Expanded FMA Programs Promises More Savings

Fraternity Management Association (FMA) committee members will begin conferences with fraternity and sorority treasurers, house managers and housemothers within the next two weeks.

The members will explain the program and purposes of FMA and will provide contracts for the 1964-1965 school year.

FMA is a committee of InterFraternity Council (IFC). It is organized on the principle of volume buying. If all living units would buy all of their milk products, all of their canned goods, etc., from one establishment, the price for each could be reduced. Thus, FMA has contracted, after receiving an annual bid from each interested firm, one firm for each product. Member houses then buy exclusively from these chosen firms at a reduced rate.

Products which are presently incorporated in the program are dairy products, laundry, frozen foods, bakery goods and eggs. New products which are being considered for next year's program are flowers, canned goods, lumber, paints and paper.

Since the committee's establishment two years ago, it has succeeded in bringing prices of certain products down for all living units. For instance, milk (2% butter fat) was being sold to the units at an average of 72 cents a gallon. By contracting one dairy at a reduced rate, most dairy firms have reduced their prices also to an average of 64 cents per gallon. Consequently, non-member houses are also gaining benefits from the FMA program. However, the contracted dairy gives an additional discount to member houses to compensate for this decrease in price by the competitors.

The FMA committee has found that this year an average of $144.18 was saved by each large member house on milk products over a period of five months. The largest saving of any house was $299. Small member houses saved an average of $75.03 during this period of milk products.

On laundry, the large houses for five months saved an average of $51.62 each and small houses saved an average of $21.12.

This year 24 living units participated in the program. Doyle Kauk, chairman of the committee, emphasized that houses, whether members or not, who have received the benefit of reduced prices from FMA action, should consider carefully the possibility of an obligation to patronize the firms participating in the program and to support the program itself.

JFK Library Asking Help

A student drive for the proposed Kennedy Library will be conducted in University living units May 9-13. The drive is part of a national collection to finance the memorial to the late President, John F. Kennedy.

Collection boxes will be circulated and students will be asked to contribute checks payable to the "John Fitzgerald Kennedy Library" in an envelope also containing their name. Contributors names will be listed in an exhibit in the national memorial.

The library, to be built on the banks of the Charles River overlooking Harvard's Winthrop House where Kennedy lived as an undergraduate will have three working components: a museum which will contain Kennedy's momentos, an archive housing his personal paper and records pertinent to his administration and an institute promoting democratic practice. The institute will support scholarships, research material, lectures and seminars for this end.

For more information about the drive, contact Jim Demars at 435-5851 or Dwaine Francis at 432-4855.

Interviews Slated For Cornhusker

Interviews for section editors on the 1965 CORNHUSKER will be held at 3:30 p.m. Thursday and applications for the positions should be returned at 2 p.m. Thursday at which time applicants will take a written test.

The application forms will be available in the CORNHUSKER office, 51A Student Union any time after 3 p.m. today.

Sections open are fraternities (3), sororities (2) sports (3), women's houses (2) men's houses (3), student scenes (2) activities (2), administration, military, research and journalism, medicine, nursing and dentistry, fine arts, agriculture, student government, graduate colleges, Teachers and Business Administration, Engineering, Pharmacy, Arts and Sciences, and Law, as well as three panel assistantships.

YR Parade Bids Due Tomorrow

All living units competing for the Young Republican award to be presented at the YR parade tomorrow evening must submit applications by noon tomorrow.

Applications may be turned into the YR mail box at the main desk in the Nebraska Union, or to Doug Paine at the Alpha Gamma Rho house.

Paine, YR campaign manager, said the awards will be given to the living units which rank highest in participation, spirit and over-all enthusiasm. YR executive board will select the winner.

The parade will not pass all living units, so individuals should assemble at the North door of the Union at 7 p.m.

Donor Of Union's Roses Presents Thorny Problem

By Priscilla Mullins Senior Staff Writer

Where did all the flowers come from? Or better yet, where did all the donors of the flowers go? Just where did those flowers come from? These perplexing questions arose when an investigation concerning the roses at the north-west corner of the Union was begun.

The flower plot adds a touch of beauty to the expanse of cement surrounding the Union. In the midst of this garden there is a sign. The sign reads: Girl Scout Roses presented to the University by the Girl Scouts of America on the 50th anniversary of their founding, 5-4-62.

Herein begins the problem. The Jay-Husker Council of Girl Scouts knows nothing about the roses. When asked just who planted the roses, they found that they knew nothing about the Union roses.

The Girl Scout office said that they did have a rose-planting project two years ago during their 50th anniversary. They did donate some roses to Chancellor Clifford Hardin for his home, but did not have anything to do with the Union roses.

Mrs. Fred Akin, who was heading up the project, has been unable to find out who donated the roses. She has no record of them, and can find no one who does.

Mrs. Akin has started an investigation, but until and unless she gets some results, speculation on the identity of the mysterious donor continues.

Could it be that the rose bunny left them? Or possibly they are in memoriam from the state legislature. Or could they be left-over from an Ag horticulture experiment? Possibly a Girl Scout alum was trying to relive her scouting days.

It might be that the Camp Fire Girls developed a cross between roses and poison ivy in their friendly rivalry with the Girl Scouts. Or maybe Miss America of 1963 was impressed with the University of Nebraska football team and sent them a token of her sports appreciation. Could it be that the chancellor has hayfever, and is allergic to roses?

Husker Bowling Team Wins National Tourney

The Nebraska bowling team achieved national honors this past weekend by taking the National Inter-collegiate Bowling Association's team title in a tournament held at DeKalb, Ill.

The tournament was extremely close until the Huskers shot a 1032 game against Bradley University in the eighth game.

The tournament was conducted by having each team shoot against each of six other participating teams in the preliminary rounds. A final three game match was then rolled in the position round with total pins determining the champion.

The Huskers had a 940 team average as they compiled a 4-2 record in the preliminary rounds and a 2878 total in the position round.

The Nebraska team made a clean sweep of tournament honors as Bob Gant took high game with a 264 and all events with a 9-game total of 1851. Phil Schenck took high series for the final three game round with a 626.

The national title won by the Huskers is only the latest honor achieved by the Husker bowlers this year. Previously they won the Association of College Unions regional tourney, the Kansas-Nebraska conference title and also the Big Eight championship.

Individual	Scores	9-game	average
Bob Gant	1851	264	205

Kappas Fight Wind, Phis For Powder Puff Title

Sun-burned noses and wind-swept hairdos marked the climax of a successful Powder Puff series sponsored by Alpha Tau Omega last Saturday.

Thirteen sororities participated in this single elimination, four-round softball tourney, which lasted all day Saturday. Each game lasted three innings.

Kappa Kappa Gamma won the travelling trophy (an 18" trophy with a girl softball player on top) by drubbing the sluggers from Alpha Phi, 31-10.

Ginny Wheaton pitched good ball for the Kappas in limiting the Phis to only 10 runs. However, she couldn't have won without able timber support from Judy "Babe" Erickson (three prodigious home runs) and Susie Pearce.

Robbie Chris did the hurling for the Phis and Jo Lee Hrnicek and Becky Yerik aided by Miss Chris took over-hitting chores.

The umpires for this final, wind-blown tilt were John Morris and Louie Scholz. Duncan Drum, the brains behind the whole tourney, said that he "thought it went well for the first time," and that it will be continued in the future.
