Cast of 34 Will Play In KK's Guys, Dolls

Cast members for Kosmet Klub's fiftieth anniversary Spring Show, "Guys and Dolls," have been announced. Leading a talented cast of thirty-four is Beverly Ruck as Adelaide, the night club dancer with a rather large social problem. She's been engaged for fourteen years.

The object of her prolonged passion is Nathan Detroit, played by Jim Trester, owner and manager of "The Oldest Established Permanent Floating Crap Game in New York."

Sky Masterson (Thomas Schwenke) who comes by the name "Sky," because that's how high he bets, meets Nathan, and before he knows it, has fallen into a "sucker bet." Nathan bets Sky one thousand dollars that he can't get Sergeant Sarah Brown, the lovely mission doll . . . lady, to go to Havana for dinner. Sky not only takes Sarah (Claire Roehrkasse) to Havana and wins the bet, but wins Sarah as well.

Nicely-Nicely
A generous sprinkling of Damon Runyan characters is led by Al Epstein as Nicely-Nicely Johnson, Don Thompson as Benny Southstreet, Sam Thomas as Rusty Charlie, Gene Tice as Big Jule, and Elizabeth Ruck as The Doll.

Trying to keep tabs on this motley crew is Jim Little as Lt. Brannigan, who never gives up trying to locate the crap games, but finds he's fighting an infallible grapevine alert system.

The members of the Salvation Army Mission have their hands full trying to lead all these characters from the wicked ways of sin. Along with Sarah, there is Arvide, her dotting grandfather (Tom Hutson), Calvin (Scott Ryneason), Martha (Sue Keriakades) and Agatha (Pat Kinney).

General Matilda B. Cartwright, the domineering head of the mission, and in charge of this hopeless cause will be played by Sharon Binfield. The general can see a little sin in everybody.

Win, Lose
But when Sky rolls the hoods for one thousand dollars each if he loses, or they all go to the mission and put up a good impression for Miss Sarah if he wins, General Cartwright has more sin than in her wild-west dreams.

Taking the parts of the assorted Damon Runyan hoods

Featured dancers at the Hot Box Night Club, who entertain nightly with Adelaide, the star, will be Barbara Schuman, Kitty Sue Troxel, Janie Thompson, and Terry David.

Guys and Dolls has the fine songs of Frank Loesser: "Luck Be a Lady," "If I Were a Bell," "I've Never Been in Love Before," "Sit Down, You're Rocking the Boat," "A Bushel and a Peck," "Fuge for Tinorns," and, naturally, the title song, "Guys and Dolls," plus some exciting dance numbers and a sizzling strip number — "Take Back Your Mink."

The entire show will be designed and directed by James Baker, with musical direction by Joyce Johnson and choreography by Judy Grazi

Ahmad Jamal's Jazz Comes to Nebraska

Ahmad Jamal will appear at the Student Union auditorium, Thursday, Febr. 8, at two performances at 7 and 9. Tickets are $1.50 apiece.

The program will be sponsored by the Union special events committee.

Jamal, a serious convert to Mohammedanism, appeared in a joint jam session with Art Tatum at the age of fourteen. He became a featured pianist at the age of eighteen when he played with George Hudson's band at the Club Harlem in Atlantic City.

He toured the country with the Hudson band in 1948, when his fine solo work became recognized by the nation's top music critics.

In 1951 he formed his own group, The Three Strings. With the unusual instrumentation of his group — piano, bass violin and guitar, his talent ripened and the result was a sparkling, delicate, modern jazz.

1952 was a big year for Ahmad Jamal. He was featured at the Blue Note in Chicago and the Embers in New York, where he once walked off the stage because of excessive conversation from the audience. In that same year he received an invitation to participate in Carnegie Hall concert honoring Duke Ellington. Ellington hailed him as "one of the truly bright stars in the world of jazz."

He has recorded such successful albums as "Ahmad Jamal," "But Not for Me," "Chamber Music of the New Jazz" and "Count 'Em." In 1960 he broke all standing records at the Blackhawk in San Francisco and the Blue Note in Chicago.

