AN UNDERESTIMATE of 900 of the number of students who would buy Cornhusker football tickets for this season caused the ticket office to put this excess number in the bleacher section. Student Council referred the problem to a committee and a special meeting was called for Thursday night.

UNFAIR BUSINESS PRACTICES were said to be the biggest problem of many facing the Fraternity Management Association (FMA) by Grant Gregory, chairman of the group. It joins fraternities together as a cooperative bargaining unit. "A downward price spiral caused by some local businesses will either force current suppliers out of existing bidding practices or the houses will see the benefit of FMA and support it," said Gregory.

OVER 100 STUDENTS attended the organizational meeting of Nebraska Youth for Goldwater and heard a tape recording of a speech by Barry Goldwater. The group has applied to the Student Council for recognition as a University activity.

SHUTTLE BUS SERVICE between the University's Ag and City campuses was termed a success by Carl Donaldson, University business manager. Almost 4,000 passengers used the service during the first week of operation.

CITY

THREE MEN STAGED a midday armed robbery of the Safeway store at 1275 S. Cotner Blvd. and got away with $2,000 in cash. Approximately 30-40 customers and eight employees were in the store at the time. The trio escaped from the robbery in a car believed to have been stolen previously from a parking lot of a bowling alley and shopping center on North Cotner.

LINCOLN CITY COUNCIL enacted an ordinance for the control of the Dutch elm disease in trees on both public and private property. It provides that the city may inspect and order laboratory examination in detecting diseased trees. If a diseased tree is on private property, the owner must remove and burn the tree. If on public property, the city must remove it within five days.

TWO MISSOURI MEN were found guilty by Lancaster District Court jury of obtaining money by false pretenses. They were charged with a fraudulent termite extermination business. The attorney for the two men argued that they did not receive money from two parties, as the state alleged, but that they obtained only personal checks from them and actually received the money from the bank.

STATE

POLICE MAINTAINED A BARRICADE around the Bible Baptist Church in Columbus which was the scene of two successive nights of demonstrations this week. Crowds, mostly of teenagers, milled around the church, whose pastor was charged with child stealing in a case involving a family in his congregation.

TESTIMONY IN THE LEGISLATIVE reapportionment lawsuit was completed in one day after heavy emphasis was placed on state and constitutional questions. A decision from the three-judge federal tribunal will be forthcoming after a five week period during which time final briefs and arguments and defense replies will be presented.

SEN. MICHAEL RUSSELL of Omaha, chairman of the special credit finance legislative committee has been offered an executive position with the Nebraska Consumer Credit Association. He said that he would make a decision following adjournment of the special legislative session. Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said that Russell ought to make some statement to clear the record before the committee meets next week. "If he is going to accept it, it seems he will be in no position to be prejudiced in continuing as chairman of the special committee," the lawmaker said.

Council Committee Approves Rotation System In Stadium

★ ★ ★ ★ NU Fraternity Pledges Trade Football Tickets

Three fraternity pledge classes have voted to trade tickets with three of the houses who drew in the lottery to sit in the bleacher section.

The Acacia pledge class voted Thursday evening to give about 15 stadium tickets for the Iowa State game to the Pi Beta Phi seniors. Instead of sitting with the Acacia block on the 40 yard line the Acacia pledges will sit in the Pi Phi block in the Knothole section. According to Janet Luschen, Pi Phi president, "We seniors are indeed grateful to the Acacia pledge class. Their offer is very generous."

A similar feat is being sponsored by the Delta Upsilon pledge class. About 19 of their stadium seats are being given to the members of Chi Phi fraternity for the football game Saturday. There are enough tickets so both active and pledges may use the Delta Upsilon seats on the 30 to 40 yard line. Clarke Stuckley, Chi Phi social chairman, said he was thrilled when he accepted the offer.

Triangle fraternity will sit in the grandstand at the Iowa State game due to the action to four pledge classes. Pledges of Alpha Xi Delta, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Gamma and Theta Xi are trading a total of 54 seats with Triangle fraternity. All of this Greek action

Morgan Gives Organ Recital

Conrad Morgan, Assistant Professor of Organ, will be featured in a Faculty Recital Sunday, Oct. 6, 4 p.m. at the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Morgan is new to the University this fall. He is presently the temporary head of the organ department of the University's School of Music. Morgan received his Bachelor of Music at Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas. He also has a year of study to his credit at the Academy of Music in Vienna, Austria.

Morgan will present several contemporary numbers and two selections from Bach—"From the Depths I Call to Thee" and "Fantasia in G Minor". This will be the first Faculty Recital of the Department of Music for the 1963-64 season.

Innocents Push Beanie Bandwagon

BEANIES AGAIN — Members of Innocents are renewing a drive to sell freshman caps. The drive was kicked off when G. Robert Ross, Dean of Student Affairs, bought one two weeks ago. Here Innocents President Bill Buckley and Pete Sommerhauser help Miss Rush Week, Candy Wheeler, select the right size beanie.

