Ticket Lottery Set For Home Games

All students who want football tickets for remaining home games should participate in the football ticket lottery next Tuesday and Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Coliseum.

According to James Pittenger, ticket manager, the lottery is held to determine each student's seat location in the stadium.

Each student must bring the following to the Coliseum Ticket Office:

1. Ticket purchased for the South Dakota football game.
2. Football Ticket Permit—the pink, green or buff-colored IBM card received at the time of purchasing a ticket for the South Dakota football game.

Students who did not purchase a South Dakota ticket may participate in the lottery by submitting their Football Ticket Permits (IBM card) and $10.

Those students who wish to sit in a group should submit the Football Ticket Permit and the South Dakota ticket or $10 for each student in the group and the tickets will be assigned as a group.

All freshmen will be seated in the South Stadium and these students should submit their requests separate from upperclassmen at the Athletic Ticket Office.

YR's Give Spirit Award

Walt Wittoff, state senior Republican party chairman will speak on "Politics and Its Implications to the College Student", at the opening Young Republican meeting of the year.

This meeting will begin at 7 p.m. tomorrow in the south conference room of the Student Union.

Bill Harding, YR president, encourages all members and interested students to attend this meeting. "This will be the start of an educational series geared towards the questions college students have about the local, state and national political scene," Harding said.

Dick Weerts, publicity chairman for the group, said Sign-up sheets for committees will be available for anyone who is unable to sign up at the Activities Mart on Wednesday.

The winner of the Robert B. Crosby Spirit Award will be given at the first meeting after the November election by former Nebraska governor Crosby.

In determining the winner of this award, a count will be taken of the active membership in each living unit. From this figure, the percentage of YR membership in each house will be determined. Then, a count will be taken of the number of members from each house which are present at each meeting until election.

This number will also be converted into a percentage figure. These two percentages will then be combined, with the house having the highest composite percentage winning the Crosby Award.

the lottery may pick up their tickets in the Coliseum during the week of Oct. 5-9, Pittenger said.

Those students who do not take part in the lottery may purchase tickets during the week of Oct. 5-9, but those who participate in the lottery will receive first choice on seat location. All student ticket sales will end at 4 p.m. Oct. 9.

When attending football games this fall, students will be required to show both the student identification card and the football ticket at the stadium gate, Pittenger said.

Students who have completed registration and have not received Football Ticket Permits may obtain them by presenting their identification cards at the Athletic Ticket Office.

Any married student may obtain two student tickets. However, if the Football Ticket Permit does not stipulate the student is married, positive proof, such as a marriage certificate, must be furnished.

Graduate students may obtain Football Ticket Permits by presenting identification cards or proof of registration at the Athletic Ticket Office.

YWCA Sponsors Freshman Camp

The deadline for men's registration for the YWCA freshman camp has been extended until tomorrow, the YWCA announced yesterday. Registration for women is closed.

One hundred freshmen, composed of equal numbers of men and women, will attend the camp at Camp Kitaki Friday and Saturday. The camp is designed to teach freshmen to ask questions, to solve practical questions of judgement and to give them a fuller meaning of their experience.

Small informal groups will hold discussions concerning morals, scholarships, activities and religion. These discussion groups will be led by counselors who were picked from student leaders on campus.

Some of the counselors are from Ivy Day Court, a homecoming day queen attendant, eleven different honoraries, Outstanding Collegiate Man, Ideal Nebraska Coed, Miss Block and Bridle, International Shorthorn Queen, Innocents and Mortar Boards and officers in most of the campus activities.

Also faculty members will help lead some discussions. Faculty speakers will be Dr. Robert Manley; J. Winston Martin, associated dean of Student Affairs; Dr. Charles

Williams Will Replace Soshnik As Comptroller

Robert Williams, an Iowa CPA, has been appointed full time comptroller for the University. He will begin October 1.

The position has been filled by Vice Chancellor Joseph Soshnik since the administrative staff reorganization in 1962.

Yearbook Awarded Top Rating

For the fifth year in a row the Cornhusker has taken the highest honor a yearbook can receive — the All American Yearbook Rating.

