Innocents Placed On Probation

Organizations Fail To Submit Reports

In yesterday's Student Council meeting, the Innocents Society was put on probation for a seven-day period for failing to comply with Student Council regulations.

In addition to the Innocents, Phi Eta Sigma, Delta Phi Alpha, University Council on Religion, Xi Psi Phi, Pi Sigma Alpha and Soccer Club are on seven day restriction.

The probationary status came for failing to submit an activity report, organization constitution or eligibility list. Unless the organizations rectify the situation, the council and the University can freeze the funds of the group, deny the use of University facilities for meetings of the organization or take disciplinary action against it.

The probation, however, is only a warning and does not restrict the organization until further action is taken against it by the Council.

In other business, Council recommended that students be allowed to pay the $25 deposit for the fall semester anytime from the date they turn in their worksheet until July 31, instead of the University's recommendation they turn in the deposit with their worksheet.

Susie Christensen, Honors Convocation committee chairman, announced that two famous Nebraska alumni have been asked to speak. George Beadell, president of the University of Chicago and Gerald Phillippe, president of General Electric have been asked to address the convocation.

The University will represent Algeria in the forthcoming Mid-West Model United Nations meeting, according to Dennis Christie, chairman of the program at the University.

"We are fortunate to represent so controversial a country," Christie commented. He also announced that any student interested in representing the University at the spring convention should leave his name in the Student Council office.

Bill Dunklau, chairman of the student traffic flow committee, submitted a report concerning the success of the trial program on one-way stairs and doors in Burnett Hall.

After discussion, the Council voted to change the present set-up so that the south door will be "in" only and the west door "two-way." The east door will remain "in" only.

AWS Announces Rules for Follies

A maximum of three acts from any one house may try out for Coed Follies travelers acts, announced Jane Tenhulzen, publicity chairman for Associated Women Students.

Any number of acts in which girls from several houses participate may try out, she continued. Tryouts will be Feb. 6.

Theta Chi Rush Smoker Is Tonight

Members of Theta Chi fraternity at the University will hold a "rush smoker" tonight at 7:30 in the Student Union.

According to Bob Cunningham, a member of the Interfraternity Council rush committee, the purpose of the rush smoker is to acquaint anyone interested in pledging with the Theta Chi chapter at NU.

During rush week last fall, the Theta Chis began a complete reorganizational process with the assistance of alumni and the national fraternity.

As a part of the reorganizational process, Theta Chi members have made plans for the building of a new house.

One of the older fraternities, Theta Chi was established in 1865, and the local chapter in 1925. Nationally, the fraternity has 129 chapters and a total living membership of approximately 52,000.

Alliance Selects Esquenazi-Mayo

Dr. Roberto Esquenazi-Mayo, University language professor has been selected by the Organization of American States to serve as an educational and cultural consultant for the Alliance for Progress.

Professor Esquenazi, who teaches in the University's department of romance languages, will work with a group headed by the new assistant secretary general of OAS for culture and information, Dr. Jaime Posada.

Posada is former rector of the University of Los Andes in Bogota, Columbia and noted South American author and educator.

A principal aim of the group is to initiate and develop educational and informational programs designed to promote unity and understanding among the peoples of the American countries.

IFC Tables Motion To Cut Bottom One-Half From Rush

By GARY LACEY
Nebraskan Staff Writer

A motion to limit participation in fraternity rush week to only those men who graduated from high school in the upper one half of their classes was tabled by the Interfraternity Council (IFC) last night in the Student Union.

Dennis Christie, chairman of the scholarship committee, said in his motion that the men who graduated in the lower half of the high school senior classes would have to wait a semester and maintain a five average for that semester to be pledged.

Christie said that he proposed this motion because of the low averages of the pledges last year, and because only 20 percent of the men pledged during rush week who were in the lower half of their high school made a five average.

Rush Chairman Jim Hix said, "We have to get away from the image that fraternity men don't care about scholarship. People get the idea that we are some sort of 'select' people."

Sigma Alpha Mu representative, Chip Kuklin, moved to table the motion so that each representative could talk the situation over with his house. The motion was carried.

Christie refused to verify any of the figures he gave about fraternity poor scholarship during the meeting, saying, "It's publication might cast a bad light on the fraternity system."

John Nolon, president of the IFC, suggested that all presidents and scholarship chairmen should come to the IFC meeting next week to discuss Christie's motion.

A motion congratulating Chancellor Clifford Hardin on his recent appointment to President Kennedy's committee to study United States foreign aid was also unanimously passed by the IFC.

In other business, a motion for the official acceptance of Chi Phi fraternity on the University campus was passed.

Hix, who introduced the motion, said Chi Phi is a "Good" national fraternity with approximately 165 alumni in the Nebraska.

Nolon indicated that Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Alpha Mu and Theta Chi had not paid their Spring rush assessments and that Delta Sigma Phi, Sigma Nu and Theta Chi had not paid their fall rush bills.

He also noted that Jerry Dickeson, present chairman of the Fraternity Management Association, would graduate in February and a new chairman would have to be found.