A much quieter student group gathered last night for consideration of the football seating problem by the Student Council Welfare committee than yesterday invaded Student Council.

Over 130 students were present, many of the same ones that had been ready for battle the day before, to try to work out a solution to the problem. The committee and Council officers had already spent many hours poring over the situation.

A plan to rotate students sitting in the bleachers was presented, whereby each of about 500 students would sit in the bleachers once but would have stadium seats for the rest of the games.

Dennis Christie, Council president, pointed out that the problem exists—there is no way to get more tickets. Someone is going to have to sacrifice somewhere; someone is going to have to sit in the bleachers.

"The success of this plan lies in complete student cooperation," said the president. "We will try to take 900-1000 students in one block out of the stadium each week, place them in the bleachers and allow those who now have tickets in the bleachers to take the stadium seats."

If there is not complete student cooperation, the committee will consider a plan whereby those that will cooperate will trade tickets with the bleachers. However, Christie pointed out that this will require much more work and that the first plan would be much more efficient.

Any group that gave up their seats for one game would be guaranteed their original seats for the rest of the games.

Concern was expressed that this plan might become a tradition and be followed every year.

"I personally guarantee that this would not be used in the future," said James H. Pittenger, athletic tickets director. Christie backed the guarantee with his support.

The committee and Student Council recognize that the mechanics of this plan will be complicated and require absolute organization but have agreed to take on this organization. Pittenger promised full support and cooperation from the ticket office.

The committee will begin work on the mechanics today, enlisting the help of Interfraternity Council (IFC), Panhellenic, Independent Women's Association (IWA), Residence Association for Men (RAM), Women's Residence Association (WRA) and other groups.

Organizational plans will be published as they become available in future issues of the Daily Nebraskan.

One of the big problems Council faces is knowing exactly who it is that has the seats in the bleachers. The tickets that were sold individually rather than in blocks will present the largest obstacle.

The ticket office has no record of who bought the tickets. Council knows of the following groups sitting in the bleachers: Brown Palace, Alpha Omicron Pi, Triangle, Chi Phi, Pioneer House, Burr Hall, pharmacy college, married students and parts of Cather and Pound Halls.

Anyone else having these tickets is requested to call or stop in the Student Council office, room 230 in the Union, and leave their name by Monday, according to Christie. This will enable Council to include them in the rotation plan where they might otherwise have to be omitted.

The bleacherites will sit in the reserved student bleachers for the Iowa State game tomorrow and the rotation plan will begin after that.

Under this plan they will be made non-voting members of these committees and of council, who contribute ideas and thinking to the work.

Korff will serve as chairman of the associates and associate chairmen will be chosen through the interviews. Each associate chairman will be under the direction of the corresponding Student Council chairman and will relay all messages and duties to associates placed under him.

A secretary will be selected by the associates at the first regular associate meeting to keep minutes and handle necessary correspondence for the associates.

Interviews will be held Oct. 11, 12 and 13 in the Student Council office. All living units will be notified as to the exact time of interviews.

Mass associate meetings will be held the first and third Tuesdays of each month at 7 p.m. Attendance will be required at the mass meetings and associates will also be required to attend two regularly scheduled Council meetings per month and encouraged to attend all Council meetings.

University of Nebraska student leaders and officials, together with city officials, are attempting to work out plans which may improve serious pedestrian and auto traffic problems on 14th and 16th streets through the University campus.

The possibilities of establishing a scatter light system at 14th and S streets, where the most dense and sustaining pedestrian traffic is involved, are being studied by City Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger and NU Business Manager Carl Donaldson and the Student Council at the University.

The scatter light system would stop all auto traffic from all directions for pedestrians for a definite period. Pedestrians would proceed across the intersection, and Mr. Donaldson believes this might improve the present serious bottle-neck at 14th and S streets.

"The present traffic light situation is not good," said Donaldson. "We believe, if funds can be found for putting up a scatter light system, the situation might be improved and would not seriously handicap automobile traffic at that intersection."

In addition to the situation at 14th and S, study is being given to the traffic situation on 16th street. Holsinger and Donaldson plan to meet with Mayor Petersen to discuss the costs and other factors involved before any final decisions are reached.

Applications are due today for an Engineering and Architecture representative for Student Council. Interviews will be Wednesday, Oct. 9, before Student Council. Students in Engineering and Architecture may pick up applications in the Student Council office, 230 Student Union.

Madrigals Select 33 Freshmen

Thirty-three University of Nebraska freshmen have been chosen for membership in Madrigal Singers, a select vocal group directed by John Moran, assistant professor of music.

This year, in addition to two regular concerts and several public programs at Christmas time, the singers will perform in the University Theater production of "The Music Man."

