

Bush's Cagers Wallop Frosh In Warmup for Debut Saturday

By RICK AKIN
Sports Editor

Coach Jerry Bush's varsity cagers warmed up for its opener with Texas Tech Saturday by walloping the freshman squad, 78-44, last night at the Coliseum.

The varsity had little trouble in disposing Coach Bob Gates' eager freshmen, even though the frosh had a sparse crowd wondering if an upset was in the making in the early moments of play.

Looking ragged in some spots throughout the game, the varsity showed signs of missing last year's big guns—Tom Russell, Bill Bowers and Rex Swett.

Daryl Petsch, junior sharpshooter from Marysville, Kans., showed signs of taking up where he left off last season by leading all scorers with 15 points, mainly on set shots from about 21-feet out.

Grupe With 14

Ivan Grupe, the Byron strongman, was the other big gun for the varsity as he pumped home 14 points and did a fine job of rebounding.

The varsity scored only four points in the first five minutes of play on two set shots by Petsch as the freshmen took the opening lead, 8-6.

But with 9:36 left in the half, Grupe hit a short jumper to put the varsity ahead to stay, 16-15.

throughout the entire game.

Vincent Sparks

Bill Vincent, counted on heavily this year, moved the varsity way out in front on five straight points with about a minute and a half left in the first half as the varsity left the floor with a 33-24 half-time lead.

Depth appeared to be the key problem for the varsity in the warm up encounter as Jan Wall is still slowed by a knee injury; Jerry Spears, a transfer from Ohio State, is not eligible until second semester and the sophomore guards, Earl Wright and Larry Borschlegl need the experience before the Big Eight campaign begins at Christmas time.

The Huskers now open the season at Lubbock, Tex., when they face Texas Tech.

Frosh Close

From then on the closest the frosh got was within four points, 21-17, with 8:25 left in the first half.

Henry Granger, 6-5 from Meridian, Miss., Coley Webb, 6-5 from Elkhart, Ind., and John McPherson from Ralston led the early onslaught with some fine shooting and rebounding.

Grant Simmons, All-Stater from Omaha Benson, also did a good job of ball handling MONTE DEERE OKLAHOMA QUARTERBACK proved to be one of the big factors in Oklahoma's 34-6 win over the Huskers last Saturday. Deere's passing hit the target for three Sooner scores in the Big Eight title rout.

OU Returns to Limelight

By BOB KRALL
Sports Staff Writer

Happy days have returned to Oklahoma, as the Sooners have won their first Big Eight Conference championship since 1959, completed their first undefeated conference slate since 1958 and tried their best to make the Big Eight the conference of the seven dwarfs once more.

The Sooners still must play the Oklahoma State Cowboys this Saturday, but this contest will not affect the conference standings.

The Okies have thus won the right to see two quite different tides on New Year's Day in Miami, and it won't be because it will be the day after the night before, either.

The Sooners will be able to watch the Atlantic surf roll in during their leisure time, and when game time arrives they will probably see the Crimson Tide from Alabama roll into the Orange Bowl.

The Sooners are not the only Big Eight team bowl-bound, however, the runner-up Missouri Tigers will face the "to the hell with Georgia" boys from Georgia Tech in the Bluebonnet Bowl on December 22.

Nebraska finished a well-deserved third in the conference. The Huskers can take pride in the fact that only four Scarlet teams have won more games. These four teams played their football for Nebraska before 1906 and all of these teams played at least one high school team.

The Kansas Jayhawkers ended their season on a happy note with a tie of Missouri, but finished fourth.

The Iowa State Cyclones showed their fans plenty of offense this season — both their's and the opposition's — and headed the Big Eight's second division.

Oklahoma State finished sixth and Colorado seventh, but both teams helped the conference's prestige late in the season. Oklahoma State upset Army, and Colorado flew past the Air Force Academy the last Saturday of their season, 34-10.

Kansas State can say that at least they were no worse than the 1960 and 1961 Wildcat squads—they did not win any conference games, either.

Thornton Second Team All-American Selection

Bill (Thunder) Thornton, injury riddled but dedicated Nebraska fullback, has been named to the American Football Coaches Association's All-American second team.

Thornton, who was hampered by a shoulder injury early in the season and later by an ankle injury, was one of two men from the Big Eight to crack the coaches' first three team picks. Missouri guard, Tom Hertz, landed a third team spot.

This is the 73rd annual All-American picks by the American Football Coaches Association. The All-American team was originated by Walter Camp.

The midwest dominated the first three unit choices by placing ten men on the three mythical squads.

The first two All-American units—

First Team: ends—Pat Richter, Wisconsin; Hal Beddoe, Southern California; tackles—Bobby Bell, Minnesota; Steve Barnett, Oregon; guards—Johnny Treadwell, Texas; Rufus Guthrie, Georgia Tech; center—Lee Roy Jordan, Alabama; quarterback—Terry Baker, Oregon State; halfbacks—Jerry Stovall, Louisiana State; Roster Kuehman, Penn State; fullback George Saines, Michigan State.

Second Team: ends—Dave Robinson, Penn State; Hugh Campbell, Washington State; tackles—Jim Dunaway, Mississippi; Bob Vogel, Ohio State; guards—Jack Cervenko, Northwestern; Ray Mansfield, Washington; center—Dave Behrman, Michigan State; quarterback—George Mira, Miami; halfbacks—Mel Renfro, Oregon; Kermil Alexander, U.C.L.A.; fullback, BILL THORNTON, NEBRASKA.
