump-landmark would have to go.
