Williamson Red Hot On Golf Trip South

By JIM MORGAN Sports Staff Writer

The Husker's number one linksman, Ralph (Bud) Williamson is the recipient of the Daily Nebraskan's Star of the Week award.

Williamson receives the award for his fine showing on the golfers' southern trip last week. He averaged 71 in three outings.

Williamson, a business administration senior, fired a 73 for his first round of the trip against Oklahoma State. Although this was his highest score of the trip he considers it his best played round. Bud had some tremendous drives but was plagued by a bad afternoon on the greens. On a 430-yd hole on the Stillwater course he really cut loose and was on the green in one.

On the next time out, against Missouri, he shot a 71 and to round out the trip he smashed a 69 out against Oklahoma University. This netted him the medalist honors for this meet. He also tied for medalist honors Tuesday with a 76 at home against Washburn University.

The 6-1, 195-pound senior hails from Lincoln where he graduated from Lincoln High. He was the Nebraska state high school champion in 1957. His freshman year he traveled to Houston on a scholarship. When he came to Nebraska he had to lay out a year so he still has a year of eligibility left even though he is a senior.

Williamson looks for a big improvement for Nebraska over last years showing in the Big Eight tournament. Nebraska finished eighth last year and although they don't have an exceptionally strong team this year they should be able to place around fifth, Bud figures.

Williamson hits the road with the rest of Coach Harry Good's linksters for a quadrangular meeting with Kansas, Kansas State, and Wichita at Lawrence Friday and with the same three teams at Manhattan Saturday.

NEBRASKAN SPORTS

The Old Pro

Minor Sports Strong

The minor sports and track are about all that the Husker campus has to shout about these days. The golf team and the tennis team are performing well above what was expected this year. The track team could possibly win the first Big Eight title Nebraska has held for ten years; the gymnasts have finished a successful season, and the tankers are being encouraged by funds being set up for their benefit so it appears they'll show continued improvement in their standings.

The only disappointment this year has been last season's football team, basketball, and, currently, baseball. Amidst the jibes thrown my way for selection of the Huskers as pennant winners, there is also a sense of disappointment. Baseball is a funny game, you get away to a good start and you're tougher than a tiger getting his tail twisted; lose a couple and you just can't seem to win again.

The Husker pitching has particularly been disappointing. The only bright spot is the untried hurlers who have been doing very well. The hitting, with the exception of Steve Smith and Dick Becher, has also fallen down. The only bright spots for the diamond crew have been the Tulsa and Oklahoma series and since then it has been a downhill push.

Now that the pennant is out of reach, it may be that the team can now forget the past and win again. I'm sure the fans are still pulling for the wins, lets hope that we don't have a further letdown and that we can pull into a respectable position in the Big Eight race.

Frank Sevigne and Ike Hanson should get a big hand for the job the Husker tracksters have done. Ike and Frank both put in long hours of recruiting and work that seemingly had gone by unnoticed. The little things count and they've been right there with the most energy all of the time.

Together, they also have the big responsibility of running off the state track meet, trying to get the N.C.A.A. and A.A.U. to hold their national meets here, and last but not least, striving to build a better track both indoors and outdoors.

Also, a big hand should go out to the Omaha group who are trying to organize more scholarships and money for Husker swimming. With people throughout the state working for the betterment of Husker athletics, Nebraska could once more attain the lofty position it once held in the twenties and thirties.

Football will once more achieve its greatness here, particularly with the present coaching staff we have. The only thing that might mar the picture is the buddy-buddy stuff on the team itself. As long as competition is great and rivalry is primary, this won't happen; but watch out for outstanding players trying to call plays in the huddle.

Hope is strong and the past is behind us. Somewhere a bright sun is shining. In the future a star shall rise; a star with the indelible word "Cornhusker" on it.

Hair Let Down; Gridmen Battle

Things went quietly during the first half of Wednesday's football practice. Carrying out mentor Devaney's wish, emphasis was put on putting polish on the team.

There were numerous passing drills; and also work on the necessary opposite—pass defense.

Linemen worked on their assignments and participated in various kinds of blocking drills.

Backs drilled and drilled, as more perfect timing was expected because no new plays have been introduced.

Then, all of the stops were pulled, hair was let down, frivolities dismissed, battle lines drawn and two hard hitting scrimmages resulted.

If coach Davaney is after hard hitting football, he had his wish on Wednesday. With very little passing, there was emphasis on short yardage situations which proved to be rugged.

The squad gets Thursday off, with a practice scheduled on Friday and a scrimmage on Saturday, to complete the next to last (ask any player, he'll tell you) week of spring drills.

Spring practice will culminate in an intra-squad scrimmage on Saturday, May 12, All Sports Day.

Only three Huskers missed Wednesday's action. Bill Thornton took a pass because of a case of flu, guard Ed Mitchell has a pulled muscle and Robert Brown is sick.

WILL WE DEVELOP THE NEUTRON

BOMB

Scientists have conceived the deadliest weapon yet — the neutron bomb. Its rays would destroy life — yet leave property untouched. Science writer William Lawrence says it's impracticable, costly and may never be built. Yet U.S. Sen. Dodd says: "It can be built." Get all the facts about the N-bomb in this week's Saturday Evening Post.
