

Tigers Next Foe For Slipping NU

By Dave Wohlforth
It's migration and Missouri next! Husker football fans are looking to the future rather than the past after Nebraska's disastrous 14-6 loss to Oklahoma State Saturday.

The Huskers will face mighty Mizzou, defending Big Eight champ and unbeaten this year, next Saturday at Columbia, the home fort of the Tigers. A troop of NU fans is expected to make the trip, which has been supported by the student body as the annual Husker migration.

The Huskers will have to improve their punchless scoring attack if they want to stay in the ball game with the Tigers. It was this lack of some scoring push which cost the Huskers the Oklahoma State game, the second straight loss for Nebraska.

The last-place Cowboys took advantage of a big break and the Huskers' inability to score when opportunity knocked to upset Nebraska before 25,000 homecoming fans at Stillwater.

Like Last Year
The game had the same appearance as last year's 7-6 O-State win over the Huskers in Lincoln. Outplayed most of the game the Cowpokes recovered a fumble late in the game and marched in to score then added the extra point for a 7-6 win.

Again this year a break was the turning point of the game for Oklahoma State. With Nebraska leading 6-0 midway through the third quarter, Oklahoma State was forced to punt on a fourth down on their own 40. Husker safety Willie Ross hobbled Dave Hannah's punt on the NU 12 and the ball bounded back to the one where Cowpoke end Tommy Ward recovered.

Fullback Bob Adcock bulled over on the next play and Ted Davis, whose foot provided the victory margin in 1960, converted to give the Cowboys a 7-6 edge with 5:33 left in the third quarter.

OSU Scores Again
This quick score gave the Cowboys the boast they needed for after a Nebraska drive bogged down at the OSU 26, the Cowboys took the ball on their own 20 (after a Husker field goal attempt failed) and marched 80 yards in 18 plays to score with only two minutes left in the game.

The TD drive, sparked by backs Ray Wesley and fullback Bill McFarland, was almost stopped by the Huskers several times but OSU was able to pick up yardage when it needed it the most.

McFarland banged over from the two for the score and Davis' second successful extra point kick clinched it for the Cowboys. NU's final effort to score was unsuccessful when a last-ditch passing game failed and they lost the ball on the OSU 23 as the game ended.

Huskers Start Fast
The Huskers had dominated play in the first half and looked like they would get conference win number two.

Early in the second quarter Husker halfback Thunder Thornton, who again played brilliantly in defeat, barreled for 41 yards to the OSU four before being knocked out of bounds. However, an offside penalty pushed NU back to the eight and a four-yard gain by Thornton and an incomplete pass left the Huskers with a four and goal situation at the six.

Husker place-kicker Ron Meade tried a field goal but his kick was wobbly and to the left and OSU took over control of the ball. Meade, usually a near perfect kicker, had a bad day, missing on two field goal tries and an extra point attempt.

Dillard Fumbles
Nebraska got the ball again when Oklahoma State's Jim Dillard fumbled at the Cowpoke 45 after gaining 14 yards. Don Purcell made a jarring tackle on Dillard and Bill Comstock recovered for Nebraska on the OSU 44.

Dennis Stuewe picked up 11 yards, then hit the left side for six more to the OSU 26. Thornton plowed for three and Dennis Claridge sneaked for a first and ten on the OS 18.

On the next play Claridge made a beautiful fake to Thornton who plowed into the line and was tackled. Claridge, meanwhile bootlegged the ball to the right and fired a strike to end Dick McDaniel in the end zone for the Husker's only score of the day. Nebraska led 6-0 after the extra point failure with 9:29 left in the first half.

A great goal-line stand by the Huskers preserved the lead before the halftime intermission. The Cowboys marched 69 yards to the NU 2 before Dillard was stopped short on a fourth down try at the end zone.

Purcell, Dallas Dyer, Rudy Johnson, Ross and Warren Powers made some key stops in slowing the OSU drive which was stopped with only 10 seconds left in the first half.

Two other Husker drives were stalled by miscues. In the first quarter they had marched to the OSU 42 but fumbled and in the third quarter they took a kickoff, trailing 7-6, and with Thornton and Pat Clare banging out the yardage, made it as far as the OSU 16 where they had the ball with a second down and one to go.

NU Stopped Again
A pass from Claridge intended for Purcell was incomplete and on the next play NU was offside. Thornton was caught for his only loss of the day and another incomplete pass stopped the Huskers. Meade's second field goal attempt, this one from the 34 into the wind was way short.

The win was the first in the conference for the Cowboys, who have lost three Big Eight games — to Iowa State, Colorado, and Missouri.

Nebraska is now even for the year with a 2-2-1 record. The loss evened the NU conference record at 1-1 but with the five toughest conference opponents left to play in successive weeks, NU now faces Missouri, Kansas, Iowa State, Colorado and Oklahoma in that order.

Thornton Outstanding
Thornton was the whole show for Nebraska again. The Thunder Man gained 121 yards in 19 carries to up his season's total yardage to 398 yards in five games.

He completely overshadowed OSU's Dillard who gained 45 yards on 13 carries. For the second straight week Thornton was one of the few Husker bright spots, both offensively and defensively.

Junior halfback Stuewe turned in another good performance for the Huskers. Stuewe, who reinjured his ankle in the third quarter, intercepted a pass, gained 28 yards in four carries and caught a pass for seven yards.

