

Three Husker Teams on Road This Weekend

Diamond Crew Play At Oklahoma Today

Cornhusker conference baseball hopes will be given a road test today in a double header at Norman, Okla.

And Tony Sharpe's boys are billed for a single game Saturday to round out the Oklahoma series.

Ron Havekost and Ed Johnson are slated for starting mound chores today with Keith Sieck billed for the starting position in the nine-inning Saturday contest.

The Huskers are seeking their first loop win this season. The Nebraska club kicked off the 1962 campaign with a sweep at Tulsa, but failed in its home debut last weekend, dropping three to Kansas.

Coach Sharpe is having a little trouble with the short-stop spot after Rex Swett dropped from the squad with shoulder trouble. He will either use pitcher Ernie Bonstall or sophomore Ron Douglas at short.

The Huskers will employ a platoon batting system at Norman. Against left-handed pitchers Coach Sharpe will start with Dale Anderson (.300); 3b; Don Schindel (.348), cf; Steve Smith (.391), lf; Dick Becher (.350), 1b; Don Purcell (.125), c; Tom Ernst (.308), rf or Pat Salerno (.000); Ron Douglas (.500) ss; Bill Redmond (.167) 2b.

Against righties Sharpe will start Dave McClatchey (.125), cf; Schindel, rf; Smith, lf; Becher, 1b; Purcell, c; Anderson, 3b; Douglas, ss; Redmond, 2b.

NU Golfers Dual Drake

The Husker golf team, one and one for the year, will meet Drake this afternoon at the Lincoln Country Club.

"We're still trying to find our five best boys," said Coach Good.

"We have to have all our scores in the 70's in order to make a showing against the Big Eight teams," said Good. "We only have three men shooting below 80 while several other Big Eight players are shooting par 72's."

"This is mostly due," thought Good, "to practice. All other conference schools south of us can practice every afternoon, while many Huskers have afternoon classes three days a week."

K-State Golfers Defeat Huskers

Kansas State's Larry Lewman hit a four under par 68 for the medalist title in a K-State, Husker dual in Lincoln Tuesday. The Wildcats handed Nebraska its initial loss of the season, 8½ to 6½.

Results:
Larry Lewman (KS) 68 beat Bud Wilhamson, Jr. (N) 72, 3-0; Bill Hemmer (N) 72 beat Gary Kershner (KS) 78, 3-0; Cal Carlson (KS) 72 beat Bill Gunlicks (N) 81, 3-0; Jerry Shaw (KS) 82 beat Stan Schrage (N) 85, 2-1; Cecil Heitbrink (N) 85 beat Hal Taylor (KS) 86, 2-1-1/2.

EX-HUSKERS NOW CARDINALS

CRIB TIME—Pat Fischer and Ron McDole, former Nebraska footballers who performed last fall for the St. Louis Cardinals in the pro football league, take time out from classes for a coke.

Fischer, McDole Back on Campus; 2 Cards Aim for 5-Year Careers

By AL HANEY Sports Staff Writer

A five-year stay in professional football is the goal of both Pat Fischer and Roland McDole, after their initial year in the pro ranks.

The two former Nebraska standouts have returned to the Husker stomping grounds for some graduate work during their "off" season.

"Five years is the goal," commented McDole, "that is if we can stay that long. The turnover up there (St. Louis Cardinals) is pretty large."

McDole, a 6-3, 270 pounder, served as end for the Huskers one year and was switched to tackle for two seasons. He saw action in the Blue-Gray game in '60 and then was drafted by the Cards where he served as both an offensive and as well as defensive lineman.

Fischer has seen action as both offensive and defensive halfback for the Cards. The 5-7, 170 pounder racked up quite a list of achievements his senior year.

He picked up the Tom Novak trophy, was voted the most valuable player in the Alumni game, and played in the annual North-South battle in 1960.

Both Fischer and McDole agree that there is no comparison between professional and college football. Practice sessions in pro-ball are just good exercise. Everyone is physically the same and everyone is just as good as the next guys.

They expressed that the big difference between college ball and professional ball is that in pro ball you don't have to play the whole game, it's all specialized.

The guy across from you is a specialist at that position too, and games are won by the one who makes less mistakes, not who is bigger or faster because everyone is almost the same. This is the reason that some All-Americans don't make it in pro ball, because they are good all around but they can't specialize in any one thing and be outstanding, the two ex-Huskers added.

"When it comes to picking the best man I've played

Netters Trip To K-State

Coach Ed Higginbotham's tennis team, with a 1-0 record, will travel to Manhattan, Kan. tomorrow for a meet with the Kansas State Wildcats.

The Husker netters initiated this year's season by shutting out Creighton at Lincoln, 9-0, Wednesday.

Coach Higginbotham's sophomore studded squad will probably consist of Dick Gibson, Dave Wohlfarth, and Jim Fowler in the one, two, and three spots respectively. Also expected to make the trip are either Rich Harley, Dick Woods, Russ Daub or Jack Lausterer to fill the four and five positions.

Tom Johnson who has been playing in the number four spot for Nebraska is still in Student Health and will not make the Kansas trip.

Kansas State's team will also be sophomore laden with returning captain Pat Finney playing number one.

Coach Higginbotham reserved comment concerning the team until after the Kansas State meet. Nebraska will meet Wichita during spring vacation on the NU courts in its next meet.

Thinclads in Colorado For First Triangular

Nebraska will invade the Air Force Academy Saturday for their first triangular meet of the outdoor season against the Air Force and Colorado.

The thinclads, boasting their strongest team in recent years, will be gunning for a decisive victory. Nebraska has a well balanced team but appears particularly talented in the hurdles, sprints and distance.

Big things are expected from woodchoppers Fred Wilke, Ron Moore, LeRoy Keane, and Bill Fasano. They teamed up last week in the Texas Relays to tie the record in the shuttle hurdle event.

The sprinters, led by Ray Knaub and backed up by Don Degnan and Steve Pfister, should pile up points for NU. Knaub turned a :09.6 in the 100-yard dash in the Texas Relays.

The mile promises to be another top attraction as Mike Flemming will make the big try to break the four minute barrier in this event. Ray Stevens will also be in contention and, according to Husker coach Frank Sevigne, he could be under 4:10 easily.

DEVANEY—Plans scrimmage again tomorrow.

Grid Team Reviews Today; Donovan in Student Health

No new plays are planned for today's spring football session — it will be all review in preparation for the 2 p.m. Saturday scrimmage.

Tomorrow's scrimmage will be similar to the affair last weekend. "We'll probably put up some yard markers, though, to give the guys an idea as to just how far ten yards is," reported assistant coach Mike Corgan.

There will be no punting and the coaches will be making various stops in the scrimmage to tell the players what is being done right . . . or wrong.

Larry Donovan, senior end from Scottsbluff, is under observation in Student Health. He checked in Wednesday and was believed to have an attack of appendicitis. He definitely doesn't have an appendicitis, reported trainer George Sullivan, but his trouble is unknown yet.

Sullivan said that he expected Dennis Stuewe, senior halfback who has been sidelined with pulled leg muscles since the initial workout, back in action early next week.

Russell Seventh In FG Percentage

Husker cager Tom Russell finished seventh in the nation in field goal percentages, according to the NCAA basketball statistics bureau.

Russell, who broke several records in his two year career at Nebraska, hit 136 of 243 field goal attempts for a 56 percent.

Jerry Lucas of Ohio State was the nation's leader with 236 baskets on 388 attempts for a 61% mark.
