Baseball— Tulsa Opens 1964 Season

By Mike Sayre
Sports Staff Writer

Coach Tony Sharpe's baseball squad will travel to Tulsa Saturday to open the 1964 season. The game is the first of a six-game road swing.

Bob Hergenrader, sophomore from Lincoln, will start as pitcher in the opening contest.

Only five returning lettermen will be available this season. Dave May, who led the Huskers with a .360 average and won the Roy S. Wythers Most Valuable Player trophy last year, will start at first base.

Other returning lettermen are outfielder Wally Duff, infielder Ron Douglas, catcher Larry Bornschlegl and pitcher George Landgren.

The remaining five positions will be filled by sophomores. The rookies, in addition to Hergenrader, are outfielders Curt Johnson and Gary Tunnison, shortstop John Roux, and Joe Gaughan or Randy Harris, second base.

Sharpe announced his batting order for the Tulsa opener would be: Gaughan or Harris, second base; Johnson, centerfield; May, first base; Tunnison, leftfield; Bornschlegl, catcher; Douglas, third base; Duff, rightfield; Roux, shortstop; and Hergenrader, pitcher.

After a six-game road swing, the Huskers will open Big Eight competition against Oklahoma University at Norman April 10 and 11. Then Nebraska will host Kansas University in Lincoln April 17 and 18.

The Huskers will seek to improve a 5-15 record and a sixth place standing in Big Eight competition in 1963.

"How we do this season depends on how the sophomores come through," says Coach Tony Sharpe, who has been drilling the baseball squad since December.

According to Sharpe, the pitching staff will be the weakest part of the squad. Keith Sieck, Jan Wall and Ron Havekost have all graduated. The trio handled most of the hurling chores last season.

This year's returning pitchers threw only 37 2-3 innings last year for a 1-3 record. Leading the contingent is George Landgren, Jim Karhoff and George Flock.

The standout, according to Sharpe, is sophomore hurler Bob Hergenrader. "He's been looking real good for this early in the workouts," says Sharpe. Hergenrader will start at the opener in Tulsa.

Also in the running for a starting pitching berth is Tom Larsen, a sophomore with good control and a lot of hop on the ball.

Sharpe feels the infield will be "defensively stronger than last year." Dave May, the leading Husker hitter, will start at first. Holding down third base will be Ron Douglas, who switched over from second. Both May and Douglas are seniors.

John Roux and Jim Ammerman are competing for the starting shortstop position. Roux probably has the edge due to his better hitting ability.

Joe Gaughan, Randy Harris and Rod Beckman are candidates for the second base job.

In the outfield only Wally Duff returns. But sophomores Curt Johnson and Gary Tunnison, a hard-hitting converted third baseman, should be ready to step in.

"The outfield will be stronger defensively," says Sharpe. "The hitting may not be too strong out there but last year's outfield only hit about .100 anyway."

The hitting compared to last season "is much better than at this time last season," says Sharpe.

"If we can play to the best of our ability and get some breaks, we are hoping to be right in the battle for the first division," says Sharpe.

This match was the Huskers' final dual prior to the Big Eight tournament to be held April 10 and 11 at Iowa State.

FIVE RETURNING LETTERMEN—Husker baseball hopes will be pinned on the above five lettermen and promising sophomores this season.

NU-Minnesota Clash On National Television

The Husker-Minnesota University grid clash on Sept. 26 is slated to be televised nationally by the National Broadcasting Company.

Ada S. Bushnell, TV program director for the television committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) made the announcement Sunday.

Only one other Big Eight team will be viewed nationally. The Oklahoma-Texas game is scheduled for Oct. 10.

Regional broadcasts will be made of two other Big Eight games. Kansas State-Wisconsin on Sept. 19 and Iowa State-Missouri on Oct. 24 will be seen in the Midwest area only. Nine games on the 14-date schedule will be televised nationally while the other four dates will carry regional broadcasts.

The Pittsburgh-UCLA clash at Pittsburgh opens the schedule on Sept. 12.

The top ten teams of 1963 all are included on the list of games to be televised. All of the dates will be on Saturday with the exception of the Thanksgiving Day tussle between Southeastern Conference rivals Auburn and Alabama.

NBC expects to televise all of the national games and one game each of the regional games in color.

According to NCAA rules, all eight NCAA districts must be represented on the fall schedule by at least three colleges.

Pitching Looks Good— Frosh Diamond Team

Nebraska freshman baseball coach Monte Kiffin has trimmed the original 70-man squad down to 26 and expects to cut down to 25 in the near future.

"We've got to cut down to a workable number of the best potential varsity players," Kiffin said. "Right now it looks like we have some fine freshman players this spring."

Head coach Tony Sharpe echoes Kiffin's optimism about the 1964 frosh club.

"Freshman pitching prospects, both in numbers and ability, are the best we've had for some time," Sharpe said. Bringing smiles to Kiffin and Sharpe are four hard-throwing righthanders and two promising southpaws.

Top righthanders are Gary Neibauer of Scottsbluff, Don Wilson of Loup City, Bob Stickle of Hastings and Stan Bahnsen of Council Bluffs, Ia. Heading the portside crew and flashing strong potential are Micky Zangari of Lincoln and John Wright of Scottsbluff.

Kiffin also listed the following players as being standouts in early workouts:

Robin Stickney, Pierceton, Ind., catcher; Tom Anderson, Alliance, first base; Jim Smith, Columbus, shortstop; Jim Stevenson, Western Springs, Ill., third base; John Meyer, Fairbury; Chat Stickelman, York; Alex Walter, Lincoln; and Terry Hoy, Lincoln, all outfielders.

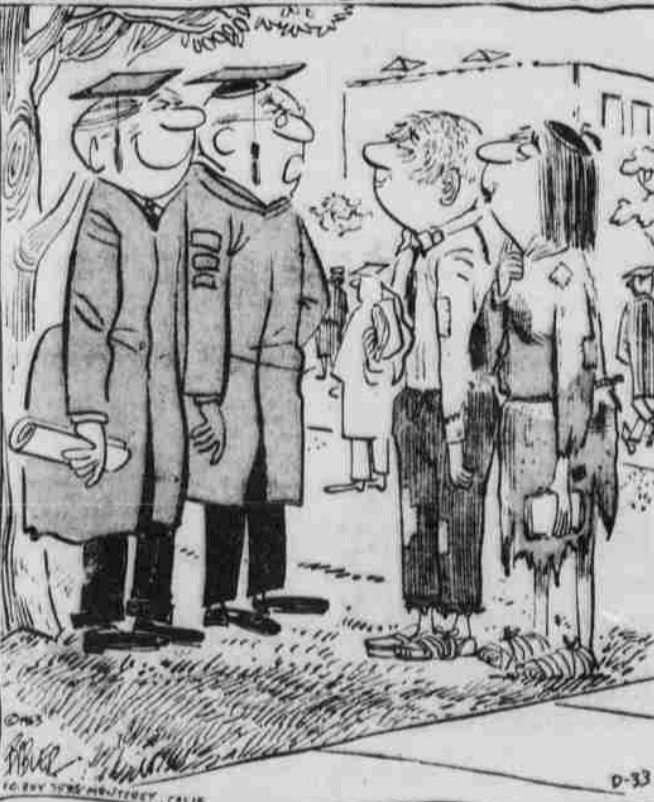

The complete Nebraska freshman roster at this time includes:
