British Call For Volunteers To Help Dig

The British Association for Cultural Exchange wants 50 American volunteers to help excavate Roman villas, Iron-age hill forts, structures of medieval towns, or Anglo-Saxon cathedrals in Britain this summer.

According to the association, expanding housing programs, city center redevelopment and new highway projects in Britain have opened up new possibilities for archaeological investigation.

Volunteers first join a three-week seminar for training in British archaeology and excavation techniques at Westminster College, Oxford. They then split up into small groups for three or more weeks digging on an archaeological site. Total cost of the program is $575, including round-trip air transportation from New York. Part scholarships are available to suitable students with a B plus average.

For further details write to United States Representative Dr. John Slocum, Association for Cultural Exchange, 202 West 10 Street, New York. Closing application date is January 8, 1965.

Rod Walker came into the Theta Xi house a little late one night and quite accidentally disturbed the sleep of his brothers. Now the table has been turned and the revenge of his friends has driven him outside in search of a quiet place to sleep. However this too appears to be somewhat insecure.

Laubach Founder Speaks At NWU

The founder of the Laubach Literacy Fund, Dr. Frank Laubach, will be at Nebraska Wesleyan University today from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. to speak to persons interested in his program.

The program was started to teach reading and writing to illiterate persons in different countries around the world. At present the program is in effect in 103 countries.

Laubach will discuss the literacy program as it is connected with the state and countries abroad.

Those interested in discussing the program with Laubach should go through the cafeteria line at Wesleyan to the small dining room, where a one to two hour meeting will be held, beginning at 11:45.

Former Civil Righter Will Speak Monday

"The Spirit of '76 in the '60's - The U.S. and Today's Revolutions" will be the topic of a lecture to be given Monday night by Leonard Tinker.

Tinker is the Peace Education Secretary of the American Friends Service Committee for eight plains states. A Methodist minister, he is a former missionary to Japan and was a civil rights worker in Mississippi for the National Council of Churches.

The lecture will be presented in room 235 of the Student Union. It will be sponsored by Lincoln SANE, organization for a sane nuclear policy and the University Student SANE.

Former Student Goes To Brazil With Peace Corps

A former University student, Penrod Alan Reader, joined 17 other Peace Corps Volunteers in November to do 4-H Club and agricultural extension work in Brazil.

Reader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Reader, R.R. No. 1, Kimball, Nebr., left for Brazil on Nov. 21. Over 300 Volunteers are already working in Brazil in the fields of Agriculture, community development, health, and university education.

Largest of the Latin American republics, Brazil is trying to cope with inflation while meeting the basic needs of 78 million people. With the fastest growing population in the world, one of Brazil's most critical problems is sufficient food production. The Brazilian Government has requested Peace Corps assistance in the area of agriculture. Since March 1962 Peace Corps Volunteers have been working throughout Brazil in agricultural extension and 4-H club work. They have been helping rural youth assume responsibility for future roles as farmers, homemakers, and community leaders.

Guided by representatives of the American 4-H Club Foundation, the departing Volunteers will help organize, plan and lead local "4-S clubs". Male agricultural specialists will demonstrate improved farming methods while women will help train

Members of Sigma Tau, all-engineering honorary, presented three scholarships and initiated 32 new members at the fall semester banquet in the Cornhusker Hotel Thursday evening.

Recipients of the $100 scholarships were James Farho, Khesrow H. Youssefi and John Deming. The awards were presented by Dr. James Wolford, Sigma Tau adviser.

They were selected by the fraternity's membership from students ranking in the upper 10 per cent of the junior and senior classes. The grants are made from Sigma Tau's scholarship fund.

Farho, a senior in mechanical engineering, is a member of Sigma Tau and mathematics honoraries, and was recently named winner of a Goodyear scholarship.

Youssefi is a senior in electrical engineering and a member of Triangle social fraternity. He was graduated from high school in Tehran, Iran in 1960.

Deming, a junior in chemical engineering attended high school in Balboa, Panama Canal Zone. He is a member of a mathematics honorary and the chemical engineering professional society.

Dr. Robert Knoll, professor of English at the University, addressed the banquet. He spoke about the literary humanities and applying them to human relations in engineering.

Pins were presented to the initiates by Olin Ferguson, retired dean of the College of Engineering and Architecture. Members of Sigma Tau are selected from juniors or seniors who rank in the upper 25 per cent of their class.

Sigma Tau, founded at the University in 1904, is a national honorary with 35 chapters throughout the country. The initiates are:

Seniors — Galen Anderson, Gilbert Brown, William Davis, Donovan Endorf, Wayne Howlett, Bernard Johnson, Robert Lott, Luis Navarro, Joseph Rietsch, and Monwell Westphal.