Ahmad Jamal has been able to cross the bridge between good popular music and excellent jazz via the path of understanding and sincerity. He believes that a solid foundation of musical knowledge can uphold good popular music as well as good jazz.

All Students Must Pick Up Fee Cards

All University students who have pre-registered are once again reminded by Student Council committee members that they must pick up their appointment cards for paying fees on Wednesday, Thursday or Friday of this week.

According to the system established, a student may choose any half hour period to pay his fees on either Jan. 29, 30 or 31. However, there will be only a specified number of appointment cards available for each half hour period. Students should have several appointment times in mind when he comes to pick up his card in case there are no more cards available for his first preference time.

Council members will be on duty in the art gallery lounge of the Student Union between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. including the noon hour.

Four Faculty Members, One Student Nominated For Outstanding Award

By Jim Steinman

Letters have been received by the Daily Nebraskan nominating Jeanne Garner, Dean J. P. Colbert, Captain Charles J. Svoboda and Dr. Charles H. Patterson for "Outstanding Nebraskan."

The four faculty members who have been nominated are Dean Colbert, Captain Svoboda, Dr. Patterson, and Dr. Charles W. Colman, chairman of the Department of Romance Languages.

Five students who have been nominated are Pat Clare, Steve Gage, Jeanne Garner, John Schroeder, and Dick Shugrue.

One student and one faculty member will be chosen by the Nebraskan staff as 1962's "Outstanding Nebraskan." The staff's decision will be announced this Friday, at which time the student and faculty member chosen will be honored at a luncheon.

The letter nominating Dr. Charles Patterson stated the following:

Dr. Patterson
"From 1921, to the present, a total of 40 years, Dr. Patterson has served his University and his state as both an illuminating educator as professor of Philosophy, and as an active participant in civic affairs on both the local and national levels.

"Having received his Bachelor of Arts at Washington Missionary College in 1917, he received his M. A. and Ph. D. at the University of Nebraska where he has remained and advanced to full professorship in 1946.

"As a member of Westminster Presbyterian Church, he has probably one of the most outstanding records of anyone in the congregation. Continually, on the Board of Elders, he rarely, if ever, has missed a Sunday through the years. Because of his education in religious philosophy and his talent and popularity at public speaking, many have been the times when Dr. Patterson has conducted the service, given the sermon, or presided at a funeral in Westminster.

His excellence in his field and his ability as a speaker have made him a favorite at the University and the surrounding Lincoln area. Throughout the years he has spoken at innumerable dedications, convocations, banquets and meetings of various clubs and groups.

Popularity

His popularity took him to Boston University as a visiting professor in the summer of 1935, to the Iliiff School of Theology in the summer of 1952, and finally to the University of Southern California in the summer of 1957. It can also be noted that Dr. Patterson was chairman of the Iliiff School of Theology from 1943 to 1945, and acting chairman from 1950 to 1951.

Perhaps the most profound accomplishments of this individual, however, are a result of his powerful literary skill. I feel that the following list of his books and articles need no further explanation.

"Problems in Logic," MacMillan Co., 1926; Principles of Correct Thinking, Longman, Green & Co., 1936; Moral Standards, Ronald Press Co., 1949; The Philosophy of the Old Testament, Ronald Press Co., 1953; Moral Standards, (2nd edition) Ronald Press Co., 1957.

"A list of the civic organizations to which this person belongs will give one an idea of the sweep and magnitude of his intellect: American Philosophical Society; National Association of Biblical Instructors; Interprofessional Club; The Open Forum; Board of Directors of Local YMCA; National Council of YMCAs; Westminster Presbyterian Church; Mountain Plains Philosophical Association; (Member of the Executive Council, 1951); (Chairman of the Executive Council

"A teacher's greatest attribute can be found in his reputation among his students. His kindly consideration, counseling, and individual assistance is willingly given to any student who might come to his office. In the eyes of the people enrolled here, it is traits like these that warrant Dr. Patterson the most coveted honor a professor can receive from his students — namely, a pupil's simple statement of 'He's a Great Guy!'"

