JAZZ WING DING — Nina Simone (left) will be featured at the Folk and Jazz Wing Friday in the Union. Herbie Mann (right) and his Afro-Cuban quintet, Ron Eliran, an Israeli Folk Singer, and the Moonshiners, a trio of two guitars and three voices will also appear on the program.

Folk, Jazz Blast Leads Friday Night

"A Folk and Jazz Wing Ding", sponsored by the Ford Motor Company, will play at the Nebraska Union Friday at 7 p.m.

Miss Simone, who has appeared at Carnegie Hall, in her own right as well as with this concert group, gained national prominence with her album "The Amazing Nina Simone" and a single of "I Love You, Porgy". She has worked as a jazz pianist and singer and plans a European tour next season.

Herbie Mann's research into ethnic music has taken him to both Africa and South America. Mann played in fifteen African nations for 17 weeks as a part of a State Department tour.

Mann has incorporated bossa nova rhythms as a part of his presentation since these rhythms evolved from the traditional music of Brazil. He believes that the folk rhythms of other countries can contribute to and expand the scope of jazz.

Also with the traveling concert are The Moonshiners and Ron Eliran, an Israeli singer and guitarist.

The Moonshiners are three collegiate folk singers who have played and featured their rich sound and sense of humor to audiences throughout the eastern United States.

Eliran features a cosmopolitan style of singing material and original arrangements on the classical guitar. He has appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show and toured France and Belgium with an Israeli group of dancers and singers.

Nebraska Asked To Sign Petition

The Stanford Peace Caucus has written the DAILY NEBRASKAN to suggest that the students and faculty of the University add their names to a petition concerning the Viet Nam petition or that they start a similar petition.

The recent intensification of guerrilla warfare in South Viet Nam prompted the petition from Stanford University. It now has over 400 faculty and student signatures. It will be sent to President Johnson sometime next week. This Stanford Peace Caucus petition states:

"We, the undersigned members of the Stanford University community, urgently and resolutely oppose an intensification of the war in South Viet Nam and repudiate an extension of that war into the North.

"We call for a reconvening of the Geneva Conference of 1954 in order to bring about an internationally guaranteed pacification, neutralization, and democratization of South Viet Nam and to prepare the way for the reunification of North and South.

"In order to halt the increasing number of casualties on each side and to prepare a favorable climate for negotiations, we further urge that the United States take steps toward bringing about an immediate armistice between the South Vietnamese government and revolutionary combatants.

"The rapidly deteriorating situation in South Viet Nam has forced the United States to review its commitment in that country. A major policy decision is likely within the next two weeks. Under consideration is the extension of the conflict into North Viet Nam. The consequences of such an action would most probably be, at best, another deadly and prolonged war with Communist China, as in Korea.

"It may be that Senator Mansfield, speaking recently in favor of a peaceful settlement, was encouraged by the administration to open the question of an alternative to war in order that public opinion might be determined. We are confident that President Johnson would prefer to avoid another Korea, but if he is to do so, he must be assured of the support of the people. "It lies in our hands to in-

Mrs. Truman Wood Talks On Communism

At last night's meeting of Youth for Goldwater Mrs. Truman Wood, a national political figure, talked on Communism.

Mrs. Wood related how she became involved in anti-communist work. The Goldwater booster was first attracted three years ago when she suddenly realized she didn't want to someday answer to her children for her apathy in political and world affairs.

Faculty advisor, Dr. George Uhlig introduced Mrs. Wood. Dr. Uhlig noted that Mrs. Wood is past president and founder of Gold for Goldwater, a Freedom Foundation award winner, and assistant

Med Student Gets Grant

Dennis Landers, a sophomore medical student has been awarded the C.W.M. Poynter Foundation Fellowship for 1964-1965.

The Poynter Fellowship is awarded to a College of Medicine student for research and carries a stipend of $32,000. It is made possible through the fellowship established in 1945 in honor of the late Dr. C. W. M. Poynter, alumnus, teacher and former dean of the College of Medicine.

