PROPOSED ADDITION—Drawn-in area on the aerial view of Memorial Stadium shows the new seating for the south end.

Bids For New Stadium Seating To Be Opened On April 18th

Bids for the construction of the proposed addition to Memorial Stadium will be opened on April 8.

The Board of Regents will consider the bids a few days after the April 8 opening date and construction will begin shortly after. It is hoped the seating will be available next fall.

George Miller, administrator of the physical plant, said that plans call for the building of approximately 13,000 additional permanent type seats.

The addition will be built up to the end-zone over the existing cinder track.

University Business manager Carl Donaldson indicated that the seats over the track would be removable so that full use of the track could be made.

The addition will bring the permanent seating capacity of the stadium to between 43,000 and 44,000. Constructed of concrete, the addition will be 65 rows high. This is the same as the east and west stadiums without the balcony.

Access to the new area will from the raised south football practice field. Thus there will be no stairs to climb to reach the seats.

Sheldon Displays Works On Loan

Four new paintings and one sculpture on display at the Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery represent gifts or loans to the University art collection.

These gifts are "Polymer No. 9," an oil painting by Raymond Jonson provided by Arthur Johnson, Portland, Oregon and "Landscape Organicism," an oil by Sandra Gierke, donated by Peter Hill, Omaha. A bronze entitled "Cello Player" by Ossip Zadkine was provided by Dr. and Mrs. Frank Stanton of New York, N. Y.
