

University to Participate In Making TV Documentary

The University of Nebraska has been selected as one of six national winners to produce a television documentary commemorating the 10th anniversary of the signing of the Morrill Land-Grant Act.

This documentary will be telecast next spring as the first in a series of six Centennial "specials" over the National Television Network.

Ford Grant To Aid NET State Survey

The Ford Foundation is supplying $17,500, supplemented by contributions amounting to $10,900, to finance a state-wide survey of Nebraska Educational Television (NET).

The University will act as fiscal agent for the grant, subject to the approval of the Board of Regents.

The planned nine-month survey will provide a detailed educational, technical, legal, fiscal, and administrative study of the establishment of a network of transmitters and production centers on a statewide basis, according to Jack G. McBride, director of the University of Nebraska's educational television station.

The Legislature passed a resolution during the 1961 session urging that a state-wide survey be conducted "as a factor in extending future educational opportunities to all Nebraskans."

This is just an initial step in the attempt to bring educational television to 90 per cent of Nebraska's population.

Bill Connell to Head ROTC Honors Group

Cadet Bill Connell was selected by the PMS to head the Nebraska Army ROTC Honor Committee for the 1961-62 school year.

Other members of the board selected by members of the senior class are Cadets Bill Holland, Marshall Kuhr, Ben Prieb, and Dave Sundberg. The committee will administer the Cadet Honor Code.

A grant-in-aid has been awarded to the University for this production.

As an additional honor to the University, Jack C. McBride of the faculty has been named executive producer of the six programs. Mr. McBride, director of television here, has also served as general manager of the University TV station, KUON-TV, since its inception in 1954.

The series of Centennial programs has been tentatively entitled, "A Vision of Ataturk." The Nebraska t. v. program will deal with the establishment of Ataturk University.

This institution in Ataturk, Turkey, less than 100 miles from the Russian border, is patterned after the Land-Grant colleges and universities in the United States.

W. Boyd Rooney, Jr., the production director of U. of N. Television, will be the local program producer. Associate producer and writer will be Harold L. Allen, a writer-photographer currently at Ataturk University. U. of N. faculty in residence in Turkey will serve as resource personnel and advisors.

The six winning program ideas were selected by judges Jay Richter, director of the Land-Grant Centennial Office; Allan W. Ostar, director of the Joint Office of Institutional Research; Donal S. Hillman, program associate

YR's Plan Active Year Says Hubka

Young Republicans will hold their first meeting Thursday, Sept. 28, in the Student Union, the room to be posted later.

Pictures for the Cornhusker will be taken at this time.

President Ladd Hubka reports that YR's will have a more active program this year, both on and off campus.

"Educational courses leading to a basic knowledge of local, state and national politics will be held in conjunction with the Lancaster County YR's," he said.

Plans are under way for circulating a petition on campus to urge the President to "stand fast against the appeasement of Red China through her admission to the UN". The campaign, he says, is in connection with the nationwide campaign of The Committee of One Million.

"Preparation for Senator Barry Goldwater's visit to campus will also be of major interest to the organization this year," added Hubka.

Individuals interested in joining the organization are invited to attend Thursday's meeting.

Educational TV Programs Scheduled

Educational television shows are invading prime viewing time, 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the evening.

This is part of a national program service in which each of the 53 affiliated stations agree to run a certain program a certain evening.

The University television station, KUON-TV will show the first of National Educational Television (NET's) prime time shows at 6:30 p.m. Monday. The prime time show will continue through the T.V. season.

On Monday evenings, NET will have documentaries of news discussions, Wednesday time will be devoted to interviews with significant persons and personalities and an arts festival featuring drama and symphonies will be shown on Fridays.

This Wednesday and Friday night shows will be "Significant Persons" and "Festival of Arts" respectively.

At 8 p.m. on Thursday, KUON-TV will bring together the secretaries of agriculture of the last five administrations in a non-political discussion.

"The week of Sept. 24 starts a new and important phase for educational television in this country," said John F. White, president of NET.

The purpose of NET is to provide a look into the arts, sciences, humanities, and public affairs. It aims to inspire you to look, listen, and then turn off the set and talk, read, or just plain think about the subject.

National Essay Competition Offers $2000 First Prize

A $2000 first prize, $1000 second prize, and five honorable mention awards of $100 will be awarded to winners of a national essay contest sponsored by the National Society of the Colonial Dames.