Captain Svoboda

Captain Svoboda's nominating letter included the following:

"In the three years that Captain Svoboda has been with this University he has founded and organized the

Nominations to Close

Nominations for the faculty and student "Outstanding Nebraskan" awards will close at 5 p.m. today. Any nominations received after that time will not be considered by the selection committee. Nominating letters should be sent to the editor or brought to the Daily Nebraskan office, 51 Student Union.

nationally recognized girls drill team known as The Cadence Countesses. Many long and tedious non-class hours were devoted by Captain Svoboda in teaching the girls the fundamentals of precision drill and organizing them into the fine unit they now are. Due to his efforts this group is a recognized organization on campus with thirty girls representing most of the activities of the University.

"He is also responsible for the re-building of Company A-2 Pershing Rifles on this campus. The company under his personal guidance and supervision has grown in three years from an organization of less than thirty to nearly one hundred members. Due to the world situation Company A-2 found itself without military transportation for the two out-state drill meets it normally attends; but thanks to Captain Svoboda's advice and assistance, money was raised by the company to the tune of $1,700 to finance the trips.

"In order to gain an opportunity for military training for members of Company A-2 he formed the Military Police Platoon which now assists the Campus Police and the Lincoln City Police in controlling traffic at athletic events. This platoon numbers forty cadets and has received commendations from many sources for the professional way in which it performs. It has only one counterpart in College ROTC.

"To Captain Svoboda belongs the privilege of commanding the army leadership school for some 55 junior cadets. Under his supervision these cadets are trained to become the fine officers and gentlemen that our armed forces require.

Foamy, Gleam at Union Desk Fill Bristly Brushers' Needs

The New Year has brought changes to the Student Union which include a communter lunch room and a drug service counter at the main desk. According to Union assistant director Bob Barnes, the two services were inaugurated at the request of the students to better serve them.

The communter Luncheon Lounge is located in what was the north party room in the northeast corner of the Union basement. The capacity of the lunch room is approximately 50. The hours set for the room are from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. daily. A television set has been moved into the room for the convenience of the lunchers. The room may still be en-

"Captain Svoboda is the type of man who always has time to discuss a problem. Due to this attitude many fine young men on the campus have found the solution to personal as well as academic difficulties.

"In the truest sense of the word Captain Svoboda exemplifies an officer and a gentleman. We strongly believe that this man is the best example of the Nebraska school spirit and should be designated "Outstanding Nebraskan."

Dean Colbert
The letter nominating Dean Colbert read as follows:

"Dean Colbert came to the University in 1925 as a member of the engineering faculty. He became director of the veterans affairs in 1944 and has been in charge of problems involving students and the Selective Service. In 1953 he was named the first dean of the Division of Student Affairs.

"Prior to coming to the University, he was employed by the Nebraska State Department of Public Works for four years.

"Dean Colbert's service and devotion to the University and his discretion concerning the handling of student situations shows a sincere interest in the students' ability to make decisions in the best interest in his college community.

"An impressive list of organizations and affiliations help to endorse the capabilities and service interest of this man. They include: American Society for Engineering Education; Lincoln Engineers Club; Nebraska Engineering Society; Lincoln Chamber of Commerce; Tau Beta Pi (engineering); Sigma Tau (engineering); Pi Kappa Alpha (social); American Legion; Nebraska State Historical Society; Westminster Presbyterian Church."

Jeanne Garner

The letter nominating Jeanne Garner read as follows:

"An exceptionally poised girl, Jeanne has served as a leader and as an example for women students on this campus as president of Associated Women Students (AWS).

"Last year she was mistress of ceremonies for the AWS Coed Follies show. She was also a member of the 1961 Ivy Day court. She has been a finalist for Cornhusker Beauty Queen and for the 1961 Honorary Commandant title and as a sophomore was named the best dressed Nebraskan Coed.

Jeanne is also past pledge trainer and present vice president of Delta Gamma. She has shown a keen interest in her activities but has also displayed true leadership by encouraging other individuals with whom she works and helping them develop their potentials.

