

CU Administrators Feel Budget Pinch

—On Other Campuses

By GARY LACEY
Nebraskan Staff Writer

Colorado University officials, as well as NU administrators, are feeling the budgetary squeeze.

According to an editorial in the Colorado Daily, CU has asked a $12.5 million dollar increase from the Colorado State general fund. In addition the state-supported colleges in Colorado have asked the state to provide $125 million in funds for construction projects.

In his campaign, Colorado Governor-elect Love promised a 10 to 15 percent tax reduction.

As the editorial points out, the dilemma which has arisen is "that some thing has got to give and unfortunately it looks as if it is going to be the proposed budget.

Cigarette smokers are defacing the floors of the new West Bank Campus building, according to an article in the Minnesota Daily.

A custodial and ground supervisor complained that students were grinding their cigarette butts on new tile, causing black spots, some of which are impossible to remove.

The worst damage, he said, was occurring in the lunch room and in the classrooms.

He said, "Students wouldn't do it at home, or they would catch heck. There is one way to give them heck here, but with a little cooperation these buildings could be kept nice."

The Interfraternity Council at the University of Missouri is now considering a proposal to permit fraternities to pledge men during the summer.

According to Chuck Hartmann, IFC adviser, there were approximately 150 vacancies in MU greek houses last fall.

He said that the new system would fill these vacancies.

Delta Gamma national Sorority has been banned from the Beloit Wisconsin College campus, according to the Daily Iowan.

Dr. Miller Upton, president of the college, said that the ban will hold until the sorority alters an oath of secrecy clause to permit student members to discuss sorority business with college officials.

The Beloit chapter was suspended by the national sorority after it pledged a Negro girl.

The Berkeley Chapter of the American Association of University Professors is slated to ask the regents of the University of California to rescind the communist speaker ban, according to the Daily Californian.

The regent's right to bar communist speakers from the campus has recently been challenged in court action. The right was upheld in the original decision, but an appeal has been filed.

The professors' request said that the Berkeley group "believes that any recognized student or faculty should be empowered to invite any speaker to appear on campus to inform the University on matters of intellectual importance."

Today Is Deadline For Rag Applications

Today is the last day to turn in applications for paid Daily Nebraskan staff positions. Applications may be picked up in the School of Journalism Office in 309 Burnett or in the Daily Nebraskan office in the basement of the Student Union.

New Scrip Out Soon

Scrip, the undergraduate literary magazine, will be available Monday. Scrip is published by undergraduates at the University in co-operation with the Department of English.

This year, Scrip, in addition to publishing work by undergraduates, has accepted poetry by Patrick Drake and prose by Lee Parks, both graduate students. It will also publish an article by a University faculty member in this issue.

Scrip editor Joel Lundak said, "We did not try to select material in accordance with any pre-determined tone or attitude. We have tried only to take the best of the material we received, regardless of its subject matter."

"Scrip will continue to print as wide a variety of material as we receive," said Lundak. "We hope that each issue will invite more and better contributions from the student body. We feel that the campus can and will make a publication of this type a success."

Student Architects Analyze, Plan Beatrice State Home Structures

Twenty-seven University seniors are one of the first groups of their kind to make a thorough research into mental health before planning special structures for the use of the mentally ill.

The architecture students, under the direction of Prof. Patrick Horsburgh, are meeting with more than 50 state, city and religious leaders to have their work judged at the Nebraska Education Association Building.

The students were given the assignment five months ago to plan the redevelopment of the Beatrice State Home as though they were asked as professionals. Their five-day public jury sessions will end Wednesday.

What makes their study unique, Professor Horsburgh said, is that this may be the first time a large group of architectural scholars have concentrated months of study to determine ways in which buildings can be planned and constructed to provide the best environment for the mentally ill and retarded.

The senior students whose work is being judged by public juries are:

Robert Douglass, Gerald Klein, Robert Jensen, Ronald Ericson, Herb Fanders, Sam Sloan, Leon Olson, Richard Engler, Bernard Henry, Elwin Murray, Milt Schmeckle, Fred John, Romas Dejauskas.

Garry Harley, Larry Hunt, Chung-Pong Wong, Robert Hanna, Dick Robinson, Robert Vlasnik, Tom Laging, George Haacker, Dave Mignery, Ronald Anderson, Larry Irvine, and Richard Williams.

NEW CENTER—Robert Hanna, University architecture senior, displays his design of a rehabilitation center at the Beatrice Home.

HOBNOB ACTION—"We take you now to our special correspondent, Bob Askey in San Francisco." This scene of life during the California gold rush was filmed in the HOBNOB Restaurant by the University television station KUON-TV. The background, which depicts a bar from the Barbary Coast of 1850 can be seen Jan. 22 and 24 in the 15th of a series of 30 date-line history programs.

Follies Skits Selected From 'Misbehavin' Coeds

At last night's tryouts, five sorority skits were selected for the 1963 Coed Follies Show. After the houses had completed their efforts, Billie Spies, Coed Follies chairman remarked: "The quality of the skits is better than ever before; they have improved greatly over the past few years."

The sororities and skits selected were as follows:
Chi Omega — "Starring ... Steres" — A little rock and roller can't understand why his music does not fit into the varied sounds of stereos.

Coeds Work On Magazine

Junior Jody Burkhart and sophomore Mary Joe Thacker will represent the University this year on Mademoiselle's national College Board.

As Board members they will report news from the University to Mademoiselle. They are eligible to compete for the twenty Guest Editorships that will be awarded in May by the magazine.

The twenty College Board members who win Guest Editorships will be taken to New York City for the month of June to help edit, write and illustrate the August college issue of Mademoiselle.