Helen Schmirer and Don Ferguson, editors of the IFC rush booklet, told members that any changes in copy for the book should be in as soon as possible.

Gotham Bowl—?

Nebraska's future in the Gotham Bowl is still undecided. As of last night, University officials still had not received definite word concerning a financial guarantee to meet Miami in the Bowl tilt, slated for Saturday.

Tippy Dye, University Athletic Director, reported he had heard "nothing" from Bowl officials yesterday.

"Nebraska's position is the same as it has been," the AD said. "We still expect word from New York—we hope tonight." Dye stated last night.

Chancellor Clifford Hardin said last night that he had talked with Ticket Manager Jim Pittenger, who is representing Nebraska in New York.

According to the Chancellor, Pittenger told him of Miami's acceptance of terms which would place $30,000 in escrow this morning in a New York City bank.

"We have heard nothing about our request, but I assume they will do the same for us," he said, continuing, "We will just wait . . . and see if the deposit is made."

The Huskers are scheduled to leave for New York City at 8 a.m. tomorrow. Two staff members, Sports Publicity Director John Bentley and Ticket Manager Jim Pittenger, are already in New York City.

There was no word from the Husker campus concerning a television contract for the bowl, one of the biggest objectives of bowl officials to overcome yet.

Student Affairs Restricts Greek Depledging Means

The Interfraternity Council (IFC) was notified last night that a man depledged from any fraternity may not be repledged by the same house in the same semester in which he was depledged.

A letter from the division of student affairs, said that "depledging" means that both the fraternity and the pledge have made a sufficiently conscientious effort to determine whether their relationship is mutually desirable and have decided that it should be terminated.

John Nolon, president of the IFC, said that many fraternities were depledging men with low averages to keep them from being figured in with the house average, and then repledging them after the house averages were tabulated." Nolon labeled this practice "hypocritical and a shame."

IFC Outlines Nebraska's Program To National Convention Delegates

By JIM MOORE
Nebraskan Staff Writer

The University's Interfraternity Council (IFC) presented a report which outlined the goals, accomplishments, services and future plans of its organization at the recent National Interfraternity Council convention in Pittsburg, Pa.

Since the idea of an interfraternity organization was conceived late one night in 1902, the responsibilities of the Nebraska IFC have grown and its objects broadened.

According to the report, "The IFC's basic purpose is to build a better fraternity system by serving as liaison with the campus, community and state, and by standing alert, prepared to meet the present and future need of the member fraternities."

Since the re-organization of the IFC in 1961, areas in fraternity finance, expansion, pledge training and scholarship have been added to the traditional committees on rush, public relations, judiciary, Junior IFC and affairs.

New Frats, FMA

Reflecting this growth, the colonization of two national fraternities and the recent development of the Fraternity Management Association (FMA) to lower the cost of fraternity living underline the type of function performed by the IFC organization.

The FMA was approved in 1961 to initiate an association for the purpose of working to merge the buying power of the system and check the mounting cost of fraternity living, the report explains. As a result of this action, the majority of the fraternities are now receiving the benefits of bulk purchasing.

The report also explains the newly-acquired IFC responsibility of enforcing the rules affecting fraternity activity set down by the University administration. "The responsibility for insuring mature action on the part of the system rightfully should be given to that system itself," the report states.

The IFC has taken another step in serving the fraternities in the area of pledge training supervision and improvement.

Pledge Manual

Dividing the 24 member fraternities into five groups to discuss mutual problems and solutions, the IFC hopes to compile a pledge manual based upon the experiences of each fraternity.

The five groups, which are divided according to relative size and mutual interests, will also attempt to solve problems affecting their fraternity.

Combining the immediate need for respectable pledge scholarship with long range improvement of the overall fraternity scholastic standing, the IFC has given full attention to the ways and means of accomplishing this goal.

Toward this end, the scholarship committee has initiated several projects designed to point up trends in the academic progress and to make each chapter aware of the value of scholarship in the overall fraternity program.

General Services

In addition to the IFC's obvious functions in preparing and accomplishing the programs pertaining to Rush Week and open rush throughout the year, many general services aid the member fraternities.

Working in such special areas as Homecoming, civil defense, intramurals, membership clauses in national fraternity constitution, scholarship awards, dinner exchanges, memorial scholarships, seminars on pertinent fraternity problems, and publishing rush books are some of the many areas the IFC serves the greek system, the University, and the general community.

Although the services which the IFC renders to the University and the community are, for the most part, intangible, the future of the IFC remains concrete and full of vitality.

According to the report, future plans are summarized, "In a rapidly changing University community, it is vitally important that the fraternity system keep pace with its environment and be prepared to meet new and continued challenges. The recent activities of the IFC demonstrate the response to these challenges in the 1960's."

"In planning for the future, the IFC is determined to remain flexible enough to meet changing conditions, strong enough to face intolerant reaction to the fraternity ways of life and active enough to continue the rich tradition that is inherent in the word 'Fraternity,'" according to the report.

