

Panhellenic Workshop Opens Tonight In Union

... Activities Continue All Week

"What is a Fraternity?" will be the theme of the annual Panhellenic Workshop to be held this week.

Panhellenic consists of two representatives from each sorority and serves as a co-ordinating body for all sororities on campus.

Panhellenic council works to assist sororities with scholarship and activity problems by presenting speakers, sponsoring discussions and establishing committees.

The workshop this week will give sororities an opportunity to discuss problems that officers encounter and by this improve the respective houses.

Panhellenic week began yesterday with sorority members attending the churches of their choice. Tonight there will be a dinner for panhellenic delegates and presidents.

At 7 p.m., "Panhellenic Night" will be held in the Student Union Ballroom with all sororities attending. Mrs. L. E. Roy Shelton, Panhellenic Delegate from Glencoe, Ill., will speak on "What is a Fraternity?"

The Panhellenic Scholarship Award will be presented to the house with the greatest improvement in scholarship.

Today through Wednesday evenings the sororities will exchange two members each for the Panhellenic Exchange Dinners.

Panhellenic Training School groups will run Wednesday evening, giving house representatives an opportunity to discuss problems.

Presidents will meet at the Alpha Chi Omega house; Rush Chairmen at Alpha Phi; Activities Chairmen at Chi Omega; Standards at Delta Delta Delta. Scholarship chairmen at Pi Beta Phi; Social chairmen at Kappa Kappa Gamma; Pledge Trainers at the Gamma Phi Beta house; and Alpha Delta Pi will hostess the Health Chairmen.

Acacia Foregoes Homecoming Display To Aid Orphanage

A Homecoming display was bypassed by Acacia Fraternity in favor of making more of a "home" for the children at the State Home for Dependent Children (Whitehall). Acacia members voted to donate the $150 and 400 hours of labor, which would have gone into making a Homecoming display, to Whitehall and the American Cancer Society.

whole campus participate in activities of this type.

"I'm not going to say that it was less work than building a display, because it wasn't. But the work was done during the day, and we didn't have to stay up late at night. There was still time for studying."

"We tried something new, it worked, and we're glad we did," Cole said.

Trees and shrubs were purchased to landscape a new cottage at Whitehall, and then members helped clean up and fix up the home.

Neil Cole, Acacia president, said he thought everyone involved in Homecoming displays should evaluate the money and man-hours put into the displays.

He estimated that approximately 30,000 man-hours, and $2000 is spent each year.

"If people would stop and think about it they would see the advantages of doing something worthwhile against the disadvantages of the time and money wasted on displays."

The whole house supported the project, and Cole said the work "built up continuity of the house."

Dave Smith To Compete For Army ROTC Honor

David Smith has been chosen to represent the University in the nationwide competition to select the outstanding U.S. Army ROTC graduate of 1964.

His selection was announced by Col. E. R. Powell, professor of military science. Smith will compete for the coveted Hughes Perpetual Trophy, awarded annually by the Secretary of the Army to the nation's outstanding ROTC graduate.

Smith was selected by a board of faculty members on the basis of military and academic grades, potential qualities as an officer, leadership in academic and student-body fields, and demonstrated qualities of discipline, courtesy, personality, and character.

B.A. in English, Smith is currently enrolled in the College of Law.

Susan Falk, NU Coed, Reigns Over Quivera

A University coed, Susan Falk, was crowned queen of Ak-Sar-Ben Friday at the Ak-Sar-Ben coronation. V. J. Skutt, executive officer of United of Omaha and Mutual of Omaha, was crowned king.

Her majesty will reign over her realm of the mythical kingdom of Quivera for one year.

This is only the second time in 70 years that a University miss has been chosen.

The gown of her majesty and those of her court were designed by Norman Hartnell of London, Queen Elizabeth's own couturier.

Mrs. Falk is a pledge of Kappa Kappa Gamma. She spent last year studying in Stockholm, Sweden, and returned in August to prepare for her year of reign.

Mechanical Engineers Will Meet Wednesday

The student section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will hold their second meeting of the 1964-65 school year on Wednesday.

E. E. Brown, a research engineer for the Collins Radio Co., will present a talk entitled "The First Two Years on the Job." Brown is a 1960 graduate of the University of Missouri. He will be able to answer many questions which students have concerning their first job in industry.

