Nebraska's traveling squad of 36 will leave today at noon for Manhattan where they will meet the red-hot Kansas State Wildcats Saturday.

The game, the first conference contest for either team, will match two undefeated teams tied by Arizona 14-14 Saturday.

Kansas State has scored two straight upsets, 14-8 over Indiana and 14-12 over Air Force. The Wildcats, who finished in the Big Eight cellar last year, were picked to finish eighth again but have been an early season surprise.

The Wildcats are paced by Larry Corrigan, the Big Eight's leading passer. The sophomore quarterback has completed seven of 15 passes.

NU, K-State, Buffs Meet At Manhattan

By Janet Sack

Nebraska's cross country team meets Kansas State and Colorado in a triangular at Manhattan Saturday to open the 1961 season.

Hoping for a victory the Huskers will face a veteran Kansas State team boasting six men from last year's team. John McNeal, junior, is the top returner.

Other veteran Wildcats adding strength are Ed Mahoney, Bob Jadow, Gene Mater, Jerry Schleitsbaun and Jim Barbour.

Colorado's team will be mostly sophomores with Bob Griffith leading the newcomers. Steve McBrain, Dave Hayes and Mike McCoy are the other Buff sophs.

Nebraska will field four veteran and four sophomore hurlers. Ray Stevens, junior, will lead the invading Huskers. Bill Kenny, Clarence Scott, and Paul Nielsen, all veterans, will carry the load along with sophs John Portee, Andy Steele, Stuart Tucker and Jim Lewis.

This meet could shape up to be a dual contest between Stevens and McNeal. Last year against Kansas State Stevens finished second and McNeal third. First place was garnered by Ed Wagoner, a senior at K-State last year.

The meet will be held over a three mile hill and dale route on the Country Club Golf course. Meet time is 10 a.m.

comment about the game: "It could be another typical Kansas State-Nebraska game. A field goal may win it."

Field goals have played an important role in the recent years of the Husker-Wildcat games. Last year's game was won by Nebraska 17-7 with the aid of Bennie Dillard's running and Ron Meade's toe. Kansas State won the 1956 game with a three-pointer, 10-7.

Ahead In Series

The Wildcats have won five of the last eight games played between the two teams, although Nebraska owns a 34-9-2 series margin. The last Husker victory at Manhattan came in 1957 when NU edged K-State 14-7. This year's game is expected to attract a full house (22,500) at the Band Day event at K-State's Memorial Stadium.

The Huskers will have a sizeable weight advantage over the Wildcats. The NU first unit averages 210 pound per man while Kansas State does not have a player over 200 on the first team which averages 181.

The NU line will have a 216-187 advantage and the backs a 196 to 171 weight spread. The second teams are closer with the Husker alternate unit averaging 195 and K-State 189.

Three full teams plus three other players will make the trip for NU. The three extras are Archie Cobb, NU punt specialist, quarterback Ron Gilbreath, and defensive halfback Warren Powers.

DAILY NEBRASKAN SPORTS

Sports Shots

By Bullet

The prediction sheet now stands at an even .750 percentage for the year, with 57 right and 19 wrong. Last week's upsets chopped the average down as there were 26 right, 11 wrong and four ties for a .703 weekend mark.

There are some more thrillers in store Saturday and, undoubtedly, some more of the nation's top teams will bite the dust. Here's a look at the Oct. 7 games.

Wohlfarth

Nebraska will go into its third game of the year as an underdog for the first time this year. Many forecasters are taking K-State in a close game, but we'll stick with the Huskers to rebound after a dismal showing against Arizona. We'll tab it NEBRASKA 14 KANSAS STATE 7.

Big Eight Games

COLORADO 24 KANSAS 20—This is the big game in the conference this week and we'll pick the Buffs on a home field edge.

OKLAHOMA 21 IOWA STATE 0—Sooners to bounce back after loss to Notre Dame and gain revenge for last year's upset at hands of Cyclones.

MISSOURI 21 CALIFORNIA 6—Those Tigers are starting to roll again this year.

OKLAHOMA STATE 13 TULSA 0—Big Eight's leading offensive team will be out to prove it.
