—Denney Hits Morrison's YR Appearance—

Republicans Question Choice Of Speaker

State Republican Chairman Robert Denney of Fairbury said Sunday that he had received a number of calls from Republicans throughout the state who were "quite disturbed" with the visit of Gov. Frank Morrison to the Young Republicans meeting last Thursday night.

"I did not contact them (the Young Republicans), however, because I believe that if they are old enough to have an organization and activities of their own, they are old enough to be free from dictation from party chiefs," he told the DAILY NEBRASKAN.

Denney said that when he heard that Morrison would speak to the YR's he was curious about the reasons behind the invitation. "I think they should seek knowledge in their own party and its philosophy rather than studying the middle of the road," he went on.

Denney charged that Morrison has a Republican speech and a Democratic speech, which he uses interchangeably, depending on to whom he is speaking.

He continued, "If the YR's are carrying on activities within the party, they are wasting their time listening to a candidate who believes in neither party."

"I don't think the University's Young Democrats have asked Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney to speak, and I don't think that they will, he said.

Earlier Chuck Peek, president of the YR's, had said that several people had talked to him and the reactions to Morrison's speech were very favorable. Peek said that he had heard of some criticism within the party but that he thought it was due to a misunderstanding of the reason for the invitation.

Members of the YR executive council have said that Morrison was invited to present the opposite views and to present as many of the gubernatorial candidates to the YR's and the campus as possible.

Other reactions to the Governor's speech came from Chancellor Clifford Hardin and Vice Chancellor G. Robert Ross, dean of Student affairs.

Hardin denied that the shortage in class sections available second semester was crucial enough to warrant a disaster meeting between himself and Governor, which Morrison had suggested "if the problem is serious."

Ross implied that the shortage was more serious on the level of students who could not get particular classes they wanted than on the level of the University as a whole. He said that, although the situation has received a great deal of publicity, it is probably not much worse than at the same time last year.

Union Applications Due

Applications for Union Program Council interviews are due Friday in the Student Union Program Office.

Students may pick up applications and sign-up for interview times in the Program Office. Interviews for the positions are February 15.

Council Will Conduct Second Drinking Poll

A second drinking poll will be held today, Tuesday and Wednesday in the Student Unions on ag and city campus, according to Mike Barton, Student Council opinion poll chairman.

"The poll will be very simple for students to answer," said Barton. "It will have a list of alternatives on what the student would like to see the Council do about this situation. All the student has to do is check one."

The first poll showed that there are a great majority of people under 21 that drink, but there was not a great deal of support in having the Council do anything about the situation, according to Barton.

"The answers were about half and half concerning Council action," he said. "The great majority indicated that there was a problem."

"We (the Council) cannot do anything unless and until we know what the student wants," he pointed out. "If the student does not respond to this poll, the issue will probably be dropped. This is their last chance. If they want something done, let's hear from them."

The polls will be placed right next to the booth where students must go to pick up appointment cards for payment of fees for next semester's classes.

These polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday on both campuses and on Tuesday and Wednesday on city campus only. All students must pick up an appointment card to pay their fees.

"We're trying to make this as convenient as possible for the student," said Barton.

There was some feeling in the Council at their last meeting that the issue should be dropped because of the lack of interest.

Aliens Must Register

All persons residing in the United States who are not citizens must register with the Federal Government. This includes the foreign students at the University.

This involves going to the Post Office and filling out an Alien Registration Card. This registration must be completed during the month of January.

University Supplies Loans To Over 530 Undergrads

Over 530 students are taking part in the Student Loan Plan offered by the University Scholarship and Financial Aid Office.

The money for these loans is supplied by private contributions and is then loaned out to the students at 2 per cent interest. This money is usually paid back at the beginning of the year after the loan was made.

In order to receive these loans a student must have a grade average of 4.5 or over. Because of this requirement, first semester freshmen are ineligible to receive loans. Also taken into consideration is the financial need of the student.

There are no restrictions placed upon the students. The loan office will not make any other stipulations other than that you are an accredited full time student at the University. Even though there are no restrictions on the use of the loans, the money is mainly used to pay for tuition and books.

The office of Scholarship and Financial Aid also helps students with scholarships, summer jobs, and other loans. They have stated that upper class scholarships and National Defense loans applications are available in the office at any time and that the deadline for turning them in is March 1.

AUF Names Lonquist As President

John Lonquist, Beta Theta Pi, is the new president of the All University Fund (AUF).

Speaking about AUF, Lonquist said, "All University Fund has two reasons for existing. The first reason is to educate the students in one of their future civic responsibilities, that of charitable giving; the second, to serve them. Without AUF the campus would be continually overrun by groups in need of money."

Other members of the executive board elected last Thursday are Betsy Nave, vice-president in charge of solicitations; Lynette Loescher, vice-president in charge of publicity; Barbara Pandzik, secretary; and Judy Johnson, treasurer.

