Log Causes Fire At Phi Psi House

A smoldering log in the fireplace ash pit at the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity house Saturday night caused a fire which brought the immediate response of five companies of fire fighters from the Lincoln Fire Department.

The log caused enough heat, according to John Unthank, Phi Kappa Psi member, to ignite the floor below the brick lining of the pit. The fire burned directly over the ceiling of the chapter room, located in the Phi Psi basement, and caused a burned area in the ceiling about 15 feet in diameter and extensive smoke damage to the walls of the room.

Unthank said that when the fire was discovered several of the men who were in the house at the time tried to fight it with fire extinguishers. When their effort proved futile, the fire department was summoned at 8:37 p.m.

A smoke ejector was used to remove the smoke which filled the house and emerged from the west attic window, causing observers to believe that the fire was located in the dormitory room.

No financial estimate of the damage is available at the present time, according to Unthank.

Tuesday's Forum In Union Will Concern Assassination

In an effort to give University students a comprehensive picture of the assassination of President Kennedy and its consequences, the Union Forums Committee is presenting a "New Forum."

This forum will be held in the South Party Room of the Nebraska Union Tuesday at 4 p.m.

Featured at the forum will be Dr. Wallace Peterson of the Economics Department, Dr. Carl Schneider of the Political Science Department, and Dr. Herman Turk of the Sociology Department.

"The political consequences of the assassination of President Kennedy," said Dr. Schneider, "are still being felt, and a complete analysis of the assassination will take several years to compile."

Dr. Schneider raised several questions which he will answer at the forum. They include "what does it mean to the younger generation? how will it affect the American political scene? and how will it help the American people for life in the future?"

He will also discuss how it will affect the relationship between the executive and legislative branches of the government.

Dr. Peterson says that the tax cut will be more necessary than ever before. "The economy," he says, "is in good shape at the present time, but it has declined in the past few weeks. President Johnson is more conservative than President Kennedy was; Johnson will cut public spending and

'Messiah' Draws 3500 To Annual Program

An estimated crowd of 3,500 Sunday joined the ranks of thousands who have attended the University Singers' presentation of "The Messiah" by George Frederick Handel since the program was first given in 1915. The program features only undergraduate soloists, who compete through auditions for their positions. The soloists were Lorraine Morris, soprano; Roderick Gibb, Tenor; Rosella Lange, alto; and Irvin Pearson, bass.

The 750-voice choir was directed by Earl Jenkins, professor of music, and accompanied by the University Orchestra under the direction of Emanuel Wishow, director of the department of music. Pianists Mary Haight and Andrea Johnson assisted the orchestra.

Two Students Win Scrip Writing Prize

A grandmother from Beatrice and a Lincoln Junior were announced Monday as winners of the Scrip Short Story and Poetry Contest.

Jessica Griggs Woodward from Beatrice, a senior majoring in English, in Arts and Sciences, won $25 in the short story contest for "I Hardly Ever Write About Sex," a humorous narrative about her days in New York City in the late 1920's.

Students may pick up both published and unpublished works in the English Department, 221 Andrews.

Overnight popularity came when "The Messiah" was sung before King George III of England. The King was so entranced by the music that he rose to his feet during the Hallelujah Chorus. The remainder of the audience, seeing their King on his feet also rose, starting the tradition which has lived to this day.

Forty-five scholarship winners enrolled in the College of Agriculture and Home Economics were guests of honor at the 4-H Club's 10th annual recognition banquet last week.

Among the group were 32 University students who were announced previously as scholarship winners and 12 who were revealed for the first time as scholarship recipients.

The following students were awarded scholarships at the banquet, held at the Nebraska Union:

Verlene Magnuson, David Langemeier, Jeanette Coufal, Nancy Chamberlain, Janet McCord, Kenneth Mass, Sandra Cornelius, Ardyth Lynn Day, Natalie Hahn and Vicki Cline.

Dutchess Leads List—Mascot Vogue Is Dogs

By Judi Peterson This University is going to the dogs.

In addition to running onto an occasional flock of chickens, one often encounters various dogs that seem to be more at home on campus than the students.

than a lot of people," says Mrs. Hyrd Stryker, house mother.

These canine coeds and frat men are the pride and joys of six fraternities—Alpha Tau Omega, Chi Phi, Delta Upsilon, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Kappa Psi, and Sigma Chi.

Perhaps the most well-known member of the animal kingdom is Dutchess, the Phi Kappa Psi's sixteenth semester pledge. "She's smarter

This pedigreed Saint Bernard is Mrs. Stryker's roommate. However, she spends her nights in the rooms of her best friends. This year she sleeps in Dick Gash's room, and last year she chose Larry Berger. She spent Thanksgiving and last summer at Dick Decker's ranch near Holdrege.

Med Tech Group Selects Members

Zeta chapter of Lambda Tau, medical technology honorary, has announced their new members. They are: Nancy Alden, Karen Bais, Carol Bieck, Nancy Carroll, Juanita Cole.

Eight year old Dutchess was presented as a puppy to the Phi Psis by the pledge class of eight years ago.

Before last spring Acacia owned a 14 foot Anaconda. This mice-eating snake scared everyone who visited the house. After six months of terrorizing the house the creature died.

University Extension Offers Coding Course

The Fortran coding course, sponsored by the University Extension Division, will enable persons to give the proper coded directions to computers and involves the use of the University's new IBM 1410.

Because of her gigantic size, she was mistaken for a cow by a filling station attendant as she slept in the back seat of Jim Kubicek's car. Every day she eats a large cake pan of dog food and leftovers.

Another problem pet who is no longer on campus is Sigma Phi Epsilon's boxer. He was given away last year after he became notorious for tearing up a dean's flower bed. He also gained recognition when he chased a cat up a telephone pole. The cat's picture appeared in the DAILY NEBRASKAN.

Department To Offer Physiology 170 Sections

In response to a number of requests, the Department of Zoology and Physiology will offer a second section of Physiology 170 on Thursdays from 15:30 to 17:30, according to F. W. Hoover, Registrar.

When it's time for her to take a bath, the Phi Psis put her in the showers. Playing in the snow and riding in cars are some of Dutchess's favorite pastimes.

Henry, Sigma Chi's six month old Basset Hound, is a real blueblood. He is registered with the American Kennel Club and has a pedigree of four generations. He belongs to Sigma Chi's house-mother. His skin is very loose, and he has big feet. He loves to howl and chew socks.

Department To Offer Physiology 170 Sections

The department reserves the right to cancel this second section if the number of students registering for it is too small," said Hoover.

Enrollment is limited and registrations will be taken on a first come, first served basis.

Macavelli, "Mac" for short, is Delta Upsilon's talented collie. He was bred to be a show dog, but because of a bent ear he spends his time entertaining his owners.

Mal Hansen, former radio and television personality in Nebraska and now associated with Travel and Transport, Inc., of Omaha, was the main speaker at the banquet. He is a former Iowa 4-H member.

Four year old Mac gets into "normal mischief of a dog his age," says one of his owners. He was bought two years ago because, according to one DU, "It's nice to have a dog around the house."

Last Thursday Phi Gamma Delta invested in a German Shepherd puppy. This so far unnamed dog was a gift from the freshmen. Right now he is in a golf ball craze. He speaks broken Arabic, says one Fiji.

Alpha Tau Omega bought a German Shepherd two weeks ago. According to one ATO,
