

RESEARCH IS BLAST CLAIMS DOC ELLIOT

An 'Ignominious' Failure

REGENT BEERBLAST—Of late "Doc" Elliot has resorted to wearing an eyepatch because his eye was put out by Rosie La Rue at a recent beer blast. It seems that Rosie, who was under the influence of Old Saratoga, grabbed a red-barbed purple shaft and gouged his eye out while they were quietly "budding" (not flowering) in the backseat of Rosie's Nash.

UPGPP Burns Conservatives In Clodwrangle

Representatives of the University Party for Gross Prostitution of Purpose (UPGPP) last night burned to the ground the 6, 7 and 8,000 building sections of Selseck Clodwrangle where the conservative element of the University's largest living unit reside.

In retaliation, representatives of those sections of the Last Stop Selseck plugged the toilets of UPGPP members with Barry Goldwater's pamphlets. This was an action which H. Roger D. J. termed as "The only possible course of action by which the conservatives in Last Stop could retaliate. The action of the UPGPP was unadulterated upchuck. Although I am an unofficial member of the UPGPP I cannot condone its action and refuse to have MY name associated with this act."

President of UPGPP, Rich Dumpless, said that Dudson's motion concerning discrimination on the University campus "Will undoubtedly be defeated after his statement concerning our action. The UPGPP will absolutely not put up with unfaithful members."

Other action that the UPGPP has carried out in the last month includes: Unofficially firing each member of the Board of Regents and abolishing all Fraternities and Sororities on campus, an action which Dumpless said "will undoubtedly enhance the success of our freshman football players' functions!"

In its last meeting the UPGPP exposed 43 of those present as not being members of the University or of the party. The remaining seven, all officers and members of the party's Central Council, conducted the meeting.

When those 43 were quieted the party conducted its regular business. "It was difficult for us, but we managed," Dumpless said courageously.

Among the resolutions adopted were the following.

1.) Whereas: We all agree that the left wing is the only wing left standing;

Whereby: We contend that since it is because of our action that the left wing is the only wing left standing;

Whereby: We feel it is our right to designate the name, policy, means, and purpose of the only wing left standing;

Therefore: the name shall be officially and eternally, the University party for Gross Prostitution of Purpose, the policy shall be officially and eternally up to the Central Council which is composed of the organization's officers, the means shall be officially and eternally those things which are in direct opposition to what is conceived as right and true in our society, and the purpose shall be officially and internally to disrupt our members which should not know what is going on anyway because the Central Council, which is made up of officers, should be the only body which knows what is going on, anyway.

Dumpless said he agreed 100 per cent with this resolution because it will allow collection of funds and donations from unsuspecting members. Those members who donate five dollars or more each week will receive our medal of extinguished funds, he said.

That is, as soon as we get some members who are not members of the Central Council, who are all officers, he said.

2.) Whereby: We are omnipotent and possess power one step below divinity;

Whereby: Our beliefs lead us away from a militia and towards faith in the equality of all men and man's undeviating striving for peace;

Whereby: We cannot figure out Army ROTC maps;

Whereby: We cannot stay awake for Air Force ROTC films;

Whereby: We cannot maintain consciousness during Navy physical tests;

Whereby: None of us could ever pass a military physical examination anyway;

Therefore: We support the abolishment of compulsory ROTC.

Dumpless said that he particularly advocated this resolution because he did not believe in the military's conception of parliamentary procedure.

3.) Whereby: We are extremely liberal even though none of us understand liberalism;

Whereby: The only reason we are doing this is that we are bored at Last Stop;

Whereby: We think we are right;

Whereby: We know we are right;

Whereby: We know that everybody else is wrong;

Therefore: We heartily support NSA, National Association of Student Asses.

Dudson conceded that the party might be right on this resolution.

4.) Whereby: We want 33 representatives on Student Council; Therefore: We will elect 33 representatives to Student Council.

After all this business, meeting, making and second-motion to adjourn.

Dudson said in an exclusive interview that he was seriously contemplating making a motion to change the name of the organization from UPGPP to PU-U-U-u.

According to Dr. Curtis Elliot, "Research concerning the problems faced in adjusting insurance claims is an ignominious blast."

"For some years," continued Doc Elliott, "I have been investigating the insurance phenomena of the La Rue Sisters, Effie Eloise and Rosie, and their mother Queen Maud."