This contest is intended to stimulate evaluation of the responsibilities of today's American citizen. The essay is to be entitled, "Patriotism Reappraised," a Study of the Individual American's Duty to his Country. All third- and fourth-year undergraduate students of accredited universities and colleges are eligible to enter. The contest closes at midnight on March 15.

The papers will be considered on their merits, even though the conclusions may not coincide with the Dames' concept of patriotism. However, they must consider and discuss the following points:

1. The philosophy of the founding "Fathers" of the U.S.A. in drawing up the Constitution.
2. The individual's obligations "to a government which derives its just power from the consent of the governed."
3. Can an individual's actions affect the fortunes of a nation?—Give an example from the last 25 years.
4. From the same period, give an example of a nation whose fortunes were adversely affected by general indifference to patriotic ideals.
5. Comment on:
"I was born an American; I will live an American; I shall die an American; and I intend to perform the duties incumbent upon me in that character to the end of my career." — Daniel Webster, 7-17-1850.

Papers must have a bibliography and footnotes and from 4000 to 5000 words in length. They are to be submitted on 8½x11-inch paper, typed, double spaced, one original and two carbon copies.

The first and second award-winning papers will become the property of the Society, with all rights reserved.

Entries should be sent to: The National Society of Colonial Dames of America, P.O. Box No. 125, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Retiring Extensionist Ends 38 Year Career

Elton Lux, state leader of finance and personnel, will end a 38-year career in agriculture extension work at the University Nov. 1.

The Board of Regents accepted his retirement Saturday.

He joined the Agricultural Extension Service Staff in 1923 and was named the following year as the first extension editor at the College of Agriculture.

Lux received the Superior Service Award of the United States Department of Agriculture in 1958.

New Department Chairman—More Faculty Appointments

Dr. Gordon F. Culver, faculty member of Oklahoma State University for the past 10 years, has been appointed chairman of the department of business teacher education for the University's Teachers College.

Dr. Culver was appointed Saturday by the Board of Regents to succeed Dr. Wayne House, who resigned this summer to accept a similar position at Penn State University.

Dr. Culver, who earned his Ph.D. in 1958 from Nebraska, will hold the rank of associate professor of business teacher education and secondary education. He obtained both his bachelor and master of science degrees from Oklahoma State University.

Other appointments include: James A. Eisenberger, assistant professor of art, who received his master of fine arts degree from State University of Iowa.

Lee T. Lemon, assistant professor of English, who received his Ph.D. from the University of Illinois.

John W. Robinson, assistant professor of English, who received his doctorate from the University of Glasgow.

Albert W. Zechmann, assistant professor of mathematics, who earned his Ph.D. at Iowa State University.

William C. Holm, assistant professor of electrical engineering, who earned his Ph.D. from Michigan State University.

Carl R. Lindenmeyer, assistant professor of mechanical engineering, who earned his master of science degree at Northwestern University.

The Board also elevated H. C. Crandall from instructor to superintendent at Curtis School of Agriculture to succeed H. K. Douthit, who was placed on disability retirement.

The Board accepted the resignations of 27 staff members, including those of Dr. Hugo Ribeiro, professor of mathematics, and Dr. Oscar Mandel, associate professor of English.

Three new staff members were also appointed to the School of Journalism.

Keith Blackledge, a former staff member of the Miami Herald and past managing editor of the North Platte Telegraph Bulletin, was appointed instructor in news photography.

He will replace Prof. Ray Morgan, who will remain on the staff part-time and will retire at the end of the school year.

Two part-time lecturer appointments were approved for Gilbert Savery, news editor of the Lincoln Journal, and Robert Bogue, publisher of the Oakland Independent.

Savery will lecture in beginning reporting and editing and Bogue will lecture in advertising and community journalism.

The new appointments will replace John Dooley, an assistant professor who resigned because of illness, and Conrad Hill, assistant professor who is working on a Ph.D. degree at the State University of Iowa.

"Our biggest struggle is for economic development, but before we can do this we must reduce our rate of illiteracy, which is 50 per cent of our population. Unlike the U.S., our primary schools are very poor," he said.

When asked about Castro, the Brazilian said that he felt that the majority of the leading citizens in Brazil are against Castro. "They recognize that Castro is fighting for self-determination and not for the people's determination."

He hopes that his wife and 23-year-old daughter will be able to join him in Nebraska next December.
