

Students—Take a Stand

This is an election year on the national scene. Conscientious students are pouring over the election news and forming their opinions. But then what, most are too young to vote.

Student Council will again provide the students an opportunity to state their choice by sponsoring a mock election. The election date set by Larry Frolik, public issues chairman, is Oct. 28. The Daily Nebraskan will support this event in every-way possible. Current plans are that Young Democrats and Young Republicans will help by being at the polls on election day.

Governor Frank Morrison will be on campus Oct. 14; Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor Phil Sorenson will appear at a campus meeting October 7.

Several Republican candidates will be on campus before a Republican parade through downtown Lincoln on Oct. 22. This may include such persons as Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney, candidate for governor, Charles Thone, candidate for lieutenant governor and, depending upon the recess of Congress, Ralph Beerman, and Roman Hruska, both candidates for Congress.

This is an opportunity for students to hear these people, become acquainted with their views and form an opinion.

It is their obligation to know what these candidates stand for, how they have voted in the past, and how they stand on such issues as broadening of the tax base, state spending, etc.

It is the hope of the Daily Nebraskan that both the speaking appearances and the mock election will be widely supported by the students.

The Bad Seed III

Upon returning to school, one of my eyes was caught by a rolling stretch of prairie, known in the provincial mid-west kingdom as a "mall." There are now 56 acres of mall on this campus for every registered student. By 1967, the Board of Regents plans to make NU one giant mall, extending from Perky's Pizza to the south, and east and west by Grand Island and the Missouri River.

Our University will have the distinction of being the only accredited national park with Smokey the Bear as Chancellor.

Having come to the end of the first week, I should welcome the freshmen — those rosy round cheeked cherubs with the quaint "daddy-told-me" concept of college, who still run in the Union bathroom to giggle.

Welcome and leave me alone.

Looming in the near future is the Great Ticket Lottery, known slyly as Pittinger's Pot. It's a big thing for the freshmen — graduating from the Knot-hole section at the south end of the field to the stadium section at the south end of the field.

But I am risking the wrath of the Sunshine Gods, being so bitter—there are goodie things to anticipate this year. There will be those inspiring letters from the Youth For Goldwater (another unrecognized minority group), Student Council, and An Alumn of 1932, petitioning for Bury Goldwater, one-way halls in Selleck Quad, and A Little More Support for Scrip Magazine.