The award was presented by the National Yearbook Critical Service of the Associated Collegiate Press at the University of Minnesota Journalism School on September 10.

The Cornhusker competed with other yearbooks from schools of 10,000 students or more. This was the largest entry class.

A total of 7,100 points was needed to win the All American Rating. The Cornhusker was awarded 7,350 points.

Editor of the 1964 Cornhusker was Mary Jo MacKenzie. Assistant editors were Jane Tenhulzen and Dan Rosenthal. Business Manager was Sally Wilson.

Photographs were planned by Jack Riggle. Copy and layouts were written and drawn by the staff.

Angel Flight Ups Air Force Spirit

Sophomore, junior and senior women are eligible for membership in Angel Flight, an interest organization sponsored by the local Arnold Air Society.

Angel Flight serves to advance and promote interest in the Air Force, obtain information about the military services and aid the Arnold Air Society and Air Force ROTC.

Angel Flight's scope is extended from the campus to the community, state and nation through its educational and service projects, field trips, hostessing activities and area and national conclaves.

Selection is made by an interviewing board consisting of present Angel Flight and Arnold Air Society members. New members are chosen on the basis of high scholastic average, personality, poise, social grace, knowledge of current events and present military situations and interest in Angel Flight and its activities.

Army ROTC Ranks Hit By 80% Drop

By Priscilla Mullens
Senior Staff Writer
Approximately one-fifth of last year's freshman Army ROTC students have continued in the ROTC program since it was made non-compulsory by the Board of Regents last spring.

Col. Elmer Powell, commanding officer of the Army ROTC attributed the drop in enrollment to the new voluntary program, but said that there are still sophomores volunteering to continue in the program who wish to further their preparation as leaders in the Army.

Powell said that fraternity men in the advanced courses are talking to this year's sophomores in their houses trying to convince them that the program has merits and should be continued. He said he hopes this will boost the present enrollment.

The University, as a land grant college, must offer a ROTC program. The Board of Regents, until last spring maintained that the program be compulsory, but at that time decided that University enrollment was becoming so large that it would be impossible to handle all the incoming freshmen male students in the program.

The Regents, besides being influenced by the expense of handling such great numbers of students, also considered the law approved by Congress which provided for a camp to be held between the sophomore and junior years to take the place of the elementary training received in the first two years of training.

The Air Force ROTC enrollment has increased this year to 665 freshmen, as compared with 595 freshmen last year. Lt. Col. Shimonkevitz, acting professor of Air Science, attributed this increase to the fact that the Air Force lifted its ceiling of 600 students this year, not knowing how the new ruling would affect them. He said the Air Force has always felt that the voluntary program was more adaptable to its purposes, and that the ruling has been accepted happily by the Air Force.

Capt. A. C. Mullen, commanding officer of the Navy ROTC said that the Navy has not been affected much by the ruling, since the Navy offers a four year program, and students who join the program now and those who joined during the compulsory ruling for the most part joined because they were honestly interested in serving the four years and going on into the Navy as a career.

Tea Will Honor Freshman Women

All new women students are invited to the Dean of Women's Tea, to be held Friday from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. in the Pan American room of the Nebraska Union.

In the receiving line will be Miss Helen Snyder, associate dean of Student Affairs, Miss Madelaine Girard, Panhellenic adviser, Mrs. Jane Anderson, assistant to the dean, Miss Mary Frances Holman, Mrs. Margaret Wenke and Mrs. Betty Cooper, residence hall directors.

AWS Representatives Will Meet Tomorrow

An Associated Women Students House of Representatives meeting will be held tomorrow at 5 p.m. in the Nebraska Union.

According to AWS Board, representatives from all organized houses and student assistants from the dormitories should attend this meeting.

Funds Loom Big

Lundak

Million Dollars Received In Aid

University of Nebraska students are receiving over one million dollars in scholarship funds this year, according to Edward Lundak, new director of scholarship and financial aids.