The new members of Madrigals are: Sopranos—Jean Edwards, Alpha Gilmore, Connie Kettelhut, Jayhanna McCreary, Diane Weimer, Betty Neihaus, Sandra Polhemus, and Kathy Roehrkasse.

Altos — Barbara Berney, Terri Billard, Linda Chatfield, Nancy Ryder, Judy Fuhrman, Karen Gepford, Pam Hawk, and Mary Kay Kirshman.

Tenors — Bruce Anderson, Tim Baller, Kenny Grand, Roger Brood, Bob Frakes, John Fritz, Gary Lamb, and Bill Logan.

Basses — Art Abele, Phil Broadman, Larry Fiehn, Dennis Koz, Harold Moessner, Steve Marshall, Dick O'Gara, and John Wood.

Loretta Tubbs is accompanist.

Graham Chosen As Head Of Newest Ag Department

The newest department at the College of Agriculture, the Department of Information also has a new Director, Ralston Graham.

The department was formed in 1955 as a result of several mergers and consolidations from other Ag college departments.

George Round, now Director of University of Nebraska public relations, was responsible for the formation of the department and served as its first director.

A University alumnus, Graham worked on the editorial staffs of the Lincoln Journal and the Scottsbluff Star-Herald, and was managing editor of the Mineral Wells, Tex., Index, before joining the University staff in 1947 as Experiment Station Editor, a position he still holds.

At the University he received the academic rank of professor in 1960 and serves as a lecturer in journalism.

The department serves as the information-dispensing unit of the Ag college, the Nebraska state extension service, and the state experiment stations.

Separated into 5 divisions, the department edited, printed and distributed over 2,000,000 publications in 1962.

The five sections and the professional staff members are: Press—Dan Lutz and Grant Johnson; Publications—Phil Holman and DeLoris Clouse (artist); Radio and Television—Dwain Trenkle and Mrs. Evalyn Vaughan (also Home Ed editor); Visual Aids—Lloyd Peterson and Jack McAllister (artist); Supervisor of Duplication and Distribution—Wendell Carpenter.

MB's Mums On Sale Now

For the next three weeks the Mortar Boards will be holding their annual Homecoming mum sale drive. This year the sales goal is the highest ever — 2500.

The mums are large white flowers with large "N's" on them, and they sell for one dollar each.

In the past many mums have been sold to men who gave them to their dates for the game, and sororities have established the custom of having mothers and daughters exchange them.

The mums will be delivered to living units and to the Union on Saturday morning, Oct. 26.

Kernals Practice For Iowa Game

Kernals are expected to be in their assigned seats at 1 p.m. before the Iowa State game this Saturday for a card section practice.

They should be in complete uniform. If a Kernal is unable to attend, he should send a substitute in uniform.

All students in the card section are asked to attend this first practice.

Student Council Associate's Set-Up Allows For Presentation Of Views

The Student Council Wednesday passed a plan for Student Council Associates presented by Glenn Korff, Associate Chairman.

The new plan gives associates the opportunity to present their views through Korff. He will present motions that they make and then yield the floor to associate representatives.

Any regularly enrolled freshman or sophomore student who meets the general requirements of the Division of Student Affairs is eligible. Living units will send a certain number of students, the number being set by a formula devised by the Associates committee, to appear for interviews. Associates will then be chosen with regard to interest in, and willingness to work for Student Council. Lincoln independents may sign up in the Student Union for interviews.

"Student Council associates should not be merely 'leg-men' or secretaries for the committees," Korff pointed

IFC Names Schwenke Rush Head

The Interfraternity Council began organizing its 1964 rush program at its meeting Wednesday night. The selection of Tom Schwenke as Rush Committee Chairman and Arnie Garson as Rush Book Editor initiated the program designed to sell the merits and ideals of Fraternity to more rushees.

Garson, a senior Journalism major, proposed several changes in the rush book. Among them, were a pictorial cover and more informal fraternity pictures. "The 1963 Rush Book was a very fine book, and therefore only minor changes will be necessary," he commented.

Schwenke, a junior and past member of the Rush Committee, presented a six point program designed to improve the rush program and attract more high quality men to the fraternity system.

In other business, the group referred to committee a motion presented by Dick Weill, Sigma Alpha Mu, to work out a system whereby members of Chi Phi and Triangle fraternities would not have to sit in the bleachers for the remainder of the Football Season.

Weill suggested that a lottery system be instituted so that a different house would assume the bleacher seats for each game.

The Affairs Committee will make a report on the situation next week.

Applications Due To Fill Vacancy

Applications are due today for an Engineering and Architecture representative for Student Council. Interviews will be Wednesday, Oct. 9, before Student Council. Students in Engineering and Architecture may pick up applications in the Student Council office, 230 Student Union.
