

College Advisory Boards Give Students Experience

By Jim Korshoj
Junior Staff Writer

Several of the colleges at the University give their students a chance to take part in the governing and functioning of their college through use of student advisory boards.

These groups are present in the Colleges of Business Administration, Agriculture, Engineering and Teachers.

The primary functions of the Business Administration Student Advisory Board are to serve as a sounding board for the students and to promote activities in the college to better the students.

The board consists of nine members, elected by the business administration students each spring. They meet twice monthly.

All students are encouraged to attend the board meetings and to voice their opinions on matters in the college.

The board presents any ideas for improvement to the administrators of the college and present their reasons for making their request.

In past years the board has sponsored a "Business Administration Careers Day" each fall. This year however they are sponsoring a series

Campus YR's Plan Rally, Coffee Hour

The University Young Republicans (YR's) will hold a rally parade tonight for all member organizations and GOP candidates.

The parade will begin at 7 p.m., at the north door of the Student Union and a coffee hour will be held in the south party room following the parade.

Marilyn Bowen, YR membership chairman, reminded all houses in competition for the Robert B. Crosby spirit award that this will be the last general meeting at which membership cards may be bought in order to be counted for the award.

The award goes annually to the organized house with the highest percentage of its membership registered in the YR's.

of professionally-oriented programs throughout the year in place of Careers Day.

These programs will attempt to present many of the problems and experiences which a student can expect to meet when he enters the business world.

The Teachers College Student Advisory Board works directly with the dean of the college. They advise the dean on any questions in which they believe the students should have a voice.

The board consists of nine members who meet weekly. They are nominated for the board by the faculties of the different departments in the college and are chosen by the outgoing board in the spring. All members of the board are either juniors or seniors.

Chief activities of the group include the bestowing of board-sponsored scholarships to two students of the college each year. They maintain a bulletin board in the college, hold a senior tea in the spring and work to pro-

Smothers Brothers 'Strip' At Concert

Recently, the Smothers Brothers, who will be appearing at the Omaha Civic Auditorium, Music Hall, on October 28, at 8:30 p.m., played a concert at the University of California in Berkeley.

When the brothers appeared on stage in their usual bright red blazers they were met by a near riot and cries of "take off that red coat!"

Red is the color of Stanford, Cal's traditional rival and this was the week of the big football game between the two schools. After parrying the crowd with comments like, "We're a class act, we don't take off our clothes," and even attempting to lead the yells in an organized manner, Tom and Dick slyly opened their jackets to reveal bright blue sweaters (Cal's colors are blue and gold) with enormous gold buttons which read "Go to 'l & b' Stanford."

The crowd roared their approval, order was restored and the concert was a tremendous success. But Stanford won the game.

mote international teacher organization.

The Ag Exec Board represents the students of the college of Agriculture and Home Economics.

The board looks into problems which students of their college have and sponsors different events for the students throughout the year.

The board worked for getting the intercampus bus and is now working on solution to problems which may develop concerning the changing of the name of Ag Campus to East Campus.

The board sponsors the Ag Campus Barbeque each fall and other social events for Ag and Home Ec students.

The board consists of one representative from each Ag or Home Ec affiliated club. There are twelve faculty advisors to the group to facilitate relationships among students and faculty of the college.

The Engineering Executive Board consists of 21 members, representing each student chapter of engineering or architectural affiliated organizations.

The group is called upon to rule on questions concerning student extra-curricular activities. It sponsors special convocations throughout the year and sponsors E-Week each spring.

The board meets once each month.

Volker Receives $300 From Food Institute

Kenneth Volker has received a $300 scholarship awarded by the Institute of Food Technologists. It is one of fifteen in the nation.

Volker, a freshman in the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, plans a career in dairy science, an area of food technology.

The food technology scholarship is renewable for the sophomore year if a suitable grade average is maintained by the recipient.

Junior and senior scholarships provided by the same donor are valued at $500.

Volker, an honor student at Johnson High School, also holds a Sears Foundation scholarship.

Test Developed For Hog Cholera

A rapid test for hog cholera, developed by University scientists, will be demonstrated at the annual combined meeting of the United States Livestock Sanitary Association (U.S.L.S.A.) and the National Conference of Veterinary Laboratory Diagnosticians (C.V.L.D.) to be held today through Saturday, in Memphis, Tenn.

The fluorescent antibody technique involved on the test was initiated under the leadership of the late Dr. George A. Young, and continued with Dr. Oliver D. Grace of the University Department of Veterinary Science as project leader.

Hog cholera virus can be identified directly from tissues of infected pigs. "Scientists in the Department of Veterinary Science have demonstrated the test to be accurate and rapid."

"And Federal disease control officials have expressed a keen interest in the potential of the Nebraska Test as an aid in the national hog cholera eradication control program," according to Dr. Marvin J. Twiehaus, Department chairman.

Dr. Twiehaus, Dr. John M. Aiken, and Miss Dixie Teebken of the Department of Veterinary Science will demonstrate the test and assist other scientists in learning the techniques for five days at the joint U.S.L.S.A. and C.V.L.D. meeting.

Quiz Bowl Teams Compete Tonight

Tonight the second Quiz Bowl session of the year will be held in the Student Union auditorium beginning at 7 p.m.

Six teams will be matched tonight, due to the large number of teams entered this year.