Landers' research is in the field of muscle mechanics and is under the direction of E. A. Holyoke, professor and chairman of the department of anatomy, and Stanley M. Bach, M.D., assistant professor of orthopedic surgery and anatomy and associate physical medicine and rehabilitation.

Drop Deadline Friday

The Registrar's Office reports that 4 p.m., Friday, March 6, is the deadline for dropping a course.

chairman of Nebraskans for Goldwater.

After these beginning remarks, Mrs. Wood next spoke on the subtitle, "What Goes on in a Communist's Mind". She stated, "The true Communist sincerely believes everything that has been taught to him by higher officials is the only thing and is in effect his religion." Mrs. Wood gave a few examples of these "sincere" beliefs. One being the fact that a Communist, regardless of nationality or race, feels he belongs to one large army spread around the world. This army, he has been taught, will have an inevitable victory over the capitalistic Americans.

The Communists morality is planned so they will do anything for the Communist party. They will lie, break treaties, or kill for the Communist party. After committing these acts, they don't feel unrighteous but know they are right because the Communist doctrine says so.

Mrs. Wood summed up her speech noting the manner by which the United States can hold the Communists in check (by the understanding of communism) and added that the man most capable of handling the Communist threat is Barry Goldwater.

Engineering Paper Selected Best

Rodney Wood, assistant professor of mechanical engineering, discovered yesterday that a paper he had written was selected by the American Institute of Chemical Engineering (AIChE) as the top effort of its kind.

Wood, who noticed a mention of his paper in the CHEMICAL ENGINEERING PROGRESS, hadn't been aware of the honor, although he had received a hint when asked for a picture of himself.

An extension of women's hours was granted at the Associated Women's Student

NU Coeds In Finals Of Pageant

Contest Winner Will Get $200

Nine of the 11 finalists named for the Miss Lincoln Pageant, which swings into its final month following last week's preliminary judging, are University students.

According to Ron Hoppes, chairman of the pageant, judging of the talent finals will be conducted March 31 in the basement of the Bankers Life Building.

Appraisal of the swimming suit and evening gown competition will follow on April 2, at Pershing Auditorium.

Candidates are being sponsored by various organizations on campus. Backers of the winner will be awarded $50 from the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The pageant winner will receive $200 plus the right to compete for the Miss Nebraska title. From there she could journey to Atlantic City for the Miss America Pageant.

Miss Lincoln will also receive $100 worth of modeling lessons from Miss Bette Bone, owner and operator of a modeling agency in Lincoln. This is designed to help the Lincoln entry toward the state title.

To qualify, a girl must be single, never have been married and must have graduated from high school. In addition, she must be between the ages of 18 and 28 and have been a Lincoln resident for six months prior to May 11. She may be either a professional or an amateur in her talent field.

There is no entry fee involved, nor must a candidate have a sponsor in order to enter the contest.

Of the 11 finalists named, nine are University students. They are Karen Shaw, Alpha Omicron Pi, sponsored by Selleck; Connie Ann Wall, an independent from Pound 9th floor; Sandra Wright, Delta Gamma; Carolyn Ray Johnson, an independent from 13th floor Cather; Jean Mangold, an independent, Susie Segrist, of Pi Beta Phi; Claudia Parkes, Delta Gamma, sponsored by Cather 8th; Dessa Lee Strecker, an independent, from 11th Cather; Christina Jones, also an independent, sponsored by Selleck.

Jeanette Robertson, from Nebraska Wesleyan University, and Marcia Moody, a student nurse at Lincoln General Hospital, round out the eleven.

YD's To Hear Issues

Theodore Muenster, National Committee Man of the Nebraska Young Democrats (YD's) will speak to the YD's tomorrow.

Muenster, who has attended two YD National Conventions, will speak on "Campaign Issues of '64." He will speak at 7:30 p.m. in 235 Student Union.

(AWS) Board meeting yesterday. The Board also took action on revising the activity point system.

Junior women will have 11 p.m. hours on week nights, effective next fall, instead of the 10:30 p.m. hours they now have. AWS has been considering a change in women's hours for some time but this action, a motion made by Miss Jane Tenhulzen, vice president, is the first change they have approved.

