

Husker Team Loses Wyoming Inaugural

Errors and inexperience were the costly elements in Nebraska's 94-68 basketball loss at Wyoming last night.

The Huskers had 13 fouls in the first half alone and errors in the second half enabled the Cowboys to mount their 26-point lead. Nebraska was never ahead in the contest.

Sophomore Fred Hare led Husker scoring with 11 points, followed by Bob Antoluv, Grant Simmons and Ray Amalbert with ten each.

Cowboy Flynn Robinson scored 28 points to lead Wyoming. Injured in the first half, he spent most of the second half on the bench. Teammate Leon Clark added 23 more.

In the first half of play, the Cowboys grabbed an early lead and were never challenged that half. The game was 7-0 before Antoluv pumped in two points for the Husker first score.

The young inexperienced Nebraska squad seemed to have trouble finding the range. While the Huskers' shooting was off, the rebounding was hot. The first half found the Nebraskans in possession of 42 rebounds with the host team managing only 27. However, behind the sizzling shooting of Robinson and Leon Clark, the Cowboys made those rebounds count.

Big gun for Wyoming was their All-America candidate, Robinson who tossed in 20 points the first half. Injured early in the first quarter, Robinson came back to spark his team to a 49-31 lead at the intermission.

Starting for the Huskers were Antoluv, Ray Amalbert, Fred Hare, Earl Johnson and Jerry Spears.

Starting for the Wyoming

Cowboys were Tom Asbury, Dick Sherman, Clark, Robinson and Gordon Whitcalf.

The Huskers will open the home schedule Saturday night when they meet the Purdue Boilermakers of the Big Ten.

Gymnasts Take Part In Open

Two double letter winners will be forced to carry Nebraska's gymnastics team as it opens its schedule at the Midwest Open in Chicago today and tomorrow.

The pair—Jim Howard and Francis Allen—are the only lettered returnees to a squad that finished with the Big Eight championship. Thus Coach Jake Geier lists the prospect of a repeat as "dim," and right now is hoping for a .500 season in the duals.

Geier says the younger squad members need a year to develop routines to a championship pitch to give the Huskers enough depth to return to the throne.

Though they can't be expected to take NU all the way, Allen and Howard (third and fourth in the all-around should bring home league and possible national honors.

Biggest loss to the Cornhuskers this winter will be Dennis Albers who swept through last year's Big Eight meet with the all-around championship.

After the Midwest Open and a dual date with Ft. Hays at Hays, Kan., Dec. 12, the gymnasts will take a month off to sharpen up for the Jan. 16 home opener against Minnesota.

Cadence Countesses To Perform At Game

The Cadence Countesses will make their first appearance of the year at the Nebraska-South Dakota basketball game on Monday. The performance will be presented during half time, and will feature a variety of the formations used in last years first place win at Illinois.

Ten of the Countesses, comprising the Salute Platoon, will present the drill squad on to the floor.

You have to go all the way back to 1946 to find the first and last time that a Big Eight team played in the Cotton Bowl.

That year the Missouri Tigers were defeated 27-40 by the University of Texas.

However, accounts of the game indicate the Tigers put up a strong see-saw battle before a pair of Texas touchdowns in the third quarter put the game on ice.

Missouri, using a split-T offense, smashed for 403 yards rushing. This was almost as much as six Southwest Conference foes were able to gain rushing against Texas throughout the 1945 season. Their total was 421.

Forty-six thousand fans watched the 10th anniversary game that saw the Steers put the first score across. Texas had a triggerman at tailback who figured in five scores, throwing for two, catching another and running for two more. His name? Bobby Layne.

Texas scored on their first possession, going 75 yards in a drive capped by Layne's 48-yard pass to Joe Billy Baumgardner. Four plays later, Mizzou had a touchdown.

Texas again took possession going 75 yards in a drive capped by Layne's 48-yard pass to Joe Billy Baumgardner. Four plays later, Mizzou had a touchdown.

Coaching Missouri was a Chauncey Simpson who was handling the head coaching reins while Don Faurot was in the Navy.

And coach for the Longhorns was Dana X. Bible, who a decade before had built winning Husker squads.
