TOP-LEVEL SCRUTINY—Head Coach Bob Devaney oversees from the sidelines Wednesday at the Husker camp.

NU Camp Eyes Isaacson Passes; Mira Is Similar

Terry Isaacson of the Air Force means pass defense to Nebraska's footballers in preparation for the Falcon game this Saturday. Coach Bob Devaney sent the players through their longest scrimmage Tuesday and the pace slowed little on Wednesday. The emphasis was on defense of Isaacson's well-known passing plays and a Husker weakness of note so far, punt returns and protection. Devaney put Isaacson in a class with Miami's George Mira who last year sprinkled the Scarlet defense with complete passes in the Gotham Bowl. "Isaacson maneuvers well and how we contain him could decide the game." Devaney remarked. Nebraska's genial mentor also had good words for the Falcon defense which has limited enemy offenses to not one touchdown from a drive. Washington ran a kick-off back and Southern Methodist scored on an intercepted pass. The Air Force can also call on capable ends that may put much pressure on the Husker end corps, Larry Tomlinson, Tony Jeter and Chuck Doepke. Dick Callahan, playing in the secondary, pleased Devaney last week with excellent pass coverage against Iowa State. Callahan has the best memory of little Jerry Pelletier scooting behind him or a scoring pass at Minneapolis. Devaney's defensive lineup has apparently jelled with Jeter, Lloyd Voss, Ron Michka, Larry Kramer, and Larry Tomlinson in the front line, Bob Brown and John Kirby as linebackers, Callahan and Dave Theisen at the corner spots with Bob Hohn and Kent McCloughan deep at safety positions. The Huskers should be in good physical shape for Saturday's Band Day battle with the Falcons. John Dervin, who suffered a leg injury in the Iowa State game, is expected to be ready for full-speed duty by Saturday.

CORGAN ENCOURAGEMENT—Husker offensive backfield coach Mike Corgan gives players gentle encouragement yesterday in preparation for the Air Force.

NU Alley Squad Is Top Team

Nebraska goes into its next match in the newly-formed Kansas - Nebraska Bowling Conference tied for the league lead. Nebraska and Kansas University each have 7 and 5 records after the first matches last Saturday. Wichita and Kansas State trail with 5 and 7 records.

Nebraska's next match is here at the Union lanes on Saturday, October 19, against the other three conference schools.

Nebraska's big victory was a 4 to 0 sweep of Wichita. Nebraska had a 1017 second game and 2948 team series, both league highs so far.

Nebraska won the first two games against Kansas State but lost the third 968 to 845 and total series 2709 to 2-75. The only win over Kansas was with a 985 team game. Phil Schenck led the Huskers that game with a 226, with Bob Gant and Ralph DeLong chipping in a 203 and 202.

Morey, DeLong, and Van Kelkinburgh were all over 600 for the Wichita series, with scores of 655, 604, and 616 respectively.

Nebraska's best game was a 246 by Morey in the first game against Wichita. Gant shot a 231 in the opener against Kansas State.

Second Win Golfers' Goal

Golf Coach Harry Good's team looks for its second victory over Creighton University this fall on October 15, 1:00 p.m., at Pioneer golf course in Lincoln.

The Huskers trimmed the Jays last Thursday at Miracle Hills in Omaha by 11 1/2 to 3 1/2. Bob Korba of Nebraska was the medalist with a 74 while defeating Tom Smith of Creighton by six strokes.

"We have a tougher schedule coming up, but we will be strengthened by the return of Tom Thompson, our number two man," Coach Good commented.

Thompson, who suffered a broken finger, just had the splint removed and should see action next week.

Tom Schuchart of Creighton recorded the Jay's only victory last week with a 76 to Husker Frank Schreiner's 80 in the closest match of the day.

Nebraskans Bob Saffer, Ken Sedden, and Mike Zmarzly all whipped their Omaha opponents by five strokes or more.

Nebraska Statistics Dominance Continues, Claridge, Ross Lead

Nebraska's Cornhuskers, who maintained their number ten rating in the UPI poll this week, improved their team marks in national football statistics.

The Huskers now rank third in rushing offense behind West Texas State and Syracuse. Scarlet defense, though, remained the most prominent. Nebraska rushing defense places sixth while total defense ranks fourth in the land behind Harvard, Princeton, and Georgia Tech.

Nebraska retained its lead in three of four major team statistical divisions in the Big Eight Conference this past week, but gave way to Kansas in passing offense.

The Huskers have totaled 1,044 yards over-all averaging 348 yards through three games and have limited their foes to 397, or 132.3 yards per contest, in showing their heels to the rest of the Conference in the goal offense and defense departments.

On the ground, Nebraska is averaging 269 yards through its first three outings — better than the mark of the four Big Eight Conference teams which placed among the top ten in the nation in rushing offense a year ago.