Claridge Punt Well
Another Husker bright spot in an otherwise bleak showing was the punting of quarterback Claridge. The sophomore punter kicked four times for an average of 45.6 yards per kick, continuing his sensational punting.

Linemen Purcell, Dyer, Dwayne Carlson, Lloyd Voss, Bob Jones and Jim Hoge were standouts on defense as Nebraska was minus two big linemen, Ed Mitchell and Bob Brown, due to injuries.

Leading the OSU attack was McFarland, who gained 65 yards. Other ground gainers in the balanced OSU attack were Dillard (45), Don Derrick (42), Wesley (29) and Adcock (23).

The Cowboys had an edge in the statistics, out-downing the Huskers 15-11 and ahead in rushing 232-187. The Huskers did manage to make 58 yards passing, compared to OSU's 27 but trailed in total offense 234 to 227.

Kansas, Colorado, Mizzou Victorious in Big 8 Action

By Mel Hester
Kansas, led by halfback John Hadl, added another victory to their record Saturday when the Jayhawks downed the Oklahoma Sooners 10-0. Hadl, who up until this week was working in the quarterback position, switched to a halfback Saturday and threw a 30-yard touchdown pass to Larry Allen.

After the second quarter pass play, the Jays came back again with Wallace Barnes kicking a 35-yard field goal.

Only once was Oklahoma a big threat to Kansas' tough defensive play. Paul Lea, Oklahoma's third string fullback, caught a Kansas punt on the Oklahoma 45 and raced down the field to the Kansas 13. Then when the Jayhawk defense held, Sooner Karl Milsted tried a 15-yard field goal but missed it.

Missouri, with an outstanding defensive showing, defeated the Iowa State Cyclones Saturday 13-7. The Tigers started off with a big bang when on their first offensive play of the game, they dashed 63 yards for a touchdown. Also in the opening minutes of the game, Missouri third team fullback Paul Underhill, who had been sidelined up till now because of injuries, smashed through the Iowa State line for a 12-yard touchdown run.

Iowa State's Dave Hoppmann completed three passes for 21, 18, and 21 yards as the Cyclones scored on the last of the three completions. Missouri was depending mostly on their tricky T-formation offense with their first string quarterback Ron Raylor and their first string fullback Andy Russell on the injury list.

Bill Tobin, Missouri's extra point kicker is now only one extra point away from the conference record of 29 after his one for two showing Saturday.

Kansas State had no more luck than Kansas in taming Buffaloes Saturday at Manhattan when they were dropped by unbeaten Colorado 13-0. Even though the K-State offense was held to 19 yards rushing and 27 yards passing, the K-State defense made a great showing by holding Colorado's skillful passing attack to five completions in 19 tries.

In the opening period, the Buffs drove 54 yards for their first score. After Loren Schweninger carried the ball eight successive times to reach the K-State one yard line, halfback Ted Woods drove the one yard for the score. Jerry Hillbrand's extra point was no good.

The second Buff touchdown came after a 49-yard drive with Bill Harris slanting off right tackle gaining the five yards needed for the score. Hillbrand then kicked the extra point making the score 13-0.

Nebraska Cagers Start Second Week of Drills

Nebraska's varsity basketball squad starts its second week of workouts today with six seniors, three juniors and seven sophomores on hand.

Al Buuck is the only cager not to return. Buuck did not return to school. It is still doubtful that Jan Wall will see much action because of injuries received in a summer auto accident.

Coach Jerry Bush said that the men seem very anxious and are working very hard. He also commented that the team has depth in all positions.

Stevens Victorious; NU Loses

The Nebraska cross country team fell to defeat at the hands of a strong Colorado team 23-26 Saturday on the windy three mile hill-and-dale course in Pioneers Park.

Ray Stevens, Husker junior, finished first with a 15:09 to remain undefeated in the current cross country season. The blond runner from North Platte finished a good 30 yards ahead of second place Bob Griffith of Colorado, timed in 15:15.

Colorado, fielding an all sophomore squad, also notched third and fourth places with Steve McBrain and Mike McCoy clocked in 15:31 and 15:34, respectively.

Husker soph John Portee fell over the finish line for fifth position with a 15:36. Buff Dick Faust followed closely for sixth in 15:36 and Jim Lewis of Nebraska ranked seventh with a 15:39.

Bruce Degan, Tom Starr and Bill Sproat, all of Colorado, finished eighth, ninth and 10th, respectively. Nebraska finished 11th, 12th and 13th with Stuart Tucker, Clarence Scott and Paul Nielsen.

Ironically, the whole field was sophomores except for Stevens and Scott, juniors, and Nielsen, a senior.

Nebraska's Bill Kenny was sidelined with an injured Achilles tendon. He expects to start working out today, he said.

In the previous meets the Huskers placed second at a triangular at Manhattan against Colorado and Kansas State and won a triangular over Drake and Iowa State in their second outing.

Next week the harriers will travel to Missouri for the last dual of the season. After Missouri, the AAU in Omaha and the Big Eight Conference in Lawrence, Kan., are the only meets remaining.

Order of finish:
1. Ray Stevens (N) 15:09; 2. Bob Griffith (C) 15:15; 3. Steve McBrain (C) 15:31; 4. Mike McCoy (C) 15:34; 5. John Portee (N) 15:36; 6. Dick Faust (C) 15:36; 7. Jim Lewis (N) 15:39; 8.
