

Inside Track

It will be a hard push all the way if Nebraska's track team comes home with the Big Eight Outdoor crown. However, it can be done — with a full team effort and superb individual performances.

Sophomore Kent McCloughan is making the trip to Manhattan despite a sprained ankle. This in itself may boost the team spirit which is already quite high. Kent said he would run, but his ankle will be taped and possibly frozen to prevent any pain while competing.

There has been quite a bit of pessimism in the other Nebraska newspapers about the conference tilt. Most of this has come about because of the Husker losses to Colorado and Missouri the last two weekends.

These losses were not considered demoralizing by the team members though. Most of the members said the meets were good warmups for the conference. Coach Frank Sevigne did some experimenting at the Missouri-Nebraska dual to test the Husker weak and strong points.

One of the top events at Manhattan will be the mile run which features Husker co-captain Mike Fleming, Pat McNeal of Kansas State, Bob Griffith of Colorado and Nebraska's Ray Stevens. Of course these four will not be the only entries, but are considered by most as the top.

Fleming is shooting for a four-minute mile which is also the goal of McNeal. The Wildcat distance runner has a 4:05 to his credit this year. McNeal ran in the open mile at Drake and had a clocking of around 4:09 run in the mud. This year both Fleming and Stevens have times of near 4:13.

Husker Ray Knaub could be a double winner by taking the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Ray said about a week and a half ago that he intends to be at his peak this weekend. Last week he ran :09.6 and :21.3, but both were running into the wind. He has a :09.5 and :21.0 which are his best times this year. If the day is good and Ray gets out of the blocks well he could register a :09.4 in the century and dip considerably under :21.0 in the 220.

My apologies to Jack Cramer and Harry Krebs for inadvertently omitting their names from the Thursday story. It read something like "Two Husker high jump entries could place in the event. Both have cleared 6-4 1/2." However, the two entries were never named. Sophomore Cramer has shown much improvement during the season and by next year could be a consistent 6-6 jumper.

The contest this weekend will not be easy by any means. But there is not the push to win the outdoor title like there is for the indoor crown. The outdoor championship is considered anticlimactic by quite a number of the schools — especially after a victorious indoor campaign.

Besides a victory for Nebraska there's only one thing I want this weekend. Good weather because I don't want another Drake Relays. Rain is fine — for ducks.

Hinman To Head Touchdown Club

York Hinman of North Platte has been elected president of the Nebraska Touchdown Club, succeeding Jack Beachler of Grand Island.

Other officers elected at the annual meeting are Clarence Mitchell of Lincoln, vice president; Willard (Bud) Anderson of Holdrege, secretary; and Emmett Junge of Lincoln, treasurer.

Newly elected board members who will serve three-year terms are Dick Joyce, Lincoln; Jim Nickel, Fullerton; Bus Whitehead, Lincoln; Dr. George A. Racely, Valentine; Dave Bernstein, Omaha.

During the 1961-62 year the Touchdown Club contributed $25,000 to Nebraska athletics. Beachler presented the check to Athletic Director Tippy Dye at the annual meeting.

1. I'll tell you what you have to look for in a job. You have to look for fringe benefits. That's the big thing today.
Yes—the big thing.

2. You have to consider your needs. You're going to get married some day, aren't you? Then you need life and accident insurance.
Go on—go on—

3. You're going to have kids—so you'll want maternity benefits. I'd like lots of children.

4. And what about medical bills? That's something every big family has to think about. You need a good major medical plan that covers almost everything. You're right—you're right!

5. And you're not going to want to work all your life, are you? You're going to want to take it easy—you know, travel around, live it up. So you need a retirement plan that guarantees you plenty of dough. I can see it now.

6. That's why I say you have to look at the fringe benefits when you look for a job. But don't you also have to look for interesting work, good income, the chance for advancement?
7. You sure do. That's why I'm going to work for Equitable. You get all those job advantages—and all the fringe benefits, too. I admire your thinking.

Huge Cited For Top NU Athlete

Jim Huge is the third athlete to be nominated for the Daily Nebraskan Outstanding Varsity Athlete of the Year Award.

The letter nominating Huge stated that the Nebraska senior starred not only in football but did a creditable job for Coach Jerry Bush's basketball team even though he missed early cage drills due to his football competition.

Huge played right end for the Husker football squad which finished with a 9-2 record including a post-season Gotham Bowl victory.

In basketball Huge played guard for two seasons and the letter pointed out that even though Jim's "offensive ability was not tops in this day of racehorse basketball, he contributed greatly with his play-making, defense and hustle.

"But football was the sport Huge excelled in," the letter said. "After being an All-State halfback in high school, Huge made a successful transition to end under the Jennings regime and guided the Huskers with his hustle, spirit, pass-catching ability and improved defensive play in his two seasons of regular play."

Huge was on the second team of the All-Big 8 team in last fall's polls.

The letter pointed out that Huge not only found time for athletics, but also contributed to the University by participating in campus activities. Huge was a member of Innocent's Society, president of N-Club and many other campus organizations.

He was selected as the Outstanding Nebraskan last spring by the Daily Nebraskan.

—Star of the Week— Frosh Q-Back Leads Whites To Near Upset

By MICK ROOD
Staff Sports Writer

Fred Duda, freshman quarterback who has led White team efforts in Husker spring drills, is the Daily Nebraskan Star of the Week.

Duda, along with Lincolnite Dave Lebsack, led Nebraska's freshman team to an undefeated season last fall. He has since risen to the number two quarterback position during the spring trials.

Displaying an impressive array of passing and running, Duda led the White team to one victory and several near-wins against the Red squad headed by Dennis Claridge and his crew.

Duda, who hails from Weber High School in Chicago, led his prep team to an undefeated season and the city championship. He was accorded All-City and special mention All-State honors in his senior year.

Duda appears to take to Coach Bob Devaney's offense. "My high school team used an unbalanced line and the double wing that used a lot of options and bootlegs just like Nebraska's system does."

Duda commented that he likes to run and didn't throw much in high school.

That might be deceiving because with the exception of the final Red-White clash, the blond 185-pounder has tossed at least one touchdown pass in the major scrimmages.

Commenting on next year, Duda said, "The second team has really come around and should give us the depth we need. We'll give a tough team like Oklahoma a better game than last year, I think."

Husker fans may enjoy watching the Chicagoan spell Dennis Claridge next year. It shouldn't be too much of a letdown at all.
