

Three Faculty, Two Students Nominated as Outstanding

Miss Mary Jean Mulvaney, assistant professor of physical education, has been added to the faculty category of nominees for the Outstanding Nebraskan Award.

"Miss Mulvaney is an instructor whose guidance has reached far beyond the classroom," the letter read in part.

"She has proved herself an excellent adviser to student activities and a friend of many students on the campus," it continued.

Miss Mulvaney has been the faculty adviser to the Associated Women Students, Student Union Board of Managers, Women's Athletic Association and Mortar Boards. She also has been on the Faculty Senate subcommittee.

All at Once
The letter of nomination pointed out that she has participated in all of these activities at the same time.

Miss Mulvaney, having been on the faculty for 12 years, has been active in the women's intramural athletic program.

When off the campus, she participates in PEO and the Trinity Methodist Church.

Leaves Nebraska

"Next year Miss Mulvaney, known by most friends and students as M.J., will be leaving Nebraska to head the intramural program for women at Kansas University. There is no doubt she will be greatly missed on the Nebraska campus," the letter continued.

"The respect and esteem faculty and students hold for her was shown on Ivy Day when Miss Mulvaney received a standing ovation from the May Queen, court and crowd when presented with a special plaque by the Black Masque Chapter of Mortar Boards."

Miss Mulvaney is known for her personal atmosphere in the classroom and her constant attention to the students both in and out of the classroom.

Loyalty to NU

The letter of nomination concluded, "although she will be leaving our campus, M.J.'s loyalty to NU, of which she is a graduate, cannot be mistaken.

"This summer she will chaperone the Union European tour before leaving for our neighboring state. And when she leaves, she will leave behind her 12 years of service and hundreds of friends. Miss Mary Jean Mulvaney's selfless, untiring service to the University of Nebraska certainly merit her the title of Outstanding Nebraskan."

Another recent letter of nomination for the Outstanding Nebraskans on the faculty places Dr. William E. Hall, professor of educational psychology and of history and principles of education, on the list of candidates for the award.

The letter of nomination noted Dr. Hall's concern for the welfare of his students.

Honors Convocation

"Dr. Hall was honored at the 1959 Honors Convocation as being one of two outstanding teachers on campus," the letter read in part:

"Not only has he advocated excellent teacher-student relationships as means of realizing more completely the educational potential of students, but he has exemplified such relationships in his own teaching."

"Dr. Hall's influence has been felt far beyond the confines of his classroom," it continued. "His work as the director of the Nebraska Human Resources Foundation has been widely acclaimed in his community, state, and the nation. This foundation has been actively engaged in finding ways to realize the maximum potential of our human resources through positive approach which focuses on the strengths rather than the weaknesses of people. A favorite quote of Dr. Hall's is 'the most important natural resource in the world is man, and the most significant way to develop it is through human relations.'" Dr. Hall has worked very hard at developing these human resources through NHRF, and in his classrooms.

High School Program

Through the facilities of the foundation, and in cooperation with the University, he has initiated the program of bringing outstanding high school seniors from different Nebraska communities to the campus for a day's visit. This provides the students with the opportunity of visiting classes and consulting with people representing the fields to which he is interested.

Human Side

These are the facts on Robert Forster. What can not be recorded in statistics is the human side of the man. His door is always open to the student with a problem as well as the talented student who needs special guidance. Those who have taken courses under Forster are aware of the unusual stimulation, the excitement that the man instills into the most dormant mind.

Robert Forster is an outstanding young Nebraskan on his way to the very top of the intellectual world. I respectfully submit his name for the award of the Outstanding Nebraskan among the faculty."

Suzanne (Sukey) Tinn has been nominated for the student award.

The letter of nomination stated that Sukey is noted for her help and enthusiasm which go wherever they are needed.

AWS Board

"Sukey has served on the Associated Women Student Board for three years, an honor indicative of the support given her by all women students since this is an elected position. When representing Nebraska at the national AWS convention during her junior year, Sukey was elected Intercollegiate AWS vice-president.

"During Sukey's two years as a Student Council member, she served as secretary, Student Council Associates director and director of the Big Eight Student Government Association convention. A senior holdover member, Sukey was a member of the council judiciary committee.

"Sukey was a member of the Spring Day Executive Committee during her sophomore year, and she is also a member of Phi Sigma Iota, Newman Club and People-to-People.

Sukey has worked on the Lincoln Project show for two years as a skit director. Although the work was voluntary, Sukey entered into it enthusiastically, giving of her time to help influence the lives of high schoolers.

Leadership

"During her junior year, Sukey was selected as a Nebraska Sweetheart finalist and she was also recognized for her leadership and service to the University when she was selected a junior member of the Ivy Day Court."

Sukey is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and has served as intramural chairman, social chairman and pledge trainer.

She is a secondary education major and has helped with extra curricular activities at University High School.

Distinguished Nebraskan

She was presented as the 1962 May Queen on Ivy Day. She was featured as one of the ten Distinguished Nebraskans in the 1962 Cornhusker and was selected as an Outstanding Greek at the Greek Week recognition luncheon.

"Perhaps more important than the long, impressive list of activities is Sukey's sincere love for and loyalty to people — all people. Without hesitation she smilingly offers red licorice to everyone from the Student Council members to Dr.

Faculty Committee Action Is Next Step

Panhellenic Council has voted unanimously to recommend to the faculty committee on student affairs that Alpha Delta Pi sorority be considered for colonization.

The faculty committee will meet soon to consider the possibility of colonization on the Nebraska campus by the national sorority. The recommendation by Panhellenic is in accordance with the requirements of their constitution.

In other action, Jean Carlson reported that a tea honoring new housemothers is planned for Sept. 16. Whether or not the tea will be jointly sponsored by Panhellenic and the Interfraternity Council is yet to be decided.

The suggestion was made that sororities with new housemothers, who would normally sponsor an individual tea, might pool their funds for the event.

Concerning limitation of campaign funds for the many campus elections, Linda Lueking reported that the problem of a common limit has been discussed with the house presidents. It was then suggested that Panhellenic contact other concerned organizations such as Independent Women's Association (IWA) and the results forwarded to Associated Women Students (AWS) for a general ruling.

Vicki Cullen presented the proposed changes to the Panhellenic Constitution, most of which are technical revisions. The major proposed change was:

Successes

Samples' long list of activities and interests, honors and awards, hard work and resultant successes is headed by his efforts to remedy and improve the operation of the Student Tribunal, the first such effort since the Tribunal was organized. The significance of this work in regard to the Outstanding Nebraskan award is that Samples appears nearly unique in his efforts to do something for the average student in his capacity of campus political leadership.

Samples' other activities include membership in Innocents, treasurer of Delta Tau Delta (and assistant treasurer, rush chairman and scholarship chairman), secretary of IFC, vice president of Student Council, selection for the mock UN participation, master of ceremonies for the Kosmet Klub fall show and membership in several honoraries. His scholarship success is manifested by his 8.4 overall average in Political Science major and his recent election to Phi Beta Kappa.

"We urge the selection of Jim Samples for Outstanding Nebraskan on these grounds. Seldom has a student been so sincere in his concern for the University and the individual student, and seldom in campus politics and activity has a man been held in such high respect by both pro and con activity interests. His scholastic success proves his initial interest in education."

"His attitude towards the extracurricular and its proper perspective is regarded as a shot in the arm for University by both faculty and students. His concern for the University's role in the present times of worldwide crisis exemplifies the attitude essential to our generation," the letter concluded.