Juniors—Harold Andresen, Donald Baltzer, David Fairchild, Ronald Grundmann, Charles Hellerich, Kenneth Hurst, Ronald Klein, Kenneth Korinek, Peter Lage, James Larson, Larry Logemann.

John Lydick, Don Nelson, Glenn Newby, Brian Peterson, Norman Prigge, David Rathjen, John Rebensdorf, Iraj Saberi, Dale Vodehnal, Roger Wagoner, and Gary Young.

The following men were inducted into Pi Tau Sigma, national mechanical engineering honorary:

Phillip Schultz, Bob Oegenhardt, Gene Zitek, Chuck Hellerich, Ronald Grundman, Gary Icenogle.

Ken Korinek, Glenn New-Faulkner and Donald Rice.

Regents To Inspect Experiment Stations

Members of the Board of Regents will meet at Scottsbluff Experiment Station near Mitchell at 10:30 a.m. (M.S.T.) Tuesday.

The Regents also will inspect the North Platte Experiment Station Monday afternoon and will attend a dinner meeting with the North Platte and McCook school boards.

On Tuesday they will tour the Scottsbluff Experiment Station and attend a luncheon with members of the Scottsbluff school board.

University Coed Wins Scholarship

A University coed won an $800 scholarship in a program conducted by the Co-operative Extension Service at the National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

Helen Mather, a junior home economics major at the University was announced as one of two in the nation to receive the scholarship.

She was cited for eight years of outstanding 4-H work and a high scholastic average in college.

Marjorie Hutchinson, a University freshman was one of 12 winners in the achievement program winning $500 scholarships.

International College Holds World Seminar

A study tour in East-West relationships to Poland, East and West Berlin is a feature of the All World Seminar program held by the International College in Copenhagen, in the fall 1965.

The seminar will explore the contemporary geographical, economic, political, social, and cultural situations in the various countries of the world.

ICC will offer again this year a summer course in "Scandinavian Studies."

Interested students should write to ICC, Dalstroget 140, S o b o r g, Copenhagen, Denmark.

WHAT'S NEW IN THE DECEMBER ATLANTIC?

"Why Europe Fears Us" by Raymond Aron: Misunderstandings regarding the use of nuclear weapons have led Western Europe and Russia to fear the United States and to doubt its sincerity.

"Are Movies Going to Pieces?" by Pauline Kael: A lively criticism of the New American Cinema where there is no plot, no sensible meaning, and no recognizable form.

"The New Sportsman" by C. Michael Curtis: How sportswriters now use the scholarly approach with a touch of Freud and emphasize the motivation of players instead of straight reporting.

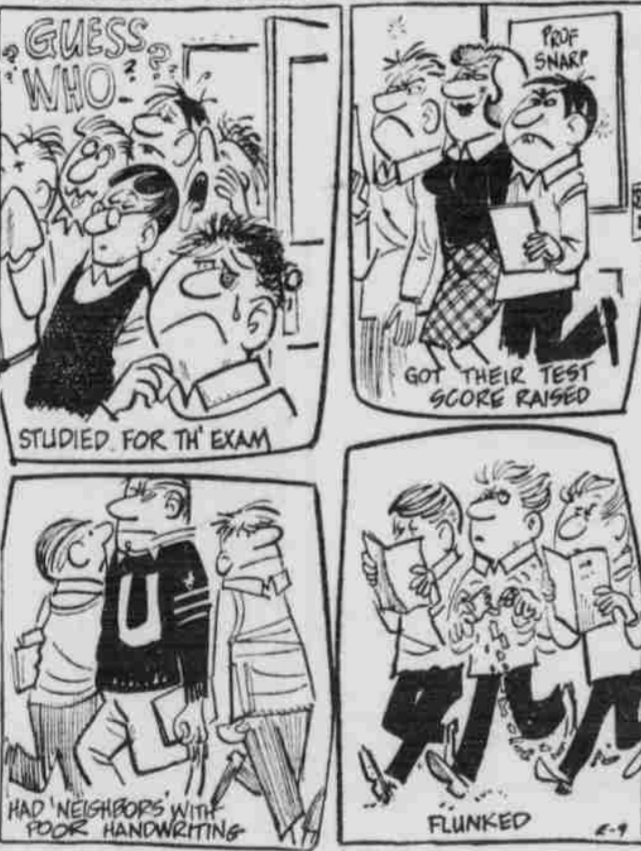

PLUS AN ATLANTIC EXTRA: Edwin O'Connor: "One Spring Morning": An 11,000 word preview of the author's new novel on which he is now at work.

The pursuit of excellence is the everyday job of The Atlantic's editors be it in fiction or fact, poetry or prose. In ever-increasing numbers, those in pursuit of academic excellence find in The Atlantic a challenging, entertaining and enlightening companion. Get your copy today.
