'Skitoo' Foibles Revealed

Slides, Backdrops Cause Harassment

By WENDY ROGERS

"Watchdog Hopeful reporting for duty, sir. I'm on special assignment to insure the success of '62 Skit-oo."

"Sure hope everything goes smoothly tonight. The strangest things have been happening in Pershing lately."

"Y'know sir, I've seen some of the bestest skit sets down there, but rehearsals have really been something!"

"Just moving props and backdrops into the auditorium gave me grey hairs. Someone in the Delta Gamma house noticed at the last minute that part of their backdrop wasn't painted. They were still painting it 10 minutes before time to move in."

"So guess whose backdrop was carried to Pershing wet? When I saw garbage can after garbage can moving in to Pershing, I decided to investigate in a hurry. Yeeeks! It seems it's part of the Chi Omega skit's wierd prop collection."

"Then there was the slide problem — NO WHERE IN LINCOLN could the Gamma Phi Beta prop crew find a kiddie slide. But I almost died of fright—they were getting ready to tear apart some little girl's backyard gym set."

"Then those Kappa Kappa Gammas — just couldn't find a speaker's podium for their "Pleasantly Bombed" skit. Now who ever heard of inverting one belonging to the Student Union, so the seal on it read UN instead of NU?"

"Well, sir, I earned my pay that first night of rehearsal. Something about ice under the stage — left over from the Ice Capades — that temperature was about 40 below."

"I heard Sandy Heffelfinger, the director hired by the Associated Women Students Board to polish up the skits, remark that 'If there's one thing I'll remember about Pershing, it will be the sub-zero temperatures. I'm freezing!'"

"Those AWS people were really talented. I spotted stage manager Jane Tenhulzen pulling the curtain for the skits — all those paid stage hands, and none of them in sight!"

"Poor Herbie Nore (as Coed Follies chairman, she'll emcee the show tonight)! She got snowbound in Minnesota on a debate trip, and almost missed the first rehearsal."

"The Alpha Phis had problems plus with their backdrop. Our backdrop looks like a postage stamp when we put it up. I overheard Cory Cabella, skitmaster, complain."

"Well sir, that's what's happened so far. Who knows what'll happen tonight?"

WAA Will Host Regional Meet

The Womens Athletic Association (WAA) will be the hostess organization for the Athletic and Recreation Federation of Collegiate Women Convention March 15-17 at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

It is estimated that approximately 125-150 students and advisors will attend the North-Central Regional meet here.

Orientation For PTP Scheduled

A coffee Sunday at 3 p.m. in 234-235 Student Union will serve as the first campus-wide introduction to the PTP concept.

All students, both international and American, who have signed up for the PTP program or who are interested in it are asked to attend.

In the membership drive this week, over 250 American and international students signed up for the program with hundreds of others showing interest.

Nebraska International Association advisor Carleton Davis will discuss the benefits of PTP to both American and international students.

After explanations of specific phases of PTP by committee chairman, American and international students will have an opportunity to sign up for the committees of their choice. The chairmen and their committees are: Jan Jeffery, brother-sister program; Kirk Bradford, housing; Herb Probasco, publicity; Bev Higgins, book project; Janet Irwin, job placement; and Helen Schmierer, tours and orientation.

The decision of the Tribunal will be made public Monday.

In another instance, Dean of Student Affairs J. P. Colbert announced that the office of a University instructor had been broken into in the last two days of final examinations.

No details were released on the action that was being taken on the break in.

Floor Plans Approved For New Dormitory; Mock-Up Rooms Built

By KAREN GUNLICKS

Floor plans for the new Twin Tower Dorm have been decided upon, according to Verner Myers, director of the division of planning and construction.

The rooms will be arranged like the room pictured except that the closet doors will be at the extreme ends of each closet and a heating and cooling unit will be installed along the outside closet wall.

Three plans had been suggested for the rooms, but after mock-up rooms were built, we could plainly see that the one chosen was the best, said Myers. The mock-up rooms are still on display in Nebraska Hall.