The Nash Rambler people have been especially interested in the project, he added.

According to Doc Elliott, the main problem results from the accident prone nature of the La Rue ladies.

"During the past year their 50 deductible insurance policy has been 50 deducted so many times that it resembles the national debt," guffawed Doc Elliott.

Commenting on the problems facing the claims adjuster for their policies, the Doctor made special reference to their affinity for Shetland ponies and Old Saratoga. For some reason this is directly proportional to their ability to arrive at the scene of an accident about 30 seconds before it happens so that they can take an important part in the completion of the catastrophe.

The following is an example of one of their typical forays: Effie Eloise's Nash Rambler is borrowed by sister Rosie without Effie's knowing about it; Effie Eloise is at this time is driving Queen Maud's motorcycle and Queen Maud is riding behind on a Shetland pony carrying two fifths of Old Saratoga in the saddle bags, and she is being carried on a truck bed being pushed from behind by a tractor.

At this moment Rosie comes tooling around the corner at 75 miles an hour and attempts to cross over and turn into Queen Maud's driveway. As Rosie crosses over she hits into Effie Eloise on the motorcycle and throws her back over the truck bed on top of the Shetland pony breaking Queen Maud's neck and shattering the two bottles of Old Saratoga.

The pony is so frightened that it bolts and jumps through the windshield of the Nash just as it is driving through the back of Queen Maud's garage, tearing through a 20-foot concrete wall and in the process giving the Shetland hoof and mouth disease.

Queen Maud is not carrying her liquor license, Effie Eloise does not have her driver's license and Rosie La Rue still hasn't gotten a marriage license.

Who is insured if the Shetland pony is drunk and Rosie is going the wrong way down a one-way street and Effie Eloise's 20 pay life policy was just transferred to Queen Maud who has omitted paying the last 3 payments?

"If you don't think that a case like this is enough to shorten the life expectancy of an insurance investigator, you are sorely mistaken," chortled Doc Elliott.

Doc conceded that although his prime interest is running a trendex on the popularity of accidents with the LaRue's, he is also doing correlative work on the headaches of the investigator.

With a smile, Doc Elliott added that the whole mess reminded him of the time that he promoted a party raid and the crisis that resulted.

"Naturally, such work has little interest for the non-callipygian of our campus," Elliott commented. "However poor demented professors love this type of work."

Dr. Elliott's research is being underwritten by the order of the Purple-shafted Red Barb.

Pink Staff Writer Gets Royal Shaft

The Pink Shaft suffered a serious loss a few weeks ago in the form of a staff member who could not find enough time or devotion in his heart to serve loyally and dependably the first for freedom of the college press. We wish him better luck and more success in his new extra-curricular activities.

Wild Giraffes Trample Ag Campus

The University Rodeo Klub plans a rib-smashing three-day stampede for the end of the month.

In addition to the usual chuck wagon race, horse-shoeing and bull shipping, the Klub's annual event will have for the first time: wild giraffe milking, underwater rawhide plaiting, and buffalo head butting.

The later contest features an obstinate coed and a Phippine carabao on loan from an alum who's now in the Peace Corps.

Grand prize for the stampede is a set of crossed longhorns engraved "RIP." This cross will be given to the all-around cowboy or cowgirl along with a $500 funeral.

Other prizes include: a silver belt buckle to decorate a pelvic cast, and a silver-mounted saddle with a place for hip pockets outlined in gold on the cantele. This is so the rider can tell the head from the tail.

PanHole Thrashes IFC 'Do-Nothings'

Round and round and round we go — yea for the Panholenic rotation system.

PanHole met again Monday, but since President Mary Joe MacCooney was unable to think of anything for the group to do, they decided to attack IFC for not doing anything.

About those extinguished torches — well, anyway, those aspects of Meek Week drew sharp criticism from Panpole and they decided not to give Meek Week any money. Not, you understand, because they didn't support Meek Week, but because they couldn't locate their treasury.

By a unanimous vote of confidence the group decided once again to support Mandhandin' Barge as adviser to the ignominious group.

The girls realized that their sororities' pledge classes had been ultra-small that fall, but that was because Dea Snides had sized up the freshman crop and decided they looked like the type who would steal sign-in sheets to avoid being counted late and then get caught. So she decided to punish them for not thinking ahead, and instead of campuses, just wouldn't
