

Radio KNUS On the Air This Monday

KNUS, the campus radio station, will return to the air Monday, Sept. 17.

Broadcasting hours will be from six p.m. to twelve midnight Monday through Friday. This semester's program will include popular and classical music.

Saturday broadcasts of all home football games are also planned. Other special features will include a record hop after the first football rally and weekly broadcasts from the Crib in the Student Union.

Don Isherwood has announced the appointments of the following: Program Director Richard Maulsey; Commercial Manager, Gregg Hupp; and Chief Engineer, Larry Ellis.

The 'Old, New' Paraded for Girls

A Fashion Review of yesterday and today entertained University girls last night.

The show, sponsored by the Nebraska Union, A W S and a local department store, depicted various campus scenes such as migration, football games, military ball, homecoming and election.

Clothes from the Nebraska Historical Society were modeled in addition to the current fashions.

Sally Larsen, A W S representative, and Bonnie Knudson, Union representative, were chairmen of the event.

Polio Virus Isolated

Dr. Helen Rihart, University research associate in medical microbiology, has isolated the polio virus from specimens taken from a Douglas County woman, one of two cases of polio detected in Nebraskans who have had Sab-in Oral Vaccine.

New Boys Dorm Reality by 1965

TWICE THE ROOM OF A SINGLE TOWER—With a predicted enrollment (crush) of 10,000 students, the Administration is making plans for supplying the University with more housing. Pictured above is the Twin Towers dormitories now under construction and scheduled to open in Fall, 1963.

Major Problem Now Is Exact Building Location

By JIM MOORE
"A new boys dorm housing 1000 is our goal — possibly a reality by 1965," commented Mr. William C. Harper, Director of the University Housing Service.

"The need is readily apparent with the increase in this year's enrollment figures. Our basic problem is the location of such a new building," he continued.

"As of now, no definite area has been decided upon. The needs of the University and of the people who will live there must be considered. The condition of the available land is also an influencing factor," he pointed out.

Financing the new construction is the most complicated problem left to be solved. Although a $16,000,000 bond issue has been authorized, $9,500,000 worth of bonds has already been issued. These bonds have gone toward paying off previous building indebtedness and financing the Twin Towers construction.

Consent Necessary
The remaining $6,500,000 cannot be issued until the Board of Regents, the University committee of the State Legislature, and the bond agents consent to such an action. Funds for the new dorm must come from this source.

Discussing other plans for on-campus University housing, Mr. Harper pointed out that the Twin Towers project has a tight schedule to maintain if it is to be finished by fall, 1963. "Anyway you look at it, it's going to be close," he said. "It will all depend upon the weather and the number of men able to work."

During the first years of its operation the north tower will be used as a boys dorm, while the south tower will be part of the regular girls facilities.

The present boys dorm, Selleck Quadrangle, has been filled since April 1, 1962. However, due to the number of dorm contracts cancelled by men who pledged during Rush Week, a limited number of rooms are now available.

Rooms were assigned during the summer on a priority listing — those wanting the same rooms, upperclassmen who wanted room changes, and then freshmen.

A limited number of bunk space is available. As rooms are vacated during the year, those living in the bunk section will be given priority listing.

Upperclassmen in Hotel

The University also has a two-year lease on the Capital Hotel facilities, which include the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth floors. About 140 upperclassmen and counselors will live there on a strictly voluntary basis.

"Although the rooms are smaller in the hotel, all of them are carpeted and most have a private bath," commented Mr. Harper.

Bob Gritmit, Resident Advisor of the hotel, commented, "So far, the general transition has been good, and the overview looks encouraging. Of course, minor details must still be worked out."

The residents of the hotel have their choice of eating two or three meals daily at the Selleck Quad dining hall.

"In sum, about 1,000 men are housed in University housing — 800 in Selleck, 140 in the Capital Hotel, and 60 in the bunk sections of the dorm," said Mr. Harper. Continuing, he pointed out that about 850 girls are housed in the Women's Residence Halls, the 8,000 building of the boys dorm, Burr Hall and Fedde Hall.

Civil Service Exam Applications Available

Applications are now being accepted for the 1963 Federal Service Entrance Examination, according to the United States Civil Service Commission.

The examination, open to all college juniors, seniors, and graduate students, offers the opportunity to begin a career in the Federal Service in some 60 different fields.

Applicants who apply by September 27, will be scheduled for the written test to be held on October 13. Six additional tests will be scheduled throughout the year.

Additional details about the tests may be obtained by writing Gerald W. Vallery, 244 Post Office Building, Lincoln, Nebraska.

'Youth Idealism High' Declares Prof. Koehl

The idealism of American youth in 1962 is higher than it ever was before, Dr. Robert Koehl, professor of history at the University told YMCA executives and secretaries yesterday.

Speaking before the five-state assembly, Dr. Koehl said he believes that the real danger is that adults now are less willing to accept responsibility than youth.

"YMCA leaders in local communities will never be alone when they stress education for living in a world community," he said.

"American responsibility to preserve our freedom implies our participation in the imperfect world community, aimed at making it stronger in 1963 and every year thereafter."

Distant Events Affect Americans

Dr. Koehl said that Americans are more than ever becoming aware that their lives are being affected by events and decisions occurring far from the United States.

"Sometimes this awareness makes them resentful, and angry — even fearful. Often when they hear the words 'world community' they imagine a plot to take away their freedom in the name of high sounding words," he said.

"Nothing could be farther from the truth. The world community already exists, created by modern technology. Our freedom is threatened, not by the world community but by its imperfect character," he said.

The four-day conference at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education will end tomorrow.

Howard H. Kustermann, president of the National Association of Secretaries, will speak today at 6:30 p.m. on "A Look at National and International Associations of Secretaries."

NU Ext. Division Offers Classes

Classes in French and Spanish for children will be offered through the Extension Division of the University of Nebraska.

According to Dr. Charles Colman, chairman of the department of Romance languages, children from six to ten will be allowed to take the audio-lingual courses on a first-come first-serve basis.

Classes will begin Sept. 25, and will be limited to 20 pupils each.

Registrations are being accepted at the Extension Division in Architectural Hall. The schedule of classes is as follows:

French—All classes meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays, first year at 4 p.m.; second year at 4:30 p.m.; third year at 5 p.m.

Spanish—All classes meet on Mondays and Wednesdays, first year at 4 p.m.; second year at 4:30 p.m., and third year at 5 p.m.
