

Cebun Delivers Key Baskets—

Cornhusker Hustle Blitz Tips Foe

Nebraska's cagers toppled tall Oklahoma City, 74 to 65 in a rough fast moving upset at the Coliseum Saturday night.

Coach Joe Cipriano installed the full court press while his players supplied the hustle and accurate shooting to whip the faltering Oklahoma City. For Abe Lemon's crew it was the third straight upset loss.

Junior Harold Cebun led the Scarlet rash of ball-stealing and fast breaking at the end of the first half that typified the remainder of the Husker's fourth win against ten defeats.

The teams traded the lead for the contests' first fifteen minutes until Cebun sparked Nebraska up from a two point deficit.

Jerry Wells, the Chief's shortest squadman, pushed in a looper to give his team a 27 to 25 edge before Cebun's spree. The 5-10 marksman pilfered two Chief passes for lay ups and then trailed after a Grant Simmons steal seconds later and took the Omaha Benson grad's dandy pass for another two points.

This gave Nebraska a lead it never gave up. Coley Webb, Jim Yates, and Simmons boosted the margin to as much as eight points until the visitors cut that to 35 to 33 at the half.

Oklahoma City, who average 6-7 in their starting lineup, got most of their points from Wells and another "shortie," 6-4 Charlie Hunter who managed 22 and 17 points respectively.

Eddie Jackson, the visitor's seven footer, spent most of the clash on the bench while the Chiefs high scorer Bud Koper was left at home with an eye injury. Koper had been averaging 27.7 points a game until he sustained an eye cut against Hardin-Simmons last week.

Nine consecutive points by the desperate Chiefs with six minutes gone in the second half, constituted their last threat as they tied the sleeping hosts at 45 to 45.

Again it was Cebun who produced the crucial bucket, this time with a long jumper that pushed the Scarlet ahead to stay.

Several surprising statistics reflected the Husker effort. Jerry Spears and Charlie Jones led Nebraska's rebounding game that outdid the Oklahoma City giants by 34 to 32. Spears had 12 while Jones came up with 10.

Nebraska also enjoyed 50 per cent shooting from the field as Cebun and Joel Kortus supplied accuracy from outside. Kortus also was a hustling inspiration, several times sprawling in efforts to retrieve the ball or intercept passes.

Nebraska will take the next week off during final exams and resume practice next Monday when the players schedules permit.

The Husker's next game is at Columbia against Missouri on February 1. Next home game is with Kansas State's potent Wildcats on February 3.

A trophy is but a conglomeration of metal and wood... Trophies in athletics are awarded to teams or individuals who achieve the top in a particular competition. The trophy denotes a champion's performance and a champion's work for that performance.

In this sense then, a trophy symbolizes more than meets the eye. In some instances a trophy can even exceed its normal meaning.

A new and unique organization on campus earned a trophy for athletic achievement last week. But that organization will not receive its trophy... In fact it can never receive its trophy... In fact another organization will acquire the trophy... It will be as if the real winner of the competition last week was not even present.

All this on a technicality that has nothing to do with the competition what so ever.

Kappa Alpha Psi, the recently organized Negro fraternity, won the Intramural Fraternity Track Championship last Tuesday. For the just-born group, it was their first achievement as a house, their first honor.

But, later in the week Intramurals Director Ed Higginbotham announced that the fraternity would not be allowed to keep the trophy because they do not yet have a house—organized living quarters. Higginbotham then said that Sigma Chi, the runners-up in the competition, will keep the trophy with their name inscribed on it.

Members of Kappa Alpha Psi have since talked with Higginbotham, but he has stuck to the regulation requiring the living quarters. The fraternity has attempted a reasonable proposal—to temporarily keep the trophy in Selbeck Quad since most of its members live there, but Higginbotham said no and that Kappa Alpha Psi could never have the trophy, even if they acquire a house in the near future.

Mr. Higginbotham has since offered medals to members of Kappa Alpha Psi—but not the trophy.

It is my contention that the Kappa Alpha Psis are not just pushing a ridiculous cause. The regulation is absurd. The trophy is a symbol of athletic achievement by this group in track. They should have that trophy... They may not live together, but they earned the trophy together.

There comes a time when rules and regulations amount to nonsense. I hope that those who have the power will see that there is no sense in denying this group the symbol of their first group success because of an irrelevant technicality.

NU Gym Team Loses, 63-49

John Quintana led Denver University's gymnastics team past Nebraska 63 to 49 Saturday in the Men's Physical Education Building.

Quintana won the still rings, tied for first with Nebraska's Francis Allen in the horizontal bar, tied for third with Nebraska's Dennis Albers in the parallel bars, and took second place in the free exercise, trampoline, and side horse.

Albers won two events for Nebraska, and Allen won one and tied for first in one event. Nebraska's coach Jake Geier called the meet "some of the best gymnastics I have seen in my 15 years here, from both the Nebraska and the DU viewpoint."

Now 1 and 1 after earlier defeating Fort Hays (Kansas) State, Nebraska next faces Iowa State here next Saturday.

Frosh Swimmers Split Weekend Home Duals

Nebraska's undefeated swimming varsity easily dunked the freshmen 61 to 34 Friday night at the Coliseum, but the freshmen came back Saturday 77 to 16 over Kearney State College.

The varsity won nine of the twelve events, with freshman Jon Burchill winning the 200 yard butterfly and freshman Dave Lindberg winning the 500-yard freestyle.

Burchill's winning time of 2:14.9 broke the old frosh record set by Tom Chambers, now a junior on the varsity, in 1962.

The freshmen, who swam their first two home meets allowed by the Big Eight conference, took every first place and seven seconds in walloping Kearney State.

The varsity and freshmen will meet again the State A.A.U. championships following the Big Eight meet in March.

The varsity will face Southern Illinois at the Coliseum pool Saturday afternoon at 3:30 p.m.

Devaney Keeps 26 Lettermen For '64

With 13 veteran members of the 1963 Big 8 and Orange Bowl championship football team heading for graduation, Coach Bob Devaney and his staff will have a major reconstruction job facing them in spring practice.

No date for spring football practice has been set yet as the Husker staff is now concentrating on recruiting for the 1964 Freshman team.

There will, however, be considerable experience, particularly in the backfield, from which to draw for next year's title defense.

All told there are 26 lettermen and 24 squadmen available, plus Gary Brichacek and Kelly Petersen who sat out the 1963 campaign. Moving up to give battle will be grads of Coach John Melton's undefeated Frosh club.

Here are the 1963 Varsity players with remaining eligibility (providing they meet scholastic standards, of course) and their status as of next fall:
