

Appearance of Mantovani Sparks Concert Season

Highlighting the Lincoln Community Concert season will be the presentation of Mantovani, "the master of the Tumbling Strings," and his orchestra.

The membership drive is being conducted this week. The tickets, $4, can be obtained from organized house representatives and the booth in the Student Union.

Ticket sellers will receive one free ticket for every ten tickets sold. A stereo phonograph will be awarded to the person who sells the most memberships. Transistor radios and an assortment of record albums will be given to the runner-ups.

A total of four concerts are planned with the possibility of giving a fifth concert. In addition to Mantovani, creator of the "New Music" which made him a "living legend on the music scene," who will appear Nov. 14, there will also be Branko Krsmanovich Chorus, Oct. 18; Goldovsky Grand Opera Theatre, Nov. 3; and Robert Joffrey Ballet, Mar. 21.

The Branko Krsmanovich Chorus of Yugoslavia, directed by Bogdan Babich, is recognized as one of Europe's oldest and most distinguished choruses. Their program is a kaleidoscope of the "world's finest choral music" ranging from the classic to the romantic and contemporary pieces. Presenting Rossini's "The Barber of Seville" is the ball games seems downright awful. It was amusing to hear the east stadium "girl's chorus" out yelled by the North Dakota migrants. Assuming the students really are for the team in Red, why don't they learn two yells or songs and then... YELL. Even one cheer, with some guts to it is better than you now do-disgusting.

Honestly, the student body's apathy leads me to believe the students don't deserve good football. They might even have a better time at the games with the enthusiasm generated by one good cheer.

Sincerely,

NU Grants Total for '61 Is $4 Million

The University received nearly $4 million in outside research and training grants last year.

The actual total was $3,977,644, an increase of $1 million over the previous year, Dr. Harold Wise, deputy research administrator, reported today.

Since 1958, the amount of research and training money from outside sources has been climbing at the rate of $1 million a year, he said.

This can be directly attributed to the reputation of the University's faculty, he said.

Of the total received last year, $3,374,860 was granted from federal sources; $155,640 from state sources, and $447,144 from other sources.

The lion's share of the grants, $2,938,573, was directed toward biological sciences; $498,843 to social sciences; $433,857 to physical sciences; $81,400 to humanities; and $24,971 to general fields.

The breakdown of the grants and contracts by colleges is: College of Medicine, $2,251,741; College of Arts and Sciences, $753,554; College of Agriculture, $549,115; Teachers College, $125,479; College of Dentistry, $72,780; College of Engineering and Architecture, $41,351; College of Pharmacy, $12,103; and unclassified, $171,521.

ment. The Russians will be waiting for this—they are trying now to move back to Leopoldville in force. And if the spring rebounds, the hatred and violence now spreading south and east must spread with increased velocity. Men like Welensky of Rhodesia will not accept the lesson of much history—that in facing mass movements one either deals with the moderates or he ends up dealing with the extremists. The eventual transition in the white settler regions is likely to be quite violent enough without adding these pressures from the north and west.

The prospect of the UN coming to grief or ignominy or both in the Congo is still very much before us. When and if that happens most people, no doubt, will date the beginning of the misfortune from Hammar-skjold's untimely death. The proper date would be an earlier one.

We have forgotten the chief lesson of the awful events that followed the official Belgian departure from the Congo region a year ago last spring. That lesson was that the Congo, an immense area with scores of tribes and languages, is not a nation.

Instead of acting on that implacable fact, the UN acted on the contrary assumption, and for no other reason than that a tiny handful of tribal politicians had by their own fiat declared the Congo to be a nation.

Air Force Career

Had I desired to seek a career in the Air Force, I could have been considered for Distinguished Military Graduate or asked that my term in the reserve be extended or asked for a commission in the regular Air Force.

And I'll never forget the midshipman who talked to me about the Navy ROTC program while I was a senior in high school. He tried to convince me to take the qualifying test for Navy ROTC midshipman. Had I taken and passed it, I would have received a subsistence allowance of $50 a month for living expenses, plus paying for all tuition, fees, and books for my four years of University and Navy ROTC. I would have taken three summer cruises of six weeks each and been paid $172.50 for my time plus a travel allowance.

After graduation I would have been commissioned an ensign in the regular Navy. I would have begun at $338 a month if on quarters allowance with dependants for each of my four years of active duty. If I then resigned my commission, I would serve one year in the ready reserve