Kansas, however, passed up

Intramurals New

A new and corrected intramural football schedule is now posted on the bulletin board in the Men's Physical Education Building.

The Beta Theta Pi-B score was omitted in yesterday's paper. The correct score was Beta Theta Pi-B 45, Phi Kappa Psi-B 0.

Intramural Results:
Phi Delta Theta-A 19 Alpha
Tau Omega-A 12
Beta Theta Pi-A 19 Phi Kappa Psi-A 11
Sigma Alpha Epsilon-A 15
Sigma Chi-A 38 Phi Gamma Delta-A 18
Twin Towers 3rd floor 12
Twin Towers 6th floor 6
Twin Towers 9th 1 (Forfeit)
Twin Towers 10th 0

Today's Schedule:
Ag Field: East: Chi Phi vs. Phi Kappa Psi
Center: Benton vs. Bossey
West: Seaton 1 vs. Selleck lie Ross of Nebraska has thrown the Big Eight Conference individual rushing race into a three-way run.

Kansas' Gale Sayers and Iowa State's Tom Vaughn turned in identical rushing marks for the week—70 yards on 13 carries — to retain No. 1 and 2 ranking in the Conference, but Ross came up with 95 yards in his team's 21-7 win over Iowa State to move past idle Jim Grisham of Oklahoma for the third spot and provide indication of a three-way race developing for Conference rushing honors.

Sayers' league-leading total is 260 yards on 42 carries for a 6.2 average. Vaughn stands second with 226 yards and 4.6 standard and Ross is third with 222 and the league's best average of 6.7.

That 222-yard total posted by Ross is more than half his 431-production which led all Nebraska ball-carriers a year ago. Ross played but spring-ly in Nebraska's 1963 opener, then moved into contention for the league rushing lead with a 91-yard effort against Minnesota, a team which last year limited nine foes to a $2.2 rushing average to lead the nation in that department.

Three Colorado ball-carriers contributed better single-day performances than any of the three leaders to effect shakeups in other top spots in the rushing department. Bill Harris ran for 103 yards against Kansas State to move into the No. 4 spot with a 193-yard total; the Buff's Larry Portis picked up 101 against the Wildcats to rank fifth with 168 and Milton Noble with 86 moved into No. 8 with 143. Not a single Buffalo had been ranked previously.

Nebraska quarterback Dennis Claridge retained his lead on total offense with a 327-yard total, compared to the 285-yard total of Kansas Quarterback Steve Renko, but Renko moved into the passing lead by a scant three-yard margin.

Rood Awakening—

By Mick Rood Sports Editor

Minnesota's Gophers had several motives to want a victory over Nebraska. They were a young team but they had rich defensive tradition to live up to. They are just the right age to remember four Huskers that might have donned the Gophers uniform at that game. These two incentives spurred Minnesota to near victory two weeks ago. Just last Saturday, Iowa State, also playing the underdog role, wanted to show Husker fans why the Nebraska-Iowa State game has become one of the league's most contested rivalries in recent years. The Cyclones nursed a memory of Nebraska's 28 to 0 halftime lead last year. They were worn down in the second half but press boxes around the country must have dropped a microphone or two when they heard the halftime tally—7 to 7.

And now, the Air Force. Will the Huskers be the team that is "up" for this game, or will they again rely on superior depth and ability in the second half?

Nebraska's new role as superior and awesome ensemble is indeed an unaccustomed experience. The Huskers of the fifties were teams that played the opposite role. Football giants Oklahoma, Army, Texas, and Penn State fell to weaker but fired-up Nebraska teams. Now, all is changed... the pigskin is in the other hand.

The Scarlet banner is up for recent exposure and lesser powers are after their chance to prove a legal point—that the Huskers can be beaten. The largest Coliseum crowd since 1955 Texas A&M loss will serve as the jury in this case. Nebraska's case will have to be air tight against Terry Isaacson and his mates. The main point is, will Nebraska prosecute or take the defensive on Saturday's day in court? Will Nebraska take the initiative or rest their case until the second half?

On prediction, the World Series was a blank, but football shots near the 75 per cent mark this season. So again I shall walk the narrow line: Nebraska to give Isaacson one score, 20 to 6; Oklahoma 14 to 6 over Texas; Missouri rambling past Kansas State by 15; Northwestern not so easy over Minnesota by 7; Colorado to new heights by three over Oklahoma State; Kansas by Sayers over Iowa State; Penn State over Army; Duke over California; Clemson by one over Georgia; Georgia Tech returns to form over Tennessee; Ohio State edging by upstart Illinois; Iowa surging past Indiana; LSU by ten or more over Miami; Maryland to surprise North Carolina; Michigan State by eight over Michigan; Navy past SMU; Southern Cal over Notre Dame; Wisconsin pushing past Purdue; Stanford with new power over Rice; UCLA in upset of the week over Syracuse.
