

Big Eight Teams Find Opening Tests Difficult

By LARRY ASMAN
Staff Sports Writer

Other Big Eight teams opened about as expected except for Kansas State, which posted a 24 to 7 victory over favored Brigham Young. Missouri, playing without star halfback John Roland, who was suspended from the spring, fell to Big Ten favorite Northwestern 23 to 12, and Kansas again opened with a loss to Texas Christian (10 to 6).

Conference favorite Oklahoma came from behind to subdue Atlantic Coast Conference favorite Clemson 31 to 14. California bested Iowa State 15 to 8, while Colorado and Oklahoma State, both opening under new coaches, were shut out. Southern California beat Colorado 14 to 0, and Arkansas spilled the Cowpokes 21 to 0.

Missouri, which lost only one game of 11 last year and was the only team of five to defeat a Southeastern Conference team (Georgia Tech) in a bowl game, could not contain the pinpoint passing of Northwestern's Tommy Myers in the season opener for both teams.

Myers' passing accounted for a whopping 209 yards as he passed for one touchdown and set up the other two for fullback Steve Murphy. Myers completed 10 of 16 for the Big Ten favorites as Northwestern's total yardage more than doubled Missouri's (352 to 173).

Underdog Missouri jumped to a 6 to 0 lead early in the first quarter, but Northwestern pulled ahead for keeps later in the period with a recovered fumble on the Tiger 23 which set up a Steve Murphy touchdown plunge and Peter Stamison conversion.

Kansas led Texas Christian 6 to 0 at halftime but was outscored 10 to 0 in the second half.

Omaha's Gale Sayers, now a junior at KU, executed several electrifying runs, including a 36-yard punt return and a 47-yard dash that was nullified by a penalty. The latter occurred near the end of the game with the Jayhawks battling fiercely for a second touchdown.

TCU, darkhorse of the Southwestern Conference, now has three straight victories over Kansas and a series record of 15 wins, 3 losses, and 3 ties.

Big Eight favorite Oklahoma came from behind with 17 points in the third period and seven more in the fourth to defeat Atlantic Coast Conference favorite Clemson 31 to 14.

The Sooners had set Clemson up late in the first quarter on their own 17 and early in the second period on their own 18. Clemson scored twice in two minutes and only star fullback Jim Grisham's 26-yard touchdown run in the first half kept Oklahoma in contention.

Oklahoma completed only one pass to Clemson's 13 and trailed in first downs 14 to 8 in the contest witnessed by a capacity crowd of 62,000 at Norman.

Iowa State led 5 to 0 at halftime but lost by a total of 14-8. Dave Limerick, senior from Sioux City, kicked his first two Cyclone field goals in three years of play. State scored its safety when a pass from California center Tom Brown sailed over punter Tom Blanchfield's head and out of the end zone.

Cal quarterback Craig Morton, highly touted as one of the West's best, was overshadowed by Iowa State's sophomore Ken Bunte in the first half before throwing the tiebreaking touchdown pass to Loren Hawley in the fourth period. Hawley got behind the Cyclone defenders, snared the aerial at the 37 yard line, and scooted untouched for the touchdown.

Defending National champion Southern California had to settle for a 14 to 0 win over Colorado, which beat only Kansas State in the Big Eight last year. Opening with their third coach in as many years (Eddie Crowder this year), the Buffaloes did considerably better than expected even though they failed to score. USC was hampered with penalty yardage of 107 yards.

Hampered by a slippery ball, Trojan quarterback Pete Beathard completed only 6 passes in 22 attempts. His running was considerably better as he scored both touchdowns on five-yard runs.

Colorado completed no passes (only one attempt) and fumbled six times to the tenacious USC defense.

Arkansas, ranked 8th nationally in preseason polls, shut out Oklahoma State, under new coach Phil Cutchin, 21 to 0 at Little Rock. The Razorbacks led 14 to 0 at the quarter and were never threatened with a serious OSU attack. Arkansas' total yardage was 403 vs. only 187 for the Cowboys.

Arkansas QB Billy Gray threw a touchdown pass and completed 6 of 10 passes for 115 yards. Sophomore quarterback Jon Brittenum also threw a touchdown pass in the third period, with Tom McNeely kicking all three extra points.

