

From the Stick

By RICK AKIN

It's going to be a big weekend around the country with the World Series, college football and last but not least the choosing of the new Cornhusker symbol at Friday's rally.

Concerning the new symbol, my imagination is slightly lacking but as far as appropriateness goes, let's try "The Spirited Optimist."

This seems rather a propos since that name constitutes a new symbol on campus. Everyone, except for a few pessimists, are telling the world how good the Huskers are, instead how badly the Huskers are going to get beat as in the past years.

About the spirit end of football, the Cheerleaders, the Corn Cobs, Tassels and the Athletic Department are doing a fine job of promoting campus spirit which has been lacking in previous years.

The World Series has turned into an unexpected, exciting spectacle. The Giants have played some fine baseball against the mighty Yankees.

If the Giants had won yesterday they would have a pretty good chance, but now it looks like Whitey Ford is going to toe the rubber one more time which spells trouble for any team.

Along the football lines, my predictions are improving. Last week the final tally was 16 right, 3 wrong and one tie for 84.2 per cent which jumps the season's total to 72.5 per cent.

The Huskers should keep rolling along despite the loss of some key players due to injuries. North Carolina State will hold the Huskers to their lowest point production, however, with their fine defense. NEBRASKA 23, North Carolina State, 7.

Kansas visits Iowa State in the conference's biggest game. Kansas hasn't shown much threat yet and the Cyclones have blood in their eyes. IOWA STATE.

Oklahoma State hosts Colorado. Colorado has more than many people expect. I hesitate on this one, but COLORADO.

Kansas State hosts mighty Missouri. Probably the biggest point difference in all the games this week. MISSOURI.

Texas hosts Oklahoma in a televised game. Texas will maintain its number one position. TEXAS.

OHIO STATE over Illinois. (Sorry, Pete) IOWA over Indiana. PURDUE over Miami. O. MICHIGAN STATE over Michigan (very close game). NOTRE DAME over Wisconsin. NORTHWESTERN over Minnesota. (Could be tense).

Other Games
PENN STATE over Army. ALABAMA over Houston. MIAMI over L.S.U. MARYLAND over North Carolina.

Brown Tabbed As 'Star'

By AL SPORE

Bob Brown, 6-4, 250 pound junior guard, has been named as the Nebraskan's star of the Week for his showing in Nebraska's 36-22 win over Iowa State.

Brown, one of the most feared linemen in the league, hit full stride at the Michigan tilt the preceding week and excellently handled both offensive and defensive chores Saturday.

Bob's best showing came in the third quarter when he smeared Iowa State ace, Dave Hoppmann, then intercepted a pass at the goal line to delay a Cyclone scoring drive.

The Cleveland Ohio East Technical graduate made his debut last year as a tackle but was switched to guard by new Husker Coach Bob Devaney last spring.

Big Bob might well be the answer to Coach Bob Devaney's kick-off problems. Bob boomed two attempts for 48 and 52 yards during the second half.

"The mental attitude for the North Carolina State game is real good," commented Brown. "The coaches put it to us pretty straight and no one is over-confident." Bob added that the films of North Carolina State showed they had good size.

When asked to comment on the Husker win over Iowa State Bob replied, "Everybody made a real fine effort, which naturally showed up in us winning."

As for the Big Eight outlook for Nebraska, the big guard replied, "I'd like for this to be Nebraska's year but you'll have to talk to me after the Missouri game."

"As far as injuries go, I don't think they hurt us too much," continued Brown. "The entire team knows it takes 11 men to win so I think we can carry on."

BROWN—tabbed as 'Star'

WOLFPACK BACKFIELD—One of the top backfield combinations at North Carolina State in 1962 will be quarterback Jim Rossi (14) kneeling, halfback Tony Kozarsky (40), fullback Roger Moore (34), and halfback Joe Scarpati (44). Rossi is the only non-letterman in the group, while Moore is the only senior.

North Carolina State Has Strong Defense

By MICK ROOD
Sports Staff Writer

Coach Earle Edward's North Carolina State squad with a 1-2 record can point with pride to a tight defense when they encounter undefeated Nebraska this Saturday.

Of the Wolfpack's 15 returning lettermen, three each are at tackle, guard and center. This experienced inner line has been instrumental in allowing foes only 27 points in the first three contests.

Tackles Bert Wilder and Steve Parker and guards Skip Matthews, Harry Puckett and Bill Sullivan are among the bruisers in the interior. Wilder, a 6-3, 210 pound hustler, was recalled into the Army last year, but promises to be one of the top linemen in the South.

The weak spot on the line is at the end position where only one letterman, Don Montgomery, a 6-2, 216-pound junior provides the lone experience. Montgomery broke his leg in the Alabama game last year, but returns running full steam this year.

A decided lack of experience and depth plagues the Wolfpack in the backfield this year. Joe Scarpati, a 5-10, 170 pound junior halfback, provides State with its only real bright spot. Scarpati has carried for only 54 yards this year, but has received six passes for 55 yards and is an outstanding defensive performer.

Despite the loss of All-American Roman Gabriel at quarterback, the Wolfpack has found a reputable field general in 165-pound Jim Rossi. Rossi has thrown 38 passes and completed 22 for 263 yards thus far. Senior Bill Kriger, a solid running performer, gives backing to Rossi.

Rossi and Kriger are both option-type runners but that is where their similarity ends. Rossi, as statistics show, has been the predominant passer while Kriger, who hasn't had as much action, has concentrated somewhat more on guiding his young backfield and carrying the pigskin himself.

These two eager backs show a lot of spunk, but their inexperience has hampered the team at times. Of course, neither have accomplished the difficult task of stepping into the polished Gabriel's shoes. The fullback corps look better with seniors Roger Moore and Dave Houtz running ahead of talented sophomore Pete Faizarano.

The Huskers are currently ranked ninth in the nation in total offense with 1,183 total yards.

In rushing Nebraska stands 11th with 769 yards.

Commenting on North Carolina State, Devaney said, "They have seen our offense while we were at Wyoming, which gives them an advantage. We beat them, 26-0 two years ago and again last year, 15-14."
