

Picnic on Agenda For PTP 'Kick-Off'

Foreign, American Membership Plans International Games, Songs

By KAREN GUNLICKS
Nebraskan Staff Writer

People-to-People (PTP) members will meet together for the first time this year at a "kick-off" picnic Sunday at 4 p.m. at Pioneers Park near the refreshment stand. International games such as cricket, soccer, volleyball, badminton, baseball and folk singing will precede a picnic lunch which will cost 50 cents per person. Students needing transportation are to meet at the north entrance of the Student Union at 4 p.m., said Tom Wright, chairman of PTP.

"We cordially invite ALL students to attend," said Wright. Earlier this week a national field representative of PTP, Gary Richards from Oklahoma State, was on campus to find out what the local PTP program is doing. During his visit, he reported on the developments of PTP groups on other campuses in the nation.

National affiliation is under consideration by the Univer University group, but they must await action on the local PTP constitution by the Faculty Senate subcommittee, said Wright. PTP is not, at present, a recognized organization on campus because its constitution has not been pre-ented and passed by the subcommittee, he explained.

Wright indicated that the local group will enroll in the national program. He pointed out advantages in national affiliation. One of these is the Student Ambassador Program in which students travel to foreign countries not simply to see the sights but to live and work with the people in order that they can know and understand them. Under the program, jet planes are chartered and the cost of the round trip is considerably less than if the students travel privately.

Tom Kotouc, chairman of the job placement committee, and Dick Weill, chairman of the engagements committee, spoke at the National Bankers of American Convention last week to begin work on finding summer jobs for the University foreign students.

PTP's task this summer was matching foreign and American brothers and sisters. The students contacted each other this summer and met when the foreign student arrived in Lincoln, said Wright. An orientation session for foreign students was held early this fall and included tours and speeches by University and Lincoln people.

Besides emphasizing its purpose of promoting understanding, good will and friendship among students of the world, PTP has focused upon becoming a recognized organization and one with a central location on the campus concluded Wright. Its office is 345 Student Union.

Pride in State Emphasized To IFC Reps

By TOM MCGINNIS
Nebraskan Staff Writer

Developing a positive attitude towards Nebraska and learning what the state has to offer could sum up statements delivered at last night's Interfraternity Council (IFC) meeting. IFC representatives watched the film, "This is Nebraska" and listened to short addresses by Doctor Michael Shugrue of the University Public Relations Department and Dean G. Robert Ross of the Division of Student Affairs.

The film "This is Nebraska" emphasized points to be proud of in the state, such as the history, tourist attractions, efficiency of the working force, present and prospective industries, highly efficient agriculture in the state, and the higher education institutions in Nebraska. Before the film Don Ferguson of Sigma Delta Chi urged that citizens of the state stop thinking negatively and start selling the state because there is so much to be proud of in Nebraska.

"Core of Effort" In his talk Dr. Shugrue called the University the "core of effort to develop pride in Nebraska." He pointed out that while attending the University, students have much opportunity to learn about the state and develop pride in it.

He emphasized that the greatest loss to Nebraska is the loss of trained man power, and that many times "the grass is not so green as it seems in other states." Many people move on to other states because of their own negative attitude towards Nebraska," Shugrue said.

Following Dr. Shugrue, Dean Ross spoke on some of the changes the University will undergo in the future. One of the changes he mentioned was the importance of college students learning and educating themselves all the time while at school.

Results He pointed out that this will result in increased attendance to foreign films, art galleries, museums, and other activities which will help students to get a better perspective of the world in which they will be leaders and not just in the student's chosen field.

Dean Ross stated that he was pleased with the recent IFC resolution to work with the University in carrying out University wishes.

In a question and answer period afterwards, Doctor Robert Nelson of the University Geology department, pointed out that one thing which draws many people to the west is the fact that highly industrialized areas such as California are sold on the higher education in their state. He added that Nebraskans as a whole are not sold on higher education.

School Proposal To Be Submitted

A proposal to endorse state aid for schools will be submitted to the Nebraska State Education Association's (NSEA) delegate assembly at its annual session in Lincoln Dec. 7-8.

The NSEA's resolutions committee included this among several policy propositions for consideration.

John Lynch, NSEA executive secretary, explained that the committee "would rather see a broadened tax, but if that can't be had, the schools would take the money from the state property tax."

Another proposal of the NSEA resolutions committee is that of giving the state school reorganization committee the power to approve or reject all school district consolidation plans, subject to appeal to the State Board of Education.

Dance Scheduled

"Harvest Hop" will be the theme of the Women's Residence Association (WRA) fall dance Friday.

The dance is open to anyone. The Bill Albers Combo will play from 9-12 p.m. and refreshments will be served.

"The fall dance was good last year and we hope it will be even better this year," said Nellie Kratochvil, president of WRA.

Weber Receives Judging Awards

Robert Weber, an NU senior in animal husbandry, was recognized for being the 11th highest scoring individual in the American Royal Livestock judging contest last weekend.

According to coach R. B. Warren, assistant professor of animal husbandry, the Nebraska team placed 11th in a field of 23 teams from all over the country.

The University team consisted of Harlan Ladehoff, David McClatchey, Robert Weber, alternate Don Meiergerd, Roger Wilshusen, and Bruce Jameson. Henry Wickes, Meiergerd and Wilshusen will go to the Kansas City wool judging contest next week.

Nebraska placed sixth in quarter horse judging, eighth in beef cattle, tenth in sheep, and twelfth in the hog judging.

The University senior meats judging team is also competing in the American Royal this week.

Jessie D. Felker, Dean Jacobs, Thomas R. Lewis, are the team members. Their trip is sponsored by the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben, said team coach, Charles Adams, head of the Animal Husbandry Meats Lab.
