Campus Mr. President

By Tom Kotouc and Nancy Whitford

"A golf letterman, a campus leader and a pre-med scholar"—these are the attributes which qualified Dave McConahay for the Outstanding Nebraskan recognition.

Dave walks fast. He says that is the way to get where you are going.

Colleagues and teachers confirm that he "is going places." They have seen not only the criteria for these college recognitions, but the potential for greater success.

James Pittinger, Administrative Assistant to the Chancellor, says, "In Dave McConahay I find a young man who has demonstrated outstanding abilities in many aspects of campus life. Not only has he demonstrated that he is an outstanding student, but he has also provided leadership qualities through his fraternity, N-Club, Innocents Society and numerous other activities.

Cornhusker Proteges

"As president of Innocents, Dave was instrumental in initiating the Cornhusker Protege Program—another example of his ability to take initiative and to recognize and work for those things that are directed towards the best interests of the University and its students," Pittinger continued.

The Protege program has brought 27 top senior men into contact with business and professional men in Nebraska.

Harry Good, Dave's golf coach, has this to say: "Dave has shown outstanding qualities in his golf play. At all times he has conducted himself as a gentleman and with great self-discipline, proving that his training of mind has carried over into all phases of his life."

Dr. Ray Dein, Professor of Accounting and adviser to Corn Cobs, found Dave one of the finest organizers he has come in contact with in Cobs.

High Purpose

"To a systematic procedure and an ability to discern between the important and less important, and then pursue and achieve, Dave adds a very high purpose and tenacity in doing everything well. High personal standards demand that he not ask others to achieve standards that he himself has not achieved or surpassed."

As a pre-med major, Dave has conferred many times with Dr. E. F. Powell, Professor of Zoology. Powell says of Dave, "I have seen in him the qualities of leadership, diligence, interest, courtesy and humor which place him in the upper 5 per cent of all medical students I have advised in 14 years."

Associate Dean of Student Affairs Frank Hallgren has seen Dave "as president of his fraternity, president of Innocents and as an outstanding student."

"In representing Phi Kappa Psi, Dave has been highly cooperative and understanding, creating an excellent University to drive himself and

A Thought

This year's executive council is to be commended for their continual pressure on the rest of the council members. Perhaps the Student Council, someday, will be a place where most of the Student's problems are handled, and not a spring board for individual honors.

The last problem, and as I see it, the most important, is the actions of the individual. We have been telling everyone through out the year to make up their own minds . . . to think for themselves . . . to voice their own opinions.

Perhaps some of the ignorant actions on the part of several groups namely, the American Legion, earlier this year, have driven this point home. It is our responsibility, each one of us, to make our own decisions and voice them. We must never run in fear, but live in an atmosphere of freedom and democracy. The people of the Mid-west must come out of their isolated shell. They must read and study the situations in Cuba, in Laos and in Moscow.

The importance of education was never emphasized better than at the William O. Douglas convocation. Our state and our University are growing. We, the people, must grow with them. We will never be able to look at today again. We have to plan for the future . . . before the future becomes the present.

SCHOLAR . . .

A PBK and Sigma Xi member, McConahay burns the midnight oil in maintaining his 8 plus average.

others to completion. When he said, "Dave also demonstrated conscientious leadership as president of Innocents and has more than fulfilled his obligations. He possesses a unique sense of direction, and is aware of the necessity of a pre-med student to be more than adequately prepared."

Northwestern

McConahay, who plans to attend Northwestern University Medical School, said he finds this field of work a challenge "because it is doing something for others."

He was graduated from Holdrege High School where he was active in football, basketball, track and golf. He spent his summers doing work in the hospital laboratory.

A senior in Arts and Science, McConahay will graduate first in his college with a scholarship average of 8.37. He has received the Boucher Award, the Regents Scholarship for four consecutive years, the Innocents Memorial Scholarship and the Schreiber-Hunter Leadership Scholarship.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Theta Nu and Sigma Xi and has served as a scholarship chairman for the Interfraternity Council. He has also played in varsity and marching band and was elected to Gamma Lambda, band honorary.

"Others Deserving"

When told of the honor, McConahay said he was flattered and surprised but felt that many others were deserving of the award, too.

Fraternity brother Neil Ferguson attributes McConahay's achievements to enthusiasm and drive.

Dave is a conscientious worker, who once he has begun a project, he plays hard, but he knows how to have fun and not to over-ride other things. "When he studies, he keeps caught up, even keeping ahead in a course. He studies his course material thoroughly and has an excellent memory.

"He has his own ideas, but accepts the ideas of others if their arguments are sound. He can fit into a group, but still maintains his own identity."