She Won't Get Cancer

SHE'S LUCKY — Cigaretts will give cancer and heart trouble to humans, but this statue in Ag Hall will only get stained hands. The stone statue was donated by the class of 1915.

Third Tower Started

Construction of a new men's dormitory began this week on the University of Nebraska campus. The facility is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1965.

The dormitory to accommodate 1,056 men will be built north of Vine street facing west on 17th street. In length, the new dormitory will run more than a city block, 307 feet, 61 feet wide and 140 feet high. The accompanying food and dining service facility will measure 169 by 94 feet.

Like Pound and Cather Halls, the new dormitory is being financed with revenue bonds and no state tax funds are involved. The contract calls for construction similar to Pound and Cather Halls.

Other contracts: plumbing, heating and ventilating work, Reinhardt Brothers Plumbing and Heating, Lincoln, $587,000 electric wiring work. ABC Electric, Lincoln, $276,000; elevators, O'Keefe Elevator Co., Omaha, $131,000; bedroom equipment, Chadwick Manufacturing Co., Coleman, Wisc., $327,946.

Saylor Will Head Education Group

Dr. Galen Saylor, professor and chairman of the University's department of secondary education, is the new president-elect of the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, a national organization of 12,000 members affiliated with the National Education Association.

Balloting was conducted nationally by mail and Professor Saylor will assume the office in April at the association's meeting at Miami Beach, Fla.

NU Dedicates Towers

Louise Pound and Willa Cather dormitories were dedicated formally in a ceremony yesterday which was presided over by Vice-chancellor G. Robert Ross, dean of student affairs.

Two residents of the new dormitories, Carolyn Johnsen, president of Pound Hall, and Jerry Peirce, president of Cather Hall, paid tributes to Willa Cather and Louise Pound.

money, guided tours of the 13 story facilities were conducted.

The $4 million complex is used by both men and women at present, but will eventually house only women.

Lower floors of the two dormitories consist of lounge areas, complete mailing facilities, and living accommodations for resident directors. The remaining 12 stories of each wing consist of double rooms.

Miss Johnsen spoke of the contributions of Louise Pound to University students during the years she was a teacher in the English department.

Jerry Peirce spoke about Willa Cather's great love for Nebraska which led her to write Oh, Pioneers!, My Antonia, and the Pulitzer Prize winner One of Ours.

Portraits of Miss Pound and Miss Cather were unveiled for hanging in the new dormitories.

Miss Rankin Reigns

REIGNS OVER BALL . . . Carolyn Rankin, Pi Beta Phi, representing Sigma Sigma fraternity, was crowned Jr. Interfraternity Council Queen Friday at the IFC Ball. Approximately 475 students watched as Miss Rankin was presented with a crown, a trophy and a bouquet of red roses by master of ceremonies Skip Soiref. The other four finalists were each presented with necklaces.

Housing Report Released

Half Live Off Campus

Over half of the University's students live off-campus, according to a recent release by the Student Housing Office.

Out of a total of 10,906 students, 5,080 live within an eight block radius of the campus where they attend classes. This leaves 5,826 living off campus.

Included in the term "off campus" are: Lincoln students living at home, those living in apartments, in rooms or with private families, and those who commute. It also includes those students whose college is on city campus, but who live within eight blocks of ag campus and vice versa.

"The number living off campus makes it difficult to unite this campus to stand for anything," said Mike Barton, student Council opinion poll chairman. "It is very hard to obtain an accurate polling of student opinion because not everyone is in the vicinity of the polling places."

Of the ten thousand plus students, there are over twice as many men as women students. There are 3,394 women, 1883 of which live within the eight block radius. There are 7,512 men, 3,197 of which live within the eight block area.

A total of 516 junior and senior single men live in apartments, not within an 8 block radius of campus. Three hundred twenty six freshmen and sophomore men are apartment dwellers.

Far fewer women live in apartments than men. There are only nine freshmen women and 13 sophomore women in apartments. There are 46 junior and senior women occupying such housing.

Of the total 1274 students living in apartments, only five, all of these men, live in University apartments.

There are five freshmen women living in sorority houses, 211 sophomores, 209 juniors and 150 seniors. There is one woman graduate student living in such a house.

Of the men, 310 freshmen live in fraternity housing, 265 sophomores, 257 juniors and 167 seniors. Six graduate students live in fraternities.

There are 1,005 men living in fraternities, 1698 in all types of University housing.

There are a total of 576 women living in sororities, compared to 1269 in University housing.

Forty-eight women and 171 male students commute.

Pound and Cather Halls now provide housing for 907 residents. Their combined capacity is 960. Women's Residence Hall houses 547 women students. Selleck Quadrangle houses 941 men. There are 115 men in Capital Hotel.
