Cagers Jolt O-State

Nebraska's rapidly improving basketball team knocked-off Oklahoma State in hard-fought contest at the Coliseum. The loss bumped the Cowboys from the Big Eight lead.

With a 43 mark in conference play the Cornhuskers have a renewed hope of finishing in the upper division. The win was the fifth for the cagers in their last eight games.

They next see action Saturday night as Colorado's Buffaloes invade Lincoln. Tipoff time is 8:05 for the tilt with the present leader of the conference.

Nebraska's recent improvement has been marked by balanced team play. This was shown again last night against the Cowboys, as eight of the nine men in the game scored.

Leading the scoring parade was Charlie Jones. His 14 points followed a 23-point output against Oklahoma two nights earlier.

Next in line were Grant Simmons with 12, Jim Yates with 10, and Daryl Patsch with 8. Jones also led rebounders with 7.

Gene Johnson of Oklahoma State led all scoring with 16. The Huskers hit a hot 51.1 per cent from the field compared to a 30.7 effort from the Cowboys. Oklahoma State is one of the national leaders in shooting percentage. But it was from the field where the Cowboys fell behind, as they failed on ten consecutive attempts at one point midway in the second half.

Nebraska gave one of its best defensive performances of the year, starting with a 1-2-2 zone and switching to a man-to-man late in the first half, then confusing the Cowboys in the second half by interchanging the defenses.
