Portland State Sororities Forced To Cancel Rush

Portland, Ore.—Rush plans of Portland State's six sororities were cancelled Wednesday, according to Suzanne Jones, Panhellenic president. Portland State College (PSC) sororities will not engage in rush activities until their status has been ruled on by the Faculty Senate, Miss Jones said.

The names of about six girls who registered for fall rush had been removed after the first round of rush parties when Millar suspended the sororities. The names of the two Negro girls registering for rush were two of the six names dropped from the lists. All girls but the six dropped after the first round have been invited to the tea.

She said that the delay in deciding whether the sororities will be allowed to resume affiliation with the college is threatening to destroy the sororities. Both bledge fees and new members are necessary to the functioning of sororities.

The purpose of the tea is to "indicate our continuing interest in the girls," said Miss Jones. It no longer indicates the beginning of rush.

Millar said last month that the status of sororities at PSC would be described by the Faculty Senate. But Millar plans to distribute a special report on PSC sororities to all faculty members before he brings the matter before the Faculty Senate. Millar said the Faculty Senate would act on the sorority crisis as soon as possible.

"We have no desire to leave the sororities in limbo," he said.

Millar said he plans to discuss PSC's sorority "problem" with Roy E. Lieuallen, Chancellor of the State System of Higher Education. He said he "could not say" what effect the Faculty Senate's decision on sororities would have on other Oregon colleges.

World Music To Be Aired Tonight At 9

"Music Around the World" will be tonight's topic at the Voices of Freedom radio program broadcast by KFMQ.

Musical pieces from India, Iran, Germany and Indonesia will be played and introduced to the listeners by students from these countries. The program will be held tonight at 9 p.m. at the Student Union Music Room.

The program is the last of the Voices of Freedom series for this semester. Whether the program will be resumed next semester or not depends on the response of American and foreign students to this type of discussion, said sponsors of the program. Therefore, the Nebraska International Association (NIA), which carries out the program, asks the foreign and American students who are interested in the continuation of the radio series to write a brief note expressing their desire to KFMQ, Terminal Bldg., Lincoln.
