Mike Bradley, Sheri Lynn... will present despair of Shakespeare's "MacBeth".

Lab Theater To Give Plays

LAB PLAYS—the second of this semester's laboratory theater productions will be held this Saturday and Sunday, beginning at 8 p.m. in the Temple Building. Beginning the evening will be excerpts from William Shakespeare's "MACBETH," directed by Mary Thorpe. It starts at 8 p.m. in the Laboratory Theater. Cast members are Mike Bradley and Sheri Lynn. "THE LABORATORY," a one-act play by Ionesco, with Frank Vybiral, Linda Roschewski, Gary Gue, Liz Grosshans and Linda Holst, follows at 8:30 in the Arena. Charles Patton is directing. Eugene O'Neill's "GREAT GOD BROWN" will be the finale, starting at 9 p.m. in the Laboratory Theater. Carroll Parmenter is the director; Bruce Borin, Lynette Loescher and Tom Holland will act. The plays are laboratory projects directed and sometimes produced by students in the theater. Purpose of the plays is to help students apply theater classwork theory to actual theatrical productions.

AUF Charts $6,740 Goal To Serve Five Charities

Diggings Will Cool Towers

Several construction and excavation projects are presently being completed on the campus, including extensive digging in front of Andrew's Hall and north of the Student Union.

According to George Miller, administrator of the University's physical plant, the project is part of a system of chilled water lines being installed essentially for the cooling of Twin Towers. The lines will be attached to the present cold water lines west of Andrews.

Following the completion of a new building to house additional facilities, more lines will be installed along 16th Street to serve the dormitories to be constructed in 1965 and the State Capitol building.

Avery Ave. will be moved north of its present location to allow room for this new plant, which will include two new water chillers. In the near future, bids will be let for these facilities, capable of producing 4,000 tons of cooling for the campus buildings and the Capitol, Miller said.

The University has bought one chiller at a cost of $80,000. The cost of the new building, another chiller, and installation requirements remain to be bid. This expense will be in addition to $150,000 for the water lines. A water tower is also under construction north of the present plant to replace two old towers and fulfill the added cooling requirements.

If construction is completed according to schedule, the plant and lines for the University will be ready for operation by June, 1964.

NIA Schedules General Meeting

The Nebraska International Association (NIA) will hold its second general meeting on Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

Matters to be taken up during the meeting include the International Book Project, a project designed to help furnish books to needy study groups abroad; the "Voices of Freedom," a weekly radio program broadcast by KFMQ; the NIA-sponsored Essay Contest on improving international relations in the campus; and the forthcoming Cultures on Campus program to be held during the International Week.

Kappa Psi's Search For Lost Charter

Ulysses Brown, vice president of Kappa Alpha Psi, told the Inter-Fraternity Council (IFC) last night that the fraternity is in the process of locating its charter, which, they report, was granted by the national fraternity in 1916 after the local chapter was recognized by the University.

"We have invited a national representative to speak here and to help in getting matters straightened out," he said.

"At the time this charter was granted," said Dean J. Winston Martin, "we used a different system, and no recording was made of the charter in the Board of Regents' minutes. For that matter, there was no record of any fraternity formed on the campus prior to the present procedure, including many of you here tonight."

"We have asked Kappa Alpha Psi to do what they could from their national level," he said.

Dean Martin said that the location of the charter was not a matter causing a great deal of concern.

"My judgment is that we treat the subject as the reactivation of a fraternity that has existed here previously."

In other IFC business, president Bill Buckley, announced the formation of a committee to organize an IFC Retreat.

The committee chairman is John Link, Phi Delta Theta. Other members include John Stohmann, Pi Kappa Phi, Jim Connors, Alpha Gamma Rho, and Dick Van Sickle, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Tom Schwenke, IFC rush chairman, announced that a smoker will be held tonight at 8 in 332 Student Union for all rush chairman. At this time the Spring Rush Week schedule will be discussed. The tentative schedule, which has been presented to all the houses for criticism, includes a series of smokers for all interested men.

Spring Rush would begin on March 4 with a dinner and orientation meeting. On Friday, March 6, the rushees will attend another dinner and orientation meeting, followed by ten twenty-minute rush parties. The rushee would choose his ten houses from among those he visited during the smokers.

Saturday afternoon the rushee will visit three houses for one and one-half hour parties. Following the three parties would be dinner and deliberation. Interested men must pledge a house by 8:30 p.m.

Buckley reminded representatives that Wednesday, Jan. 8, is the last day a man may be pledged for initiation the second semester of this year.

PTP Ambassador, Job Switch Begin

People-to-People Student Ambassador and Job Exchange programs will be activated for this year in a meeting to be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Lutheran Student House.

The Student Ambassador program provides American students with the possibility of traveling to a foreign country for the summer and living with a family while there.

The Job Exchange program gives U.S. students a chance to work in a foreign country by obtaining a job for a foreign student here. The American student's job overseas is obtained in the same manner.

All students interested in either of these programs are invited to attend the Sunday meeting.

were against the change to classes on the half-hour that is scheduled to begin second semester, according to Mike Barton, publicity chairman.

The housemothers polled felt that the change would work a hardship on cooks, which are already hard to obtain. "It is almost impossible to keep foods hot over the extended period without steam tables, and most houses cannot afford to buy them," said one housemother. "We may find ourselves without cooks."

