

BARBER SHOP INCIDENT SPURS ACTION

Council Expresses 'Strong Disapproval'

By Frank Partsch
Senior Staff Writer

Student Council yesterday unanimously passed a resolution expressing "strong disapproval" of the refusal of a Lincoln barber shop to serve a University student because he was a Negro.

The resolution, introduced by Joann Stratemann, referred to the Capital Hotel Barber Shop's refusal to cut Sam Skeete's hair. Skeete was told that the shop was not allowed to serve Negroes.

"If we are interested in the welfare of the students, as I assume we are, we should take an interest in this issue," said Miss Stratemann.

The motion called attention to an apparent violation of LB364 which allows everyone equal rights to public services, and referred action to the Public Issues committee for action.

Tom Kort, chairman of the Public Issues committee, said that action will be directed towards eliminating discrimination in general rather than atoning for the Skeete incident in particular.

"We aren't trying to involve Mr. Skeete in any big controversy," said Kort. "We can use this event as evidence that things of this type do happen in Lincoln."

During the extensive discussion following the introduction of the resolution, Del Rasmussen asked the Council to postpone action until next week to enable the members to study the issue. Ann Wahl moved to table the motion, but promptly withdrew her motion.

Mike Barton said that there should be no hesitation on passage of the motion merely on the basis of confusion in the wording of the motion or the state law to which it refers. "In this case a law has clearly been broken," he said.

The Council also passed a series of changes in the wording of the University traffic regulations in a committee report by Gary Oye, chairman of the Parking committee.

The revisions include restricting faculty parking on Ag Campus to faculty areas only; making "green" areas open to all University-registered parking for 15 minutes; changing faculty area hours so that they end at 2:30 rather than 3 p.m. and deleting the section which raises the fine to $5 after six offenses and results in automatic suspension of parking rights after the 13th offense.

Oye maintained that offenders who were forced to pay more per ticket because they had more than six offenses on record were being treated unfairly.

If the changes are accepted by the faculty senate, the fine will remain the same no matter how many tickets are on the student's record.

In other business the Council heard the results of the representation poll taken by Jim Baer and the members of the Representation committee. Baer reported that 210 forms were returned.

Some of the questions on the poll and the percentage of yes and no answers were:

Are you familiar with the present system of representation? 51 per cent yes; 49 per cent no.

Are you satisfied with the present system? 54 per cent yes; 46 per cent no.

Do you favor representation by colleges only? 32 per cent yes; 68 per cent no.

Do you favor representation by living units alone? 36 per cent yes; 64 per cent no.

Do you favor a voting faculty member on Council? 40 per cent yes; 60 per cent no.

James Gibson, Peace Corps ass'tant director of recruiting, told the Council that six more members will arrive next week to speak to upperclassmen about the benefits which the Corps offers.

He urged all interested groups to contact him at extensions 2450 or 2182 to arrange speaking appointments before Saturday. Gibson said that the Peace Corps will provide a booth in the Student Union at which information and questionnaires can be obtained.

Anyone wishing to take the Peace Corps placement examination can do so by presenting one of the questionnaires when he comes to take the test.

The tests will be given in the Union at 2:30, 4:30 and 7 p.m. Monday through Friday and at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Dick Weill, vice president, announced that the constitutions of Cather Hall, 4-H and the National Association of Homemakers have complied with Council regulations and moved their approval. The three constitutions were approved.

Students interested in applying for a position on the University delegation to the Nebraska Wesleyan University Model United Nations may sign up for Sunday interviews on the door of the Student Council office.

The police do put out an "attempt to locate, possibly stolen" report, Sawdon said. This is treated as a stolen car.

Sawdon said that no short effort was put forth on this case.