The Board felt that this would distinguish the upper level classes from the freshmen and sophomores. It would also give junior women more of an opportunity to use the library, which is open until 11 p.m.

"I think it is a good idea for the upper-division students to be grouped together," said Helen Snyder, associate dean of student affairs.

Another primary reason for the Board's action was the fact that many juniors are 21 years of age. They felt that these women should have extended hours. The Board felt that by the time students are juniors they would know how much time is needed for studying and will apportion their time accordingly.

The Board also abolished mandatory application of the activity point system. In the past women students have been able to belong to only three organizations, may hold a presidency in one and a board position in two. The Board will recommend that students apply these limitations but will not require it.

A letter will be written to all organizations requesting that they consider the number of obligations a student already has when choosing their officers.

The purposes of the point system are to increase the efficiency of organizations by providing officers that will have sufficient time to carry out their duties, to benefit the student and protect their health, assuring enough time to fulfill scholastic requirements and to benefit the campus as a whole by distributing the offices among the many students capable of assuming responsibility.

"The Board felt that these purposes were good ones," said Miss Tenhulzen, "but felt that it would be better to have them serve in an advisory capacity."

The Board had difficulty when defining exactly what would be termed a board position in organizations. "It is hard to determine just how much time the position in all the organizations require," said Miss Tenhulzen.

The Board has maintained an appeals court for two years where an over-pointed student could appear.

"The organizations and the girls themselves should be capable of deciding on this matter," said Miss Tenhulzen. "Women students should learn how to budget their time and their capabilities."

Under the point system a board position consists of chairmanships and assistants, and some house offices, such as scholarship, social and standards chairmen and treasurer.

Worker positions in organizations do not count as memberships.

The mandatory point system has been in effect for at least 15 years.

Elliott Being Honored At Special Banquet

Dr. Curtis Elliott, professor of economics and insurance, will be honored at a banquet at the Nebraska Center by the Society for Liability and Property Underwriters (CPCU).

Elliott, known as "Doc" by his students, is the author of a widely used textbook on property and casualty insurance and a recognized authority in this field. He will be honored for his contribution to the teaching profession.

Students, faculty or anyone interested in tickets for the banquet should contact Ron Zimmer 477-4495, 423-8363, or Radan Hattari, 317 Social Sciences Building.

Film To Show Czech Story This Sunday

University students may see what life is really like in today's Communist-controlled Czechoslovakia at a program Sunday.

"Czechoslovakia," a feature-length color film, will be shown in the Union ballroom, presented by the Comenius Czech Club of the University.

Presenting this motion picture in person and narrating during its presentation will be the producer, Neil Douglas, internationally recognized writer, explorer, lecturer, glaciologist, and photographer.

For 18 different productions across the United States, this is one of the most in demand because of its objective and honest interpretation of how Czechs live, work and think now.

Sovakian scenes will include medieval architecture, volcanoes, ice caves and the art of pottery.

Scenes depicting Moravia feature modern exhibition halls of Brno, steelmills of Ostrava, river caverns, local colorful costumes, Silesian dancers, and ancient castles.

Highlights from Bohemia are procelian makes, glass and crystal processors, the art of Easter egg decoration, world famous spas, Plzen (Beverage Capital of the World), cathedrals, palaces, and libraries.

Advance tickets for the show which is open to the public are $1.50 for adults, $1 for high school and college students, and 50 cents for children. Tickets purchased at the door are 25 cents higher.

Advanced tickets can be obtained from James Janousek, 1335 South 17th Street, and may be picked up at the door before the performance.

Proceeds from the event will go to further the Czech Club Scholarship Foundation.

Deadline Is Told For Med School

"Students who wish to apply for admission to any medical College Admission Test either on April 25 or October 17 of this year."

This was the announcement made by Thomas B. Thorson, chairman of the Premedical Advisory committee. According to Thorson, those who wish to take the exam on April 25 must have their application forms turned in before April 10.

Forms may be obtained from the premedical advisors or from Thorson, 204 Bessey Hall.
