

Huskers Face Second Loop Test Against OSU

By Dave Wohlforth
Nebraska will travel to Stillwater to meet its second Big Eight opponent of the year, Oklahoma State, Saturday. A crowd of between 25,000 and 27,000 is expected for the Cowpoke homecoming.

The Huskers, who opened their conference play with a 24-0 victory over Kansas State two weeks ago, will be seeking revenge for last year's 7-6 defeat to the Cowboys.

The two teams have displayed powerful offenses this season, in contrast to last year when both Nebraska and Oklahoma State spent most of their time on defense.

Nebraska leads the Big Eight in total yards gained with 965 yards, Oklahoma State being in the runnerup position with 951.

Thornton Challenged Again
Nebraska's Bill Thornton may face his second individual battle of the year this week against Jim Dillard, Cowboy left halfback.

Thornton, 200-pound Husker left half, outdueled Syracuse's All American back, Ernie Davis, despite NU's 28-6 loss to the Orange last Saturday. Thornton gained 133 yards on 15 carries. Davis picked up 120 on 22 attempts.

Thornton has gained 277 yards on 48 carries for the Huskers this year and Dillard, hard running 205-pound former fullback, has ground out 319 yards on 47 carries.

Should Have Tied
Husker Scout Cletus Fischer, who scouted Missouri's 10-0 win over OSU last week, said the Pokes should have had no worse than a 3-3 tie.

The only Tiger touchdown came on a deflected pass which fell into the arms of a Missouri player who happened to be running under it, Fischer reported. Oklahoma State kicked a field goal right before the half ended but it was nullified because the Cowboys had too many men on the field.

"They're big and they can move the football," Fischer said.

Huskers In Good Shape
Husker Coach Bill Jennings said Monday that Nebraska came out of the Syracuse game in pretty good shape. Willie Ross, Ed Mitchell and Bernie Clay didn't practice Monday due to injuries and Bob Brown and Mick Tingelhoff are on limited duty. The Husker first units worked out in sweat clothes Monday night and the remainder of the team scrimmaged the freshman.

Ross suffered a bruised hip and Mitchell a leg bruise in the Syracuse game. Clay, NU

Jennings said the Huskers would go with the same first unit that started against Syracuse with the exception of center. Ron Michka may start due to Tingelhoff's injury.

NU Starters

Jennings praised linemen Voss, Gary Toogood, Jones and Michka for their performances against Syracuse.

He indicated he would start Voss at the right tackle spot this week. "Voss has been coming along real well. Brown hasn't had any work lately," he commented.

Wanted To Stay
He pointed out that late in the first half against Syracuse when the red unit was marching he didn't send the alternate unit (Blue team) in because the "first unit wanted to stay in the ball game. I was pleased.

He said that Nebraska moved the ball well against Syracuse except when pay dirt approached.

"We made mistakes," he said, "stopping ourselves with a fumble, three passes that were intercepted (one for a 49-yard TD) and a 15-yard penalty after Jim Hoge had made a tremendous play to nail Davis for a seven yard loss."

He pointed out that while you don't celebrate a 28-6 licking there was none of the heavy gloom in the dressing room after the game.

When one player was quoted as saying, "We feel we are within inches of being a good football team," Coach Jennings said his staff would have to agree to that.

"Had we been able to get that first touchdown it could very well have been a different ball game," he said. He was recalling the first series of plays after Nebraska took the initial kickoff and moved from its own 30 to the Syracuse 25 in four plays. A pass interception on the Syracuse two-yard line halted that march.

Six Lettermen Report For Wrestling Drills

By Bob Beson
Six returning lettermen are included on Coach Bob Mancuso's incomplete 1961-62 wrestling roster. All of the lettermen are looked to for strength in different weight classes.

Heavyweight Jim Raschke and 123 pounder Mike Nissen, who led last season's varsity in 32 years, are among the six.

The remaining four — Dick Van Sickle, 130, Jim Falmon, 137, Larry LeBruska, 147, and Harold Thompson, 157 — should provide added power for the Husker cause.

However, as Coach Mancuso commented, "For a well-balanced team, we will need much help in the 115, 167, 177, and 191-pound divisions, which are wide open at present."

Mancuso lauded two sophomores after the first week of drills. Dave Cook, 137 and John McIntyre, 147 should help to provide depth on the squad.

Mancuso has 12 duals on tap for his matmen this season — three more than in 1961-62. The record was 5-13 last season.

The opener is at Manhattan Dec. 2, against Mancuso's alma mater Kansas State and former coach Fritz Knorr.

The Huskers will be entered in at least three tourneys.

Ross and Thornton Lead Ball-Carriers

Willie Ross is still the top Husker rusher, average-wise, after four games. Ross has gained 155 yards in 22 carries for a 7.0 average per carry.

Thunder Thornton is Nebraska's top ground gainer with 277 yards. Thornton is second in rushing average with a 5.8 average for 48 carries.

Rudy Johnson, a sophomore fullback, has gained 110 yards in 25 carries for the Huskers.

Quarterback Ron Meade leads the passers with 10 of 17 completions for a .588 percentage. Dennis Claridge has gained 128 yards through the airways.

Ross and Thornton are tied for Husker scoring honors as both have crossed the goal for three TDs and eighteen points. Meade is close behind with 17.

Demonstrating some spectacular punting in the Syracuse game, Claridge boosted his punting average to 39.7.

The Huskers as a team are ahead of their opponents in first downs gained, net yards gained rushing, passing and the total offensively.

Gymnastic Outlook Good; Intersquad Meet Is Nov. 21

By Tim Brown
Nebraska Gymnastics Coach, Jake Geler reported Monday that he has hopes of a very good season. He stated that the team has the potential of equaling last year's record and perhaps the men will be more outstanding individually.

Sophomore Dennis Albers and Charles Williams, team captain are two of the men that are expected to shine individually.

The intersquad meet, Nov. 21, will match the all around men against the rest of the team. Coach Geler expects to have a better evaluation of his team after this meet.