Students suggested having more one and a half hour classes that meet two days a week, having more night courses that would apply towards degrees, starting classes at 7 a.m. and running them until 6 p.m., having more Saturday classes, scheduling more classes for noon, getting more teachers to schedule afternoon classes and utilizing educational television more.

In other action the Council passed a motion calling for the addition in the general registration process of a Builder's information card because "This will cut down on the expense of the Builders Student Directory and also allow Builders to get it out earlier," said Ann Wahl.

The Council unanimously passed a motion endorsing the efforts of the All University Fund (AUF) in their annual campaign for student donations, and urged all students to support this campaign.

Second Place Begins Year For Debaters

The University Debate Squad had its first competition of the year at the University of Omaha tournament last Friday and Saturday. Four of the teams won a total of 15 out of 16 intercollegiate debates.

George Kimball and Robert Cherney were undefeated in the senior division, but because Kearney State had higher speaker ratings, the University of Nebraska won second place. Lydon Griffin and Bill Harding won three and lost one. In the junior division Byron Lee and Bill Wood comprising one team and Roger Doerr and Terry Schaaf comprising another were also undefeated.

This week four of the teams will participate in audience debates. Richard Weill and Gary Pokorny will debate George Kimball and Robert Cherney at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Walt Weaver. Gary Radil and Tom Chandler will debate Linda Hillyer and Judy Brumm at a public debate at Concordia College in Seward.

Traditions Should Change For Ag Extension Service

The University Agricultural Extension Service personnel were given a challenge yesterday at their state meeting at the Nebraska Center.

E. W. Janike, director of the Service, asked them not to let the traditions of nearly 50 years of successful service in continuing education be a milestone around their necks in meeting the challenge of necessary change.

Pointing out that the farm and ranch population has changed from a majority to a minority, and continues to grow smaller, Janike said:

"How well we serve the continuing education needs of the people of this state will be determined by the adjustments we make in the Extension Service, in the College of Agriculture, and in the University.

He outlined the development of the Extension Service during the past 49 years and then projected the development, in his view, of the Service as having the opportunity to be a clearing house for all resource requests directed to the University.

The logical way to serve the needs of the state, Janike said, is to be able to call on the staffs of the various colleges and departments throughout the University who are best equipped to meet the needs.

On organizing to best serve the needs of the people of Nebraska, he said, emphasis should be on leadership at the local level and closely coordinated organization at the state level to serve the local needs.

Closer coordination is being worked out at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, Janike said.

"Quiz Bowl teams must be turned in before Christmas," said Thom. "The teams may consist of any four University students. They needn't all be from one living unit."

The first actual tournament will be held after Christmas vacation.

Controversies Forum Open To 'Everything'

Vice-Chancellor G. Robert Ross, Dean of Student Affairs, today told the Daily Nebraskan that, "we will talk about everything that anybody wants to talk about," at the Campus Controversies forum scheduled for Nov. 11, 4 p.m., 232 and 234, Student Union.

Campus Controversies will feature Dean Ross and Dick Weill, vice president of Student Council, in a general talk session which is open to all students.

Ross will answer those questions which concern the administration while Weill will handle those questions which come under the auspices of Student Council. Ross said that any workable suggestions which come from the students at the forum will be studied further.

Weill said that he expects questions about the work which the Student Council is doing and in return would like to know how the Student Council can better voice the opinions of the students. Weill also said that he would like a lot of "constructive" criticism.

Rod Walker, Chairman of

Woman's Role Radio Topic

"The role of women in the emerging nations is the topic of the weekly radio discussion program, "Voices of Freedom", on tonight at 9 p.m. at the Student Union Music Room C.

The program, broadcast live by the KFMQ radio station and sponsored by the Nebraska International Association, (NIA) will have Mrs. Aurilim Bryan of Trinidad, Mrs. Rina Roy of India, Dr. Newal Soliman of Egypt, and Mrs. Purificacion M. Hattrai of the Philippines as moderator. The public is invited to join in the discussion.

the Student Union Forum Committee which sponsors Campus Controversies, said that he expected the students' questions and grievances to range from, "the cutting down of Derby Day to the parking situation." He also suggested that such questions as the seating at the football games, student drinking, and the administration control of the Student Union might come up for answers by either Ross or Weill.

Walker asserted that Dean Ross and Weill will justify their positions on the issues brought up by the students and will try to explain what the possibilities are of correcting the situations.

This forum will be the second annual Campus Controversies, which grew out of a "round table" discussion session under the jurisdiction of the Student Council.

Theta Xi's Lose $100 In Theft

A young man, who identified himself as a graduate student, Wednesday morning stole about $100 from the rooms of several members of Theta Xi fraternity.

The man apparently went from room to room taking cash and blank and endorsed checks from the billfolds of the fraternity's members.

The thief was seen by several members and even talked briefly with one of them. However, the robbery went undetected until later that morning after the thief had a chance to escape.

The amount taken approaches $100, according to Theta Xi president Lynn Corcoran.

"I hope that by making the story public this situation may be prevented from happening in other organized houses," Corcoran said.

Lincoln Police Department detectives are now investigating the case.