Col. Powell Challenges Contention

Col. Elmer R. Powell, professor of military science, yesterday challenged the contention the Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) program in colleges and Universities does not provide enough qualified officers for the armed services.

The contention was recently given as a reason for the Defense Department's proposal to cut back the program in high schools and colleges.

"The records prove that the ROTC program is the backbone of the Army Officer program and the principle source of our leadership," Colonel Powell said.

He said of the 16 thousand second lieutenants commissioned by the Army in 1962, 11,000 were products of the Army ROTC program. "Only 600 of this total came from West Point and two thousand from Officers' candidate school," Col. Powell said.

"To the contrary, the program is aimed at getting the armed services more officers," he said.

The proposal would eliminate the two year basic program in an effort to expand the advanced cadet program for interested students.

Col. Powell, 52, is an Army ROTC product of the University of Missouri. He established the advanced Army ROTC program at Missouri following World War II and came to Nebraska in 1961.

Innocents Award Named For Cass

Innocents Society has named the trophy for the best fraternity-sorority homecoming display in honor of Steve Cass.

The trophy which will be called the Steve Cass Award will be given each year to the fraternity and sorority who work together to produce the best homecoming display.

According to Larry Hammer of the Innocents Society, the idea of naming the award after Cass, who was killed in an automobile accident during Thanksgiving vacation, came up shortly after the accident.

Cass initiated the idea of fraternities and sororities working together on Homecoming displays this year. He was display chairman for Innocents Society.

Old Illicit UNEB, Now KNUS, Asks For Expansion

By JIM LOHSE and CHARLES TUMA

Special to Daily Nebraskan
In hopes of stopping a downward trend, the Nebraska campus radio station, KNUS, has submitted a request for expansion to the Dean of Student Affairs Robert Ross.

KNUS has now reached the post war low of two ten watt transmitters located in Selsick Quadrangle which can only cover the dormitory in ideal weather conditions.

Since the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) limits each transmitter to a range of 150 feet, it will require about 40 half watt transmitters to cover the campus and surrounding areas.

Rent per month for each transmitter is $2.00 and $20.00 per mile for telephone wire running from the Temple Building to each transmitter.

Decline and Fall

The decline and fall of the popular KNUS empire began in the late 40's when an amusing, though at the time embarrassing, incident occurred.

Tod Storz, now manager of KMEQ in Omaha, and several other students designed a low voltage transmitter for broadcasting only to surrounding fraternity and sorority houses on campus.

They located the transmitter in the Beta Theta Pi fraternity house, 1515 R Street, and called the station

Junior IFC Ball Slated Tonight

The Junior Interfraternity Council (Jr. IFC) Ball is scheduled for this evening beginning at 8 p.m. at the East Hills Ballroom, according to Jim Baer, social chairman.

The annual affair is held for fraternity and sorority pledge classes and features the crowning of the Jr. IFC Queen.

Candidates for the honor are Mary Lee Jepsen, Alpha Delta Pi; Jan Whitney, Kappa Delta; Barbara Gallup, Kappa Alpha Theta; Marilyn Masters, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Chris Perrin, Kappa Alpha Theta.

The cost will be two dollars per couple, and the music will be furnished by Bobby Layne and his Orchestra.

Regents Meeting

The University Board of Regents will meet Monday at 9:30 a.m.

The Board will consider changing the name of the Department of Vocational Education at the College of Agriculture to the Department of Agricultural Education.

Appointment Cards Due Next Week Says Hoover

All students must pick up their registration appointment cards next week, Jan. 14-18, according to Dr. Floyd Hoover, Registrar.

Student Council members and associates will be distributing the cards in the main lounge of the City Student Union Jan. 14-18, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and in Ag Union on Jan. 14, 8 to 5. There will be distribution at both locations over the noon hour.

"In order to register and pay fees, every student must have an appointment card. No one will be permitted to register without one," said Dr. Hoover.

Registration and payment of fees will be in the Men's Physical Education Building, Jan. 28-30. Students should remember to get a card for a time when they do not have a final exam scheduled.

"UNEB," a designation which they lived to regret.

UNEB was permitted to operate from the University studios ten hours each week, and the University utilized UNEB's transmitter on the same basis.

Power Increased

No one knows, or at least admits, how it was that the power became alarmingly increased, but perhaps the most valid theory is that a UNEB engineer permitted the antenna wire to dangle from a window.

Agents of the FCC picked up UNEB's signal as far south as Oklahoma and immediately closed in on the illicit station. UNEB was operating without a license, exceeding power for a station of its type, interfering with legally-operated stations, and using illegal call letters. Only Soviet Russia is allowed to use the initial letter "U."

The innocent looking students were released by the government without prosecution. UNEB was never heard again.

MB's Will Give Graduate Grant

The University Foundation announced recently that the Mortar Boards, senior women's honorary service society, has made a $300 grant to the Foundation for a graduate scholarship.

Herb Potter, assistant treasurer of the Foundation, said the grant will be made to a woman wishing to pursue graduate study at the University for the academic year of 1963-64.

The fellowship will be based on academic performance according to the wishes of the Mortar Boards and will be appointed by the Graduate College Faculty Committee for fellowships.

Mortar Board officials said presentation of the fellowship will be made May 4, Ivy Day.

Each student will receive only one card since there is a limited number of cards. This will also make it possible for each student to get an appointment at the time he wishes, Hoover said.

Any student who does not register on the 28, 29 or 30th will have to wait until Feb. 4 to register. All unclaimed registrations will have to wait till then.

Appointment cards will be necessary for late registration and for drops and adds. They may be picked up Feb. 4 in the Registrar's Office in the Administration Building.

Worksheets Due

All freshmen and sophomores must have their worksheets for pre-registration in by 4 p.m. today to the Registrars office.