The Aquaquettes group picture will be retaken for the Cornhusker at 6:30 p.m. today at the Coliseum.

Roos—Student Poll Reveals Campus Highly Republican

By Sue Hovik

A total of 1,452 students voted in the recent political poll taken by the Survey committee of Young Republicans.

Larry Roos, chairman of the committee, said that the purpose of the poll was to determine the political attitudes of students at the University.

The following four questions were used during the poll:

- 1) What is your party preference?
- 2) Whom do you want to be governor of Nebraska in 1962?
- 3) Whom do you want to be president of the United States in 1964?
- 4) What do you think will be the major political issue in the 1964 presidential race.

Of those who voted, 942 students, or 64.8 per cent of the total number of votes cast on party preference were in favor of the Republican party. The Democrat party rated 419, or 28.8 per cent of the votes. Ninety-one or 6.4 per cent of the students had no party preference.

Kennedy Ahead
In the presidential race, 1,281 students voted. President Kennedy led with 566 votes or 39.1 per cent of the total. The next four largest number of votes were received by Berry Goldwater, 264 votes for 18.2 per cent; Richard Nixon, 245 votes for 16.9 per cent; Nelson Rockefeller, 115 votes for 8 per cent; and John Cabot Lodge, 70 votes for 4.8 per cent.

Adlai Stevenson received 9 votes for 0.6 per cent and Lyndon Johnson received 5 votes for .3 per cent. Other politicians receiving mention by students were George Romney, Stuart Symington, Gov. Goodwin McKnight, Fred Seaton, and Sen. Harry Byrd.

A total of 1,294 votes were cast on the question of whom the students want to be the next governor of Nebraska. Fred Seaton led the race with a total of 815 votes for 56.1 per cent. The next high receiver of votes was Gov. Morrison with 366 votes for 25.2 per cent of the total.

Terry Carpenter received 20 votes for 1.5 per cent; Vic Anderson, 19 votes for 1.5 per cent; John Cooper, 17 votes for 1.3 per cent; Mrs. Ralph Brooks, 13 votes for 1.2 per cent; Del Linman, 10 votes for .7 per cent and Charlie Thone, 10 votes for .7 per cent. Numerous other political figures were mentioned.

Top Topic
International relations is going to be the big issue in the opinions of Nebraska student. This topic is followed by civil rights, welfare, and taxes.

Roos said that the statistics of the poll show that the campus is strongly Republican. He also noticed that the voter does not vote by party preference when voting for his candidate. There was very little straight party voting, he said.

President Kennedy's popularity on campus has gone up said Roos. In 1960, the students voted overwhelmingly for the Nixon-Lodge ticket. He added that Kennedy had a clear majority of votes, but his total was less than the total of the four leading Republican candidates.

Goldwater was the strongest Republican candidate with a slight edge over Nixon. Roos said that there is a definite conservative element on campus. "Nixon is still very strong and Rockefeller and Lodge were strong minor candidates," he added.

Roos said that "George Romney was the surprise." He was mentioned as a candidate for president. Presently he is the president of American Motors and is seriously considering running for governor of Michigan as a Republican candidate.

"The campus seems to be ready for a Republican governor," said Roos. "Seaton ran ahead of his competition. Gov. Morrison was second, but far behind."

"The question about the major issue in the 1964 presidential race was very ambiguous. It was intended to find the student's opinion on national politics. International relations, the Communist threat, and world war were by far the most important," said Roos.

Concerning the actual votes cast, many voters could not determine their political preferences. Roos said that quite a few of these did not feel qualified to vote. Many people also did not have any idea for governor of Nebraska in 1962 and for the president in 1964, he added.

The total number of students voting in this poll (1,452) compared to 1,190 who voted in the mock general election held on campus in Nov. 1960. In that election Nixon received 60 per cent of the votes for president and Kennedy received the rest. In the governor's race, Morrison received 58.5 per cent of the votes and Cooper received 41.5 per cent.

Roos claimed the poll a success since it definitely showed the political attitudes and changes on campus.