Spurred offensively by the running of sophomore Ron Barlow and Bob Sjogren and the passing of quarterback Larry Corrigan, Kansas State held Brigham Young scoreless until the final four seconds of the game.

The Wildcats led 10 to 0 at halftime on a Corrigan touchdown pass to Doug Dusenbury, Jerry Cook conversion, and Cook field goal. Corrigan ran for a touchdown, as did Sjogren, to complete the Wildcat scoring in the fourth period.

Barlow, a 229 pound halfback, ran for 71 yards in 15 carries in leading Kansas State to a rushing lead of 253 yards to 87 for BYU.

In the balloting of Big Eight sportswriters for the conference football winner (the scribes have missed the last three years), sports editor Ernie Mehl of the Kansas City Star (circ. 37,000) surprised everyone by picking Kansas State, which had lost 18 straight. It's pretty early to tell, but maybe Mehl knows something...

Air Force Wins, 10-7

The Air Force Academy, who come to Lincoln on October 12th (Band Day) to play Nebraska, stunned the powerful University of Washington Huskies 10 to 7 Saturday.

An inspired last-quarter attack by the Falcons turned a dull game into a thriller in the nationally televised contest. After driving to the Air Force 9 yard line, Washington lost the ball on downs, and Air Force began a 91 yard drive for the winning touchdown.

Quarterback Terry Isaacson, a comparative football midget at 5' 10" and 175 pounds, moved Air Force to the Washington 7 yard line on seven passes before faking a pass and running off the touchdown himself with only 1:34 left.

The Falcons drew first blood with a 25-yard first-quarter field goal by Bart Holiday. Washington scored later in the period when halfback Steve Bramwell ran back a punt 90 yards for a touchdown.

Talent Mart To Hold Union Music Tryouts

Auditions for the Union Music Committee's Talent Mart will be held Oct. 1 and 2 at 7 p.m. to see what each group or individual does.

A list of talented students on the University campus who are willing to perform for civic groups throughout the year will be composed and sent to civic and social organizations and churches in Lincoln, to the Board of Regents, and to alumni boards who request them.

These lists will also be available to anyone who calls, such as high school prom chairmen, and will have wide distribution.

Interested individuals and groups may fill out an audition sheet which will be available in the Union program office Sept. 25. Combos need not try out, but should tell what kind of music they play.

Auditions are open to faculty members who would like to tell about their trips abroad and to foreign students who can lecture on their own country.

The committee will not recommend any group they have not heard and that has not been judged by the judges from the music and speech departments, members of the committees (and radio or television personnel).

There is no charge for the service, and no limits on the number or age of the members of the group will be made, although the auditions should not exceed ten minutes.

The brochure is scheduled to be complete by Homecoming.

Radio, TV Grant To Be Awarded

A permanent scholarship for students in radio and television has been established at the University in memory of a native Ainsworth resident, announced Herb Potter, assistant treasurer of the Nebraska Foundation.

"The Norris Heineman Memorial Scholarship," was established through the University of Nebraska Foundation and will be financed by a $2,000 gift from Mrs. Amanda B. Heineman of Ainsworth and Edward Heineman Jr., of Kent, Wash., mother and brother of the University graduate who died in July, 1956.

Since 1957, Mrs. Heineman contributed $50 toward a similar scholarship on a year-to-year basis.

The late Norris Heineman received a bachelor's degree in 1953 from the University and a master of science degree in 1954 from Syracuse University where he studied as a Seacrest Scholarship winner. From 1954 to the time of his death, he was a staff member of the University Educational Television Station KUON-TV.

Seating Study Results Ready

Besides the engineering problems, Nebraska must consider the cost and how such an expansion would be paid for. University officials suggested that issuance of revenue bonds is the most likely possibility. These would be paid off over a period of years from athletic department income.

Ticket prices could be raised, although student ticket rates were raised this year while adult tickets have cost $4 for four years. According to Pittenger, all Big Eight schools charge $4 except for Oklahoma which charges more for the Texas and Notre Dame games at Norman $4.50 or $5).

Most Big 10 schools charge $5 for home games and are certainly not suffering in attendance from such a price.

If the Regents fail to publicly inspect the stadium expansion study today, there is a good chance for another meeting in a few weeks. The board meets about once a month during the school year.
