

KUON-TV Shows Land Grant Story

The University of Nebraska's television station, KUON-TV, will feature "Land-Grant International" July 4 at 8:30 p.m.

The Independence Day show climaxes a year-long observance commemorating the signing of the Morrill Land Grant Act on July 2, 1862.

KUON's 30-minute production, nestled into prime viewing time, concludes the "Freedom to Learn" series of six shows seen on National Educational Television.

The series has been designed to tell the exciting story of the 68 land-grant colleges established since Abraham Lincoln signed their birth certificate a century ago.

Traced Development
Jack G. McBride, director of KUON-TV since its inception in 1954, has been executive director of the series. W. Boyd Rooney Jr., production manager at KUON-TV, is the local producer of "Land-Grant International."

The first five shows were created by the university television unit in Michigan, Colorado, Georgia, Minnesota, and California. They have traced the development of land-grant philosophy from an idea to reality. The fifth program explored benefits of atomic energy in medicine, industry and agriculture.

KUON-TV's show has as its locale the Ankara University in Ankara and Erzurum, Turkey, typical of the land-grant concept. Faculty members from University of Nebraska have for years been helping establish education there upon land-grant concepts. They served as resource personnel and advisors in developing the videotape for this week's show.

University Graduate
Harold L. Allen, a writer-photographer at Ataturk, has been associate director and writer of the production. A native of David City, Neb., he is a graduate of the University. Bob Askey of KPOR is host and narrator.

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin was president in 1959-60 of the American Land-Grant Colleges and State Universities. He was chairman of the executive committee during 1960-61 at which time much of the centennial planning occurred.

The University was founded in 1869. The Morrill Land Grant Act, the initial federal aid to education, granted each state 30,000 acres of federal land for each senator and representative in Congress. The acreage was to be sold to provide capital funds, on the investment of which each state would pay in perpetuity 5 per cent annually to support the school.

Nebraska received 90,000 acres upon agreeing to establish a land-grant university

"where the leading object shall be, without excluding other scientific and classic studies, and including military tactics, to teach such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and the mechanic arts in such manner as the Legislature may prescribe, in order to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pursuits and professions of life."

An additional 46,080 acres were secured under the Federal University Support Act in 1864. From this humble beginning, the University of Nebraska has conferred 66,775 degrees.

KUON-TV Summer Schedule

For those who feel that they cannot understand opera, the program This Is Opera to be shown July 9 at 6:30 p.m. and July 10 at 9 p.m. on KUON-TV, channel 12, will be of special interest.

Scenes from Mozart's "Cosi Fan Tutte" which means "That's the Way They Are"—all women that is—are used to illustrate the discussion on plot in opera. Also, the opera composer will be discussed.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra presents a two-hour concert designed especially for the National Educational Television network on July 6 at 8:30 p.m.

The orchestra will play Haydn's Symphony in B-Flat Major, No. 88, Three New England Sketches by Walter Piston, and Beethoven's Symphony No. 7 in A Major, Op. 92.

A complete listing of Channel 12 programming for this week follows:

- TUESDAY, JULY 3
- 5:30 EVENING PRELUDE
- 6:30 ART AND PEACE: "War and Peace" Periods of war and peace had visual effects on the paintings of Stanley Spencer. Tonight's program demonstrates paintings inspired by his services in Macedonia during the First World War, and other works inspired by his tour of duty as an artist in the trenches during World War II.
- 7:00 PREVIEW IN FRESHMAN ENGLISH
- 7:30 MEANT FOR READING: "Mortality" Poems illustrative of attitudes toward the basic inescapable terms of life or death are read by Dr. John W. Dodds, in the first of a two-part series on this topic. These works illustrate that for some there is a grim acceptance of mortality; for others, the consideration is a frightening thing, and for still others there is a religious acceptance of mortality.
- 8:00 BALANCE OF FEAR: "The Effects of Nuclear War" Graphic illustrations clearly point out the effects of nuclear war in the second program of this extensive new series.
- 8:30 SURVIVAL IN THE SEA: "Man, the Predator" Tonight, Dr. Story guides viewers on an exciting trip with native fishermen of the Bahamas. Spears, hooks and handlines, pogie hooks, bully nets, traps and baits are clearly illustrated man's intrusion into the sea.
- 9:00 THIS IS OPERA: "Drama in Music" (See KUON-TV, Monday June 2, 6:30 for details)
- 9:30 MEET THE PROFESSOR: Impromptu visits with some of the nation's outstanding college and university professors, provide a warm, humorous introduction to these people.
- WEDNESDAY, JULY 4
- 5:30 FOURTEEN OF JULY IN NEBRASKA: Each year for the past 50 years, except during the war years, tens of thousands of Danes, Americans, and Americans of Danish birth have been attracted to the Reibel celebration held in observance of American Independence day. Reibel is a village located in the northern part of the state, west of Omaha, Denmark. Walt Disney is the featured speaker in this film of last year's celebration.
- 5:45 EVENING PRELUDE
- 6:30 JAPANESE SHUEN PAINTING: "Fish" with a few deft strokes a fish appears on the canvas—swimming or jumping out of the water—under the skilled hand of T. Mikami. Japanese composition is also illustrated tonight, using the placement of fish as an example.
- 7:00 PREVIEW IN FRESHMAN ENGLISH
- 7:30 FOUR FAMILIES: (See KUON-TV, Monday, July 2, 9:30 for details)
- 8:30 FREEDOM TO LEARN: "Land Grant International" The worldwide influence of the American land-grant institutions is seen as the cameras visit the University of Nebraska's

A scene from Cosi Fan Tutte.