The financial aid is divided among thousands of students. This aid takes the form of several types of scholarships and loans, for which many students are eligible to apply.

According to Lundak, students are eligible to receive certain types of loans with as low as a 4.5 average. A 5.0 average is required for a Federal Defense Loan and a 6.0 average makes a student eligible for any of the upper-class financial aids.

"Before a student can get upperclass financial aid he must take the upperclass Regent's exam," Lundak emphasized. "This exam is given to all students wishing to take it and is given early in the second semester. All students wishing to apply for financial aid or renewal of aid they now receive must take this exam."

Recipients of the 300 Upperclass Regent's Scholarships are determined by a composite of this test score, their class standing in their college and their overall grade average.

For other awards, these are also the factors which determine their recipients, unless the trust agreement specifies that financial need of the student also be taken into consideration. Financial need is the main determinate of those who receive loans.

Mr. Lundak encouraged all students to visit him and to take advantage of the scholarship program. "If students have financial problems, this is the place to come, and they don't necessarily have to be referred here by anyone," he said.

A retired Air Force lieutenant colonel, Lundak replaced Elton Teton as director of scholarships and financial aids this year. He had entered the University as a graduate student in 1960 after serving 22 years as a B-17 pilot and personnel officer in the Strategic Air Command.

Classes Big, But Problems Controlled

Thanks to pre-registration the traditional freshmen English enrollment problem has grown no larger this year.

There has always been a problem getting students to the right classes at the right time, and with the increased enrollment the problem has become even larger, Ned Hedges, assistant director of freshmen English, said yesterday.

Twenty-five member classes are still possible because of the increase in the English department staff.

The problem of finding rooms for the greater number of classes has been solved by holding freshmen English in Lyman, Morrill, Bessey, Burnett and Stout Halls. On Ag Campus classes are held in Ag Hall, Ag Engineering building and even in the Dairy Industry building.

"Though we expect the usual long lines of students wishing to drop and add or change hours of classes, I have been sitting here almost ten minutes and have not seen a student," Hedges commented.

Fellowship Group Holds Fall Picnic

The Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship will hold its annual fall picnic Saturday at Pioneers Park.

A special invitation is extended to all new students. Transportation will be provided from the south entrance of the Student Union at 4:30 p.m. Tickets can be purchased at the picnic for 50 cents.

Application Deadline For Fulbrights Near

Only a few weeks remain in which to apply for Fulbright-Hays fellowships for the 1965-66 academic year. More than 900 graduate grants to 53 countries are available through the U.S. Department of State's educational exchange program, which is authorized by the Fulbright-Hays Act.

Because of the importance of inter-American relations, the United States Government is offering special opportunities to U.S. students for study in Latin America.

Approximately 80 Latin American grants for the 1965-66 academic year will be available to beginning graduate students and graduating seniors through a program supervised by the Board of Foreign Scholarships and administered by the Institute of International Education.

This program, started in 1963, will send young Americans to those republics in which the number of U.S. students has traditionally been small.

Candidates for the awards must be U.S. citizens and single, with at least a bachelor's degree by the beginning date of the grant and proficiency in the language of the host country.

Grantees will live in university housing when available and will be expected to participate in the academic and social student life of the country assigned.

Students who wish to apply for the graduate grants for an award for study or research, or for teaching assistantships, must have the same qualifications as the Latin American candidates. The graduate grant candidates can be married.

Selections for the graduate grants will be made on the basis of academic and professional record, the feasibility of the applicant's proposed study plan, and personal qualifications.

Three types of grants are available under the Fulbright-Hays Act: U.S. Government Full Grants, Joint U.S. Other Government Grants, and U.S. Government Travel-Only Grants.

Application forms and information may be obtained from the campus Fulbright Adviser, Harold Wise, Administration 306.

Students Invited To Debate Meeting

Students interested in intercollegiate debate are invited to attend a meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in room 103C Temple Building.

The national intercollegiate debate question this year is: Resolved: That the federal government should establish a national program of public work for the unemployed.

Previous experience in high school debate is not necessary.

Yes, We Have No Bananas!