The first match will be the Purple Gougiers versus Alpha Omicron Pi at 7 p.m. The second two teams, Heppner Hall No. 1 versus Sigma Nu will meet at 7:25 p.m., but must be present at 7 p.m. to go into isolation because of duplication of questions.

The Phi Psi Rumcakes will meet Gustavson II B at 7:50 p.m. and Alpha Gamma Rho will meet Love Memorial Hall at 8:15 p.m. Both teams must be present at 7:50.

In the third set, Gamma Phi Beta I will meet Alpha Tau Omega at 8:40, and Sigma Kappa will meet Theta Xi at 9:05. Both teams must be present at 8:40.

University Freshman Wins Music Festival

C. J. Hanner, University freshman, was the winner in the Mid-America Music Association Festival, and will represent Nebraska at the U.S. Championship next summer in New York City.

Hanner, who is in Business Administration at the University, teaches private accordion two evenings each week, plays trumpet weekends with a dance band, and practices his accordion two to three hours daily under Mr. Kenneth Thompson.

His goal is to become Accordion Champion of the World before he graduates from the University.

College Teachers To Convene Here For Exec Meeting

Several nationally known educators will meet at the University Friday in connection with the annual meeting of the executive committee, National Society of College Teachers of Education.

Two addresses will be delivered NSCTE meetings Friday. Dr. Elmer Clark, dean of the College of Education, Southern Illinois University, will speak at a 10:30 a.m. public convocation at Love Library auditorium. His topic: "The Preparation of Teachers for Culturally Disadvantaged Youth."

Dr. Robert Beck, chairman of the department of history and philosophy of education, University of Minnesota, will speak at 6:15 p.m. in the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education. Beck is president-elect of NSCTE.

Other speakers who will address the assembly at the Nebraska Center Friday and Saturday include: Dr. Ruth Eckert, University of Minnesota; Dr. Carter Good, University of Cincinnati; and Dr. Stewart Jones, University of Illinois.

The annual meeting of NSCTE usually is held on the campus of the president of the Society. Dr. Warren Baller, chairman of the department of educational psychology at the University is currently serving as president.

Annual Awards Recognize Work In Education

Beginning in 1965, the Institute of International Education (IIE) and the Reader's Digest Foundation will give five annual awards for distinguished service in international education.

Grants of $1,000 each will be given to a selected college or university, a private organization, a community and an individual who have made outstanding contributions in the development of international understanding. A business corporation will also be cited but will not receive a cash award.

The IIE is a leading non-profit private agency in the field of international educational exchange. The Reader's Digest Foundation is the philanthropic arm of the world's most widely circulated magazine, which is published in 14 languages.

In announcing the new awards program, Kenneth said: "By establishing the awards on an annual basis, we shall be able to give recognition to many more institutions, organizations, and individuals who are participating actively in educational and cultural exchange."

Criteria for evaluating the contribution of candidates for the awards were established by the Institute in 1956 when the first IIE awards were made. The quality of a program rather than its size has become the determining factor for the selection of awardees.

The college or university selected for the IIE-Reader's Digest Foundation Award will designate an individual affiliated with its program to use the grant for travel in a foreign country, thereby broadening his or her international experience.

Nominations for awards in the five categories should be submitted to the IIE regional offices by November 1. For Nebraska nominations, mail to 1600 Sherman Street, Denver, Colo.

The winners will be announced during the annual meeting of the IIE in January.

Nebraska 4-H Grows To 5,000 Members

The 4-H program in Nebraska is growing, and the camping program is growing with it.

Last year over 5,000 4-H members were involved in the 4-H camping program. The 1965 Nebraska State 4-H camp needs 15 staff members.

This camp is a University Extension activity; preference is given to University students. It is not necessary to have 4-H background.

Talents and skill in education methods of music, leisure crafts, recreation and administration are important. Applications may be obtained from 108 Ag. Hall, East Campus. The pay is $8 per day plus room and board.

STEP FORWARD WITH FORD MOTOR COMPANY

An Open Letter to the 1965 College Graduate from Donald N. Frey, Assistant General Manager, Ford Division of Ford Motor Company

Donald N. Frey was awarded a bachelor's degree in metallurgical engineering by the University of Michigan in 1947 and a doctorate in 1950. One year later, he joined Ford Motor Company as manager of the Metallurgical Department in the Scientific Laboratory. In 1962, Dr. Frey was appointed assistant general manager of the Ford Division with responsibility for all engineering, product planning and purchasing activities. He is 41 years old.

America's automobile industry is in the midst of a challenging era, with prospects of an even more exciting and demanding tempo in the years to come. Ford Motor Company is determined to achieve leadership in all phases of its operation. This leadership promises to bring lasting success to the company, its employees and its stockholders.

It will take people to accomplish this objective. Engineering, finance, styling, marketing, product planning, sales—all require people with the knowledge, judgment and personal drive to avail themselves of the unprecedented opportunities offered by a great industry.

The automobile business is growing. More cars are being bought now than ever before. With increases in population and consumer buying power, even more will be bought in the future. Realizing this, Ford Motor Company seeks to attract college graduates who have the capacity to grow with the company and the market.

Right now, our plans call for employing about a thousand of the best 1965 graduates we can find, with all types of educational backgrounds. We need specialists, but we also need persons with broad liberal-arts training who can handle a wide variety of assignments. Actually, in our company, many graduates grow into jobs totally unrelated to their degrees. They have discovered that Ford offers intellectually challenging opportunities for those with the ability to seize them. We invite you to make the same discovery.
