Darrell Randall Speaks to SANE

"Disarmament and East-West Tensions" will be the subject of a talk Thursday, by Dr. Darrell Randall of the American University at a meeting of the University committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy. The public is invited to the 2 p.m. convocation in 334 Student Union.

Dr. Randall, an associate professor in the School of International Service at the Washington, D. C. University, formerly served as associate executive director of the department of international affairs of the National Council of Churches.

He is in Lincoln to deliver the Religion in Life Week lectures at Nebraska Wesleyan University Feb. 6, 7 and 8 on the subject of "Man's Faith and Factors for Survival."

A native Nebraskan, Dr. Randall received his bachelor's degree from Nebraska Wesleyan, masters degrees in economics from the University of Nebraska and in international administration from Columbia University and a doctor of philosophy degree in international development planning from the University of Chicago.

Most recently he attended a conference on disarmament and east-west tensions in London and further conferences in Berlin and Bonn, Germany, regarding the current Berlin crisis.

Drop, Add Policy Stays Unchanged

The policy for handling drops and adds is the same as last semester: they are being processed in the Men's Physical Education building through Wednesday.

Starting 1 p.m. Thursday, all adds and drops will be processed in the Registrar's office in the Administration building.

... Forum

(Continued from p. 2) Athletic Department that the primary goal of athletics—at the high school and college level, particularly—is to build character, moral fiber, co-operative spirit, loyalty, trustworthiness, etc. As an educator I am convinced—and it is shown by research—that these traits are best implanted in others through example. If this be the case, is it justifiable that successful football coaches break two, three and four year contracts in order to take a position which offers more financial benefits. It is important to remember two things. If Wyoming had wished to fire Mr. DeVaney, it would have been necessary to "buy up" the remainder of his contract. Secondly, if a public school teacher in Nebraska were to "jump contract" in order to take a higher paying job, this action would be considered as justifiable grounds for revoking his credential.

Further, for a public school system to approach an individual with a job offer when that individual is serving under contract to another system is considered unethical. Perhaps football and other related college sports would be put in their proper perspective if we adhered more rigidly to those principles which we so loudly proclaim.