By KAREN GUNLICKS
Nebraskan Staff Writer

Voices blending joyously in the revered Christmas tradition . . . swelling skyward through the crisp winter night.

Every person in the University community is invited to show their Christmas spirit through participation in the All University Carol Sing Wednesday night at 7 p.m.

Students in all living units and all Lincoln students are asked to join in the Christmas Sing, which is being coordinated by a steering committee from Builders and Union. It will be operated on an individual house basis, according to Honey Lou MacDonald, member of the committee.

Alpha Chi Omega said Zeta Tau Alpha will begin the singing of Christmas carols at 7 p.m., and will join with the various houses and dorms on their way to the Union, explained Miss MacDonald.

The two groups will gather on either side of the Union for further caroling. Sinfonia will divide into two groups to accompany the carolers.

More caroling will follow in the main lounge of the Student Union, amid gay Christmas decorations. All University Fund (AUF) will be selling coffee and hot chocolate. Profits from the sales will go to the AUF charities.

Chancellor Clifford Hardin will attend, and Nancy Sorensen will lead the Christmas songs.

Students from Ag campus will join the festivities through car pools. UNICORNS and Towne Club are encouraging Lincoln students to participate.

AWS has extended freshman women's hours to 9:30 p.m. for the event, said Jane Tenhulzen, publicity chairman for AWS.

Letters will be sent to the living units explaining the program, noted Miss MacDonald.

Debators End Schedule

The University debate squad completed its tournament schedule for the semester last weekend.

During this semester the 22 members of the team have participated in 159 debates with students from schools all over the nation. Members of the squad have traveled to all surrounding states on week-end debate trips.

According to Dr. Donald O. Olson, debate coach, the squad has won approximately 60 per cent of the debates this semester. He added that usually the percentage of debates won for the University is about 67. One reason given by Dr. Olson for the lower amount of wins is the broadness of this year's debate topic. The topic for this year was "Resolved—that the Non Communist nations Should Establish an Economic Community."

Next semester the debate squad will travel to tournaments at Northwestern, Nebraska Wesleyan, Wisconsin State College, Notre Dame, Iowa State, and the Delta Sigma Rho progressive tournament. A large debate tournament will be held here February 22 and 23.

Council Progress Report Adds Three Committees

By SUE HOVIK
Nebraskan Staff Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second in a series of three articles on the Student Council report which covers Council activities from the beginning of first semester, 1962, to Nov. 7, 1962. This article was written from information contained in the report which was submitted by the committees of the Student Interest, Public Relations, and Public Issues divisions.

The second in a series on the Student Council Report deals with the Student Interest, Public Relations and Public Issues areas.

The Student Interest areas deals directly with students and problems of student activities. The judiciary committee, under the chairmanship of Dave Scholz, has the authority to approve or disapprove the constitutions of various student organizations. This year it has considered eight constitutions, approved one and rejected seven.

The elections committee supervised the Homecoming Queen, Mock political, Nebraska Sweetheart and Prince Kosmet and the Honorary Commandant elections.

The activities committee is responsible for maintaining the quality of existing organizations and is under the chairmanship of Steve Honey.

The committee held a self-evaluation meeting for various organizations concerned with journalistic and literary interests. Honey also reported that they will write detailed descriptions of campus organizations and keep them on file in the Council office.

Dale Redman, chairman of the parking committee, said that his committee deals with problems of parking and traffic on campus and acts as a board of appeals for student parking violations.

His committee has undertaken the following projects: institution of the one-way mail; a raising of the parking permit fees, and an increase of parking areas.

They are also working on a possible University bus service between city and ag campuses for the school year of 1963-64. Redman reported that work on a radial highway from 14th and Q around the campus will begin next year.

The Student Council Associates is a group of interested non-council members who sit on Council committees in an advisory capacity. Under the direction of Susie Moffitt, chairman, they were nominated from their living units, on the basis of one nominee per 55 students to be interviewed.

The public relations area deals primarily with publicizing the work of Student Council and polling the level and substance of student opinion.

Steve Christensen heads the campus opinion committee which is now in the process of polling students to determine their knowledge of Student Council and their opinions on various issues.

The public issues area has two main goals: to stimulate students to take an active interest in issues which do not directly concern them in their roles as students and to encourage the expression of student opinion on these issues.

Chip Kuklin, chairman of the public issues committee, reported that they have sponsored the mock student election and the debate between Governor Morrison and Republican candidate Fred Seaton.

Kuklin reported that they are now making plans to send a delegation to the 1963 Midwest Model United Nations to be held in St. Louis, Missouri, March 27-30. The Council has $100 allotted for this project and plans to send one delegation and a faculty member to represent the country of Algeria.

HAM IT UP!—Finalists for the title of Miss Block and Bride will compete with each other in a 'ham race' in the annual Christmas project of the club. Smiling candidates are left to right: Susie Cook, Carolyn Johnson, Suzanne Plum, Lolly Linneman and Sandy McDowell.