The reason for building the mock-up rooms was so the plans could be correctly and practically interpreted which is often hard to do on paper continued Myers. Further study on the mock-up rooms is planned to determine correct lighting, coloring, drawer and shelf space, he said.

Mock rooms will help illuminate the possibility of making mistakes, he commented. If we make one mistake on one side of a room, two mistakes in a room have been made because both sides are identical, which would make 960 mistakes altogether, he added. We hope we can avoid mistakes by using the mock-rooms, he said.

Myers feels the advantages of the room chosen are:

- 1) Each student has an equal area with equal facilities
- 2) The students are farther apart from each other when studying
- 3) It will be easier for one student to study and the other to sleep because of the distance of the desks from the beds.

The rooms will have tack boards above the desks, a mirror and a medicine cabinet, built-in desks and bed lights.

The four end rooms on each floor will be approximately the same as the other rooms except that the beds will be closer together because of a different door arrangement.

Officials hope that the building will be ready by the fall of 1963. It will house 960 persons and feed 1,400. Bids will begin March 15.

TOWER ROOM PLAN

The new Twin Tower Dormitory rooms will follow the floor plan sketched above except that the closet doors will be at the extreme ends of each closet and a heating and cooling unit will be installed along the outside closet wall.

Symphony Tradition Shattered; Sousaphone Player Is Female

May Queen Contest

Applications for May Queen must be filed at 207 Administration by 5 p.m. today. Any senior woman (except Mortar Boards) who has an accumulative average of 5.5 or above and who is carrying 12 hours or more is eligible. ways a good one. However, the gender of these creatures seemed eternally limited by law or nature to one—the male. Now, the University Symphonic Band has a girl sousaphone player. Ruth Diedrichsen, 18, a freshman from Scribner, is the proud player of this instrument.

The sousaphone was an unusual choice for Ruth, as no one else in her family plays it. The members of her family do play other instruments. Her father plays the violin and piccolo; her mother, clarinet; brother Fred, trombone; sister Ann, French horn; sister Beth, clarinet; and brother John, trombone. Brother Peter, plays nothing yet but informs Ruth he, too will play the sousaphone.

At age nine, Ruth decided the sousaphone was her instrument after seeing the movie "The Stars and Stripes Forever," which told of the life of the inventor of the Sousaphone — John Philip Sousa.

Advanced Degrees

All students who expect to receive bachelors or advanced degrees on teaching certificates at the close of this semester should get applications by Thursday if they have not yet done so. Make application at the Registrar's Office, Room 208, Administration Building, between the hours of 3:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, or 8:30 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

NU Starts Exchange Program

The University announced this week that it is now accepting applicants for a student exchange program with El Colegio de Mexico under terms of agreement approved earlier by the Board of Regents.

This is the first arrangement of its kind with a Mexican institution of higher learning, said Dr. Stanley R. Ross, professor of history and chairman of the selection committee.

Under this plan, a small group of University of Nebraska students will live with Mexican families and attend El Colegio de Mexico, an institution in Mexico City with one of the best academic reputations in that country, for one year.

American students will have an opportunity to take course work in Spanish, literature, history, economics and international relations.

Full Credit Mexican students will attend the University and take a similar course. Full credit will be given for the work taken at both colleges.

Dr. Ross explained that the students must finance their transportation and that costs for attending the Mexican college would be approximately the same as at the University.

The students, to be selected primarily from the college of Arts and Sciences, must be enrolled as a second-semester sophomore or a first-semester junior. They must be doing better than average work and have a good knowledge of the Spanish language for class instruction will be in Spanish.

Deadline for application is April 1, 1962. The first group will leave in June.

Home Ec Majors Get Scholarships

Three home economics majors at the Ag College received $100 scholarships for their work in summer camps last year.

The girls are Bonnie Wahl, Karen Edeal, and Joyce Baumann.

The scholarships, made possible by the Sperry-Hutchinson Co., were awarded at the University 4-H club meeting last night.

The group also voted to select Frisby Scholarship winners from the freshmen members.

Plans were made for 4-H Week which will be observed March 3-10.
