History Of Folk Songs

folk music was written for fun, to tell a story, and for enjoyment. However, if you've ever paid close attention or thought about the words to songs such as "Blowin' in the Wind", you can't help but feel the deep inner significance of what the composer was trying to put across.

Songs like this fall into a category called protest songs.

Before labor laws were established and while unions were forming, protest songs were the one method for the laborer to express their opinions. Put fighting words to a catchy tune and you have a powerful, influential force, and it was partially through these songs that unions were established. "Dark as a Dungeon" and "Sixteen Tons", both written by Merle Travis, son of a Kentucky miner, are examples of protest songs which made it big on the popular market.

Today protest songs are being written by men like Bob Dylan, (pronounced Dilon), twenty-one years of age. These writers are fighting for a cause.

Professors Attend 'Smasher' Exhibit

Dr. Theodore Jorgensen, professor, and Dr. Paul R. Byerly Jr., associate professor, represented the University Wednesday at the dedication of the world's third largest "atom smasher" at the Argonne National Laboratory in Illinois.

The University, as a member of the Associated Midwest Universities, will be allowed to use the $50 million device known as the Zero Gradient Synchrotron.

The ZGS, which required four years to build, is a doughnut-shaped machine, 210 feet in diameter which will accelerate protons to 12.5 billion electron volts, then send them crashing into target atoms. The subatomic particles which result from these collisions will be studied by scientists from midwestern universities.

Dr. Jorgensen has been with the University for 29 years with time out during World War II to work on the development of the atomic bomb at Los Alamos.

Red Cross Sponsors YWCA Swim Course

A course in handicapped swimming for Water Safety instructors will be held at the YWCA starting the last part of the first semester. The course is being sponsored by the Red Cross.

It is a 15 hours course and the majority of the time will be spent teaching handicapped children and adults to swim. The course will last two months and all interested persons should contact Gretchen Gaines at 435-4896.

GOING FOR THE SPARE

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

All is not lost with one failure. As any bowler knows, it's worthwhile to achieve a goal on the second try.

The Church was not founded for people who are perfect. It is for men and women who would strive, despite their shortcomings, to meet life's moral and spiritual challenge.

Someone has called Christianity the religion of another chance. Jesus, after all, placed greatest emphasis on God's forgiving love. And He urged men to grasp present opportunities despite past failures.

Earnest Christians today are still discovering in thrilling ways what man, inspired and strengthened by God, can really accomplish.

And some of those whose lives have been enriched with faith and courage once wondered — as perhaps you are wondering — whether to give religion another try.