- Turkish program in action. Modeled on the land-grant concept, Ankara University in Ankara and the Ataturk University at Erzurum, Turkey are striving for educational improvement. This program was produced by KUON-TV, the University of Nebraska Educational Television Station, as part of a series commemorating the centennial of the Morrill Act.
- 9:00 MEET THE ORGAN: "Music for Worship" The organ is traditionally an instrument of worship and church music of all faiths has been developed to perfection with the organ. Porter Heaps, organist-hood, explains and illustrates traditional religious organ music.
- 9:30 FACE TO FACE: "Otto Klemperer" It is though Beethoven himself was standing there? It is how one member of his orchestra described the power of his conductor. . . . Otto Klemperer, Tonight, Face to Face Provides the first public interview ever given by this outstanding man, who is still regarded as one of the world's greatest conductors, despite a stroke that partially paralyzed half of his body.
- 10:00 FOURTEEN OF JULY IN DENMARK: See description above at 5:30 time slot.
- THURSDAY, JULY 5

- 7:00 PREVIEW IN FRESHMAN ENGLISH
- 7:30 DR. POSNER'S GIANTS: "Michael Faraday" Some of the most important scientific discoveries in the world have been the product of an accidental happening, or at least, were unexpected results of an experiment. Such was the case with Michael Faraday and electricity. Tonight, Dr. Posner discusses men who have worked toward the discovery of electricity, including Benjamin Franklin and the Danish scientist H. S. Oersted, in addition to Faraday.
- 8:00 HISTORY WITH HERB HAKE: "Louisiana Territory" Tonight Professor Herb Hake, journey to the home of Jean Baptiste Valle, Spanish Commentator of Upper Louisiana in St. Genevieve, Missouri. This site has significance as illustration of the area that remained loyal to France after the cession of this area to Spain in 1803.
- 8:30 FREEDOM TO LEARN: "Land Grant International" (See KUON-TV, Wednesday, July 4, 8:30 for details)
- 9:00 THE INSECT PLAY: A satire on human behavior, thrown into a new perspective by comparative discovery in the world of various insects, gives a new light to the Greek theme of powerful co-existence. The main body of the play is the dream of a drunken tramp. He dreams of insects and lives in their world, seeing the world of humans in a new perspective.

NU Speech Drama Department Sponsors Playwriting Contest

The University of Nebraska has its own national contest. To enter the Nebraska National Playwriting Contest, a person must write a three-act play.

Dr. Joseph Baldwin, associate professor of the University of Nebraska Speech and Dramatic Arts Department, started the biennial Nebraska National Playwriting Contest in 1959.

The contest is conducted to stir up enthusiasm for new drama, Dr. Baldwin said. The experience of doing new drama benefits both the students who perform the play and the playwright who wrote it.

"I would like to show local people the possibilities of writing new three act plays," Dr. Baldwin said.

Nebraska Winner
He hopes someday a Nebraskan will be the winner of this contest.

Every second year Dr. Baldwin initiates the contest by sending brochures to universities and colleges, and by advertising the contest in the Theater Arts magazine of New York.

Approximately 15 new three-act plays are entered by students and professors in response to the brochures. Around 40 new plays are received in response to the advertisement in the Theater Arts magazine. These entrants include professional television writers and housewives.

Residents of two coastal states, New York and California, are the most frequent contributors. Twelve to fifteen scripts are received from New York, while eight to ten come from California.

These plays entered in the Nebraska National Playwriting Contest are judged by teachers of playwriting in some of the major American universities.

The winning playwright receives $300 to help pay his expenses to Lincoln. He spends a week in Lincoln, hearing his play read by University of Nebraska drama students.

If his play is produced by the Speech and Dramatic Arts Department of the University, the playwright receives the $200 Fred Ballard Memorial Award.

The Fred Ballard Memorial Award honors a native Nebraskan. Mr. Ballard graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1905 and received a Master of Arts from Harvard in 1911.

Barrymore Success

John Barrymore achieved one of his early successes in the leading role of a Fred Ballard comedy, "Believe Me, Zanetippe."

Mr. Ballard wrote many successful plays, some of which were made into movies. He enjoyed greatest success from the time of World War I into the thirties.

The winner of the 1961-62 Nebraska National Playwriting Contest is William Walden of New York. Mr. Walden is head of the varitype department of the New Yorker Magazine and a spare time poet and playwright.

His prize-winning play is "Squirk." It will be performed in the University Theatre next March.

Channing Mann To Visit Campus

Mr. Channing R. Mann, director of health, physical education and recreation for the Troy, N. Y., Public Schools will be on campus Monday, July 9, to talk to graduate classes in physical education and visit with leaders in the field. He will also address the Monday luncheon of the Department of Elementary Education.

Mann is retiring from his public school work to become Executive Secretary of the National Council of Administrators of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Summer Reading List

Topics range from fossils to Soviet space technology and from the Peloponnesian Wars to Texas millionaires in this week's reading list prepared by the Love Library staff.

An African Treasury has been labeled a "don't miss" by the library staff. This book, edited by Langston Hughes, is a vital collection of writings in which Africans interpret their own country. It is located in the Humanities Reading Room.

The following books complete this week's reading list.

- Man, Time and Fossils. Moore, Ruth. The story of now extinct, botanical crossings and mutations, theories of great scientists and exciting accounts of expeditions and discoveries are woven together into a lucid and highly enjoyable history of life on our planet.
- Soviet Space Technology. Zaehring, Alfred J. An unusual account of Soviet advancements in rocket research, including the historical background and thought, dating back even to czarist times, which underlie the seemingly rapid Russian advancement in the field.
