

Most Men's Fashions Will Not Be Changing, But There Are Some --

THE SPIDER LOOK— Night time fashions call for the dressed-up look without heavy weight for hot summer nights. Note how the white boutonniere offsets the basic red shorts.

Seersucker Back In Jackets, Pants

Men's styles are not changing too much this spring, according to men's fashion publications, but you won't be able to recognize some of them.

Seersucker, with broader stripes and its use in slacks, jackets, shirts and walk-shorts, will be a good sign that you're in the swing in '63.

Shirts and jackets of glen-plaid are striking in black-and-white or brown-and-white combinations. They'll be available in cotton and polyester blends this season.

Natural tan in linen-like fabrics, to let you take the rough with the smooth in your sportswear this season, will be one of the most popular fabrics in crisply tailored jackets, slacks, sports shirts and walking-shorts.

East Indian Madras is the sign of spring again. The brilliant plaid is adding a colorful note to jackets, shirts and walk-shorts. This year it will come in bigger, bolder plaids and lighter backgrounds.

There should be a rash of denim, and denim-like sportswear in western style seen soon. The sport shirts and slacks made of this material, will be styled with the lean, narrow look.

THE SEERSUCKER LOOK— Day and date-time fashion demands call for good looks, slim styling and a dash of color. Wide stripe Seersucker University Sports Coat by H.I.S. is traditionally styled with three buttons and natural shoulder line.

'Stand Tall, Sit Tall'—

Clothes Should Blend With Good Posture

By JOHN LONNQUIST
Nebraskan Staff Writer

Mens' clothes are made to blend with good posture, according to Dr. Carl Wear, associate professor of physical education for men. Evidence of this, says Dr. Wear, is the fact that clothing advertisements, for both men and women, usually show the model in a position which is conducive to and indicative of good posture.

The old school, said Wear, used to advocate the maintaining of a good posture for the purpose of good health. They used to say that your internal organs functioned better if you had good posture. There is no scientific proof for this. Now, students are taught that there are two reasons why a person should have good posture. First, so that you will look better to other people, and second, so that you yourself will feel better.

Dr. Wear noted that there is no one good posture form for everyone. Each person has a best posture, but it is not the same for every individual. "There is no more of this 'chest out, chin in' kind of stuff," said Wear. "Now we tell people simply to stand tall and sit tall."

Mens' clothes allow for this "standing and sitting tall," according to Wear. The present men's fashions don't inhibit good posture, but in some cases, women's fashions are faulty in this respect. He noted that some evening gowns prohibit the wearer from sitting down at all. For relaxation, she must lean on something. Leaning is not conducive to good posture.

There are few cases where posture is influenced by the clothes that one wears, but clothes, following the present trend, are influenced by the posture of the individual.

Methods For Sweater Preservation Similar To Care Of Unkempt Dog

Before putting those winter sweaters into moth balls, now is the time to clean and prepare them for future wear.

As any college girl will agree, the proper care of sweaters is an important and time consuming part of the life of a coed. Sweaters must be cleaned, washed, blocked and, at times even shaved or brushed. Although some of these items sound like something one would ordinarily do to a dog, each is familiar to the girl with a sweater wardrobe.

Just as coeds have different preferences concerning their taste in sweaters, so do they differ in their methods of caring for the sweaters they like.

Since many coeds are on a limited budget, washing sweaters is often more popular than having them cleaned.

Some women, however, may be uncertain as to the best way to go about washing their sweaters. Many girls have even ruined a good sweater in a washing attempt. Following a few rules may eliminate some of the problems encountered.

First make sure the sweater is in good condition then draw an outline of it on a towel or heavy cardboard. Fill a sink with lukewarm water and add detergent or special sweater cleaner. Submerge sweater in the water and let it soak for 5-10 minutes. Check the sweater for an automatic cleaning establishment where the customer does his own clean-squeeze the garment gently. Then lay it on the outline and spread it out to the size it was before washing, and let it lay until dry.

Some coeds prefer not to wash at least some of their sweaters. The other alternative is to have sweaters cleaned. There are at least two ways to accomplish this.

The easiest way is to take the sweater to a regular cleaner, hand them over the counter and come back later and pick them up. However, there is another less expensive, though a little more complicated method.

Sweaters may be taken to an automatic cleaning and establishment where the customer does his own cleaning. At one of these places 8 pounds of sweaters, or other clothing, may be cleaned for $2. It may be possible to include up to nine or ten sweaters to obtain the 8 pounds. A customer need not have a full 8 pounds, but $2 is the minimum rate.

As with washing, this process is not complicated if a few steps are followed.

Mrs. E. A. Daily, who is employed by a local laundry and dry cleaners, outlined the steps that are followed at one of these cleaners.

"First we treat the spots and stains with a spot remover so they will come out in the cleaning," Mrs. Daily said.

"Next the sweaters are turned wrong side out or put in nylon mesh bags to prevent balling or matting during the cleaning process. If the sweater should get balls on the surface, it may be shaved carefully with an electric razor or a blade razor. It might also be brushed," explained Mrs. Daily.

When sweaters are placed in the cleaning machines, they should be separated as to color so as to prevent the transfer of lint from one color to another. They may be removed in 50-55 minutes.

Mrs. Daily added, "We always remove sweaters immediately after the cleaning process while they are still warm. Then we fold them over a hanger, or hang them on a hanger to prevent wrinkling."

Whether sweaters are cleaned or washed, it is important to do it as often as needed. There is no set time schedule to be followed, but common sense may be used, and when a sweater gets dirty, it should be cleaned before it is worn again. Sweaters will last much longer if they are given proper care.
