Continued from Page 2 date? The 7th commandment, you know. And then there's the matter of brotherhood with all colors and creeds, national and international, in fraternity and sorority and out of it. Real democracy always takes guts.

In fact, dear Patriots, if religion is ever to be anything more than a pious Sunday morning somnolency, it will take a campus epidemic of sclerosis of the alimentary canal.

So, comes the revolution—I hope. A call to arms. An invitation to make your religious faith more than Carbon Dioxide. Believe me, it's the only path I know that leads to life.

Alan Pickering
Jazz n' Java The Student Union Jazz and Java session will provide a needed break from Homecoming display assemblage Friday at 4 p.m. in the Crib. The Sigma Chi Combo will provide the music.

Film

"In the Grass" is a major film on a compelling theme—the idealism of youth is not the reality of adulthood.

Friday night at eight take time from the weather-drenched homecoming festivities to attend Mary Chase's "Mrs. McThing" at University High School. Directed by University student Andrew Wolvin, it is one of the finest high school plays I have seen or aided.

Also, reserve Friday night, Nov. 10, to view KNUS-TV's student production of "Fredonia Flats," telecast over the University's own television station, Channel 12. Featuring cast and crews composed of University students, the production, directed by Dr. Howard Martin of the speech department, receiving an exciting response when previewed at the end of the last school year. It deserves your attention.

transportation, lodging, food (two meals a day), ski equipment (skis, boots, poles), and instructors. Insurance will be provided by the University.

Extra spending money will cost from $5 to 15 or $20 depending on each individual's expenses for snacks between meals or souvenirs, etc.

Clothes are entirely casual, but the Union Recreation committee suggests something warm and comfortable for skiing. Skiers will be able to rent ski equipment and ski clothes at shops in Winter Park.

In addition to skiing, other activities include skating, sleigh rides, and informal parties.

For those who plan to go, a couple of meetings will be held to orientate them on all of the arrangements and "how to be prepared for a fabulous three days" of skiing and fun. Ski exercises will be given in order to develop flexibility and strength of ski muscles which will reduce serious accidents.

The Union committee reported that thirty students went last year and had a wonderful time in addition to learning how to ski.

One can sign up for the trip by paying a $10 deposit fee at the Union Program office and filling out a copy of the "Agreement" and "Consent and Waiver."

If there are any questions concerning the trip, contact Judy Keys, Ski Trip chairman at HE 2-3587 or IN 6-3388.

Three Student Delegates To Attend UN Conference

By Tom Kotone

Three University students will be selected to represent the University at the Collegiate Council for the United Nations in New York City on Nov. 10-11.

Travel expenses by air coach and hotel bills will be paid by the Lincoln Elks Club and the American Association for the United Nations, said Bill Buckley Student Council member in charge of the Conference.

Applications are being accepted from interested students and should be in the Student Council office by noon Saturday.

The letter of application should include the following information: name, address, reason for interest in and qualifications for attending UN Conference, grade point average, and experience in government which would help to interpret the UN experience.

Selection of the three representatives will be made

Monday by Dean Adam Breckenridge, Dr. Baumgarten, Mrs. Nickerson, Student Council president Steve Gage, Professor Daniel Sloan of the political science department and Bill Buckley.

Prior to the Conference delegates will be briefed on the United Nations history, organization and crises by University professors.

"The Conference will be attended by qualified students from all America who have a distinct interest in the United Nations," Buckley said.

The subject of the conference is "1961: UN year of Crisis." A number of seminars and panel discussions will be held, however, said Buckley, on topics as "The Role of the Non-Aligned Nations in International Politics," "African Development and the UN" and "The Problems of Chinese Representations."

Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru will also speak to the Collegiate Council.

Reports by the University's delegates on their UN experience to student organizations will point towards the Midwest Model United Nations at St. Louis, Mar. 29-31, 1962, Buckley said.

The University has been invited to send delegates to this organization to represent a specific nation of the UN in a model UN debate.

The University's delegates will leave for New York Thursday and will stay at the Hotel Commodore while in New York.

Sustained efforts by Council members Susie Moffitt and Herbie Nore were successful in securing necessary funds to pay the delegate's expenses to the Conference.

The sponsorship of the Conference on a University level part of the Public Issues program initiated by the Council last spring to bring the student to a greater awareness and understanding for the problems facing him off campus.