Conference To Include Emergency Aid Work

A special, three-day conference designed for laymen responsible for the immediate care of the sick and injured will be held at the Nebraska Center Oct. 29-31.

The course, sponsored by the University's College of Medicine under the direction of the department of surgery, will go beyond the instruction given in first aid courses.

Trainees will be selected from state, county and city police, firemen, rescue squadmen, plant safety officers, emergency room personnel and ambulance attendants.

Special discussions will be held on the care of mass casualties, airway emergencies and heart patients.

A demonstration on closed chest cardiac massage will be given by Robert Gillespie, M.D., of Lincoln at 10 a.m. Oct. 29.

Persons interested in attending who have successfully completed first aid courses and have experience in emergency care work should call or write the Nebraska Center.

Alpha Kappa Psi To Hold Smoker Tomorrow Night

Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity, will hold a smoker at 7:30 p.m. in the Pawnee Room of the Student Union tomorrow night.

A film, alumni representing various fields of business, and an informal coffee and conversation hour will be featured at the smoker.

All unaffiliated University Business Administration students are invited.

The fraternity, chartered in 1904, was installed on the Nebraska campus in the spring of 1914, and has continued a basic program of speakers, films, field trips, and industrial tours throughout Nebraska.

Membership also assists students in meeting others with similar interests both during and after college. To assist in job placement, the group maintains an employment directory which presents the photographs and qualifications of members and is sent to over 3000 leading business firms throughout the United States.

Unionizing

Ticket sales for the upcoming Harry Belafonte Show and a "Getting to Know You" Jamboree highlight Union activity for the coming week.

The Belafonte show will be presented at Pershing Auditorium Nov. 6. Tickets will go on sale today and may be obtained in the Student Union, Miller and Paine and Gateway Shopping Center. Prices are $2.50, $3 and $3.50.

Block seating will be available tomorrow at the Union program office from 9 a.m. until noon.

The "Getting to Know You" program will provide all old and new Union members an opportunity to become acquainted, according to Terry Schaff, Union Public Relations chairman. It will be held in the Union ballroom at 5 p.m. tomorrow.

Admission price is 25 cents, and dinner and entertainment will be provided.

The Union will also present two films this week. "View from the Bridge" will appear Wednesday and "Roman Holiday" will be shown Friday and Sunday. Price is 25 cents and student ID.

Burney, Fiancee Honored At Hotel

In a combination of social grace and politics, Lieutenant Governor Dwight Burney and his fiancee, were the guests of honor at a reception yesterday afternoon at the Lincoln Hotel.

One thousand persons turned out to greet Burney. Mrs. Paul

Armstrong, hostess for the affair said, "This is a social gathering, not political."

Cathi Comidas, head of the University Republican "Go Girls" said, "There are 25 Go Girls here. It is their job to campaign at affairs like this."

I love a man in Van Heusen "417"!

You can tell he's important, ready to move up. That "V-Taper" fits and flatters his rugged, rangy physique, and the executive styling of traditional button-downs or crisp Snap-Tabs should take him to the top. Broadcloth or oxford, in all the greatest colors, oh man... that's the shirt for my man!

Do you know what it takes to be a P&G Sales Manager?

- It takes...good education?
- ...good common sense?
- ...good sense of humor?
- ...good hard work?

At P&G, it takes a good man to be a Sales Manager because he's the man in charge of a big operation. Take J. R. Reynolds, for instance. Joe graduated from the University of Alabama, class of '60. At the first level of P&G Sales Management, he is now responsible for an annual business of $5,000,000. His job involves an understanding of his business situation and goals, motivating his people to accomplish the goals, and specific sales responsibility for major accounts. Yes, it takes a good man to be a Sales Manager, and at P&G it gives him back a lot of good things, too... such as rapid advancement to even greater responsibility, and the sense of real accomplishment.

Sales Management
Interviewing November 5 & 6

Training each individual man on his sales staff is possibly the most important concern of the P&G Sales Manager. This includes helping each man to develop the incentive that is important to his own success, as well as the Company's.

As the man responsible for sales in his area, the P&G Sales Manager devotes many hours to planning sales promotion activities, and to implementing those sales promotion campaigns that are staged throughout the Company.