Council, Administration Tentatively Approve Publication Combination

The Student Council passed a resolution Wednesday to combine the AWS Handbook, Husker Handbook, Activities Handbook and On the Social Side into a single student publication.

Committee co-chairman Susie Moffitt said that the administration has tentatively given their approval to finance the publication, although official approval was still needed.

If funds can be obtained, 10,000 copies of the publication will be printed for distribution to all students next fall. With the funds the University currently used in the publication of the Husker Handbook, Activities Handbook and On the Social Side; 6500-7500 copies could be printed without additional expense to the University, Miss Moffitt said.

Gretchen Shellberg, publications vice-president of Builders, said that her group is in favor of the handbook if it serves the best interests of the campus.

Editor Builders has appointed a temporary editor of Husker Handbook until spring, pending the final decision as to whether the handbook will be printed or not, Miss Moffitt said.

AWS also favors the new handbook, Miss Moffitt added. The present amount of $233 for the 1,300 copies of the AWS Handbook printed annually might be added to the administrative funds to be used in publishing the handbook.

"The administration is enthusiastic about this handbook," Miss Moffitt said. Dean Helen Snyder had been directed at the beginning of the year to investigate such a publication and believe that it can be distributed next fall.

Committee co-chairman, Jeanie Morrison said that portions of publications of general student interest will be included in the handbook, including traffic regulations, student health pamphlets, dormitory rules, IPC and Panhellenic regulations.

Single Source This would provide each student with a single source of information necessary and helpful to his University life," Miss Morrison said.

The council publications committee recommended two alternate plans for editing the handbook.

The first plan would set up a new body outside of any existing activity organization whose editor and co-editor would be selected through interviews conducted by the Publications Board.

The editor and co-editor would then select through interviews the staff who would assume the major responsibility for publishing the handbook.

Advisory Board "This group," said Miss Moffitt, "would work closely with the Division of Student Affairs and the Administrative Committee on Publications, acting in an advisory capacity to the staff."

A second plan would leave the editorship of the handbook with the professional administrative representative who currently draws up the "General Information" publication of the administration.

A student committee of five would be selected either through Pub Board or Student Council interviews to work directly with the administrative editor. This committee would retain the right of suggestion and advice in matters concerning the student interest.

Regarding the finance of the handbook Miss Moffitt said that at present the University provides $1,346 annually to finance the Husker Handbook (4000 copies), Student Activities Handbook (500 copies) and On the Social Side (600 copies).

"To print 10,000 copies of the handbook," Miss Moffitt said, "we would need an additional $1,500. If budget restrictions made it impossible to obtain this amount for the coming year, we could request it under the next fiscal administrative budget and print only 6500-7500 copies next fall."

Religious Activities

Reverend Dennis W. Patterson will join the United Campus Christian Fellowship (UCCF) staff on Jan. 1.

He will join Dr. Alan Pickering and Rev. Ralph Hays as a fulltime member of the interdenominational joint campus ministry.

Rev. Patterson is presently pastor of the Immanuel United Church of Christ in Bartlett, Illinois. He attended the University of North Dakota where he received a B.A. degree with a major in psychology and minors in sociology and music. He then attended the University of Southern California, the Evangelical Theological Seminary

Library May Guard 'Stacks'

The possibility of restricting the use of the carrels or "stacks" to all unauthorized students was explained to the Student Council Wednesday by Dr. Henry Baumgarten, member of the Library Committee of the Faculty Senate.

"A guard might be posted at the entrance to the "stacks," Baumgarten said, "to stop students who have not received a carrel assignment or who are trying to locate a book themselves instead of getting it through the desk messenger."

The opinion of Dr. Baumgarten was expressed during a Council discussion on the crowded library conditions resulting from use of library space as "study hall."

George Peterson, Student Council library committee chairman, said that Dr. Frank Lunday, library director had told him that the use of vacant rooms in Burnett and Andrews Halls for study in the afternoon and evening was being considered.

Council second Vice-president Jim Samples pointed out the need for more adequate heating and lighting plus tables or large desks if the Andrews' or Burnett space was to be utilized.

Samples also believed that reference or study centers established in living areas would be no more effective than present facilities unless conditions conducive to study could be maintained.

"It's up to the dorm counselor, scholarship chairman and the student himself," Samples said, "to maintain quiet."

The possibility of establishing references or study centers in each living unit had been suggested by Peterson as a way of reducing library overcrowding last week.

to attend an informal reunion of the fraternity after the game.
